Have you ever wondered why some waves just barely swell and others get all the way up to your beachtowel while those very rare few destroy an entire shoreline? We hardly notice the first two types, but the last makes quite an impact on the world. East 83-84 was like one of those very few, very rare waves. We weren't going to sit back and let people ignore us. We wanted to let people know who we were.

So we were different. Perhaps not every Leopard was different from the other, but as a whole, we were unique. We dared to be different and to break a few rules. No other school acted, looked, or achieved quite like we did.

We intrigued a few people in 83-84, but we didn't make a giant impact on the world. The school year was just the beginning, just the initiation of our rise in the world. Like the monstrous wave which takes so long to come ashore, we were simply building our strength so when we were ready for our impact, it would be phenomenal.

Maybe we're not together any longer, but each of us still carries that ever-building strength inside. Unless we lose the memory of the power and uniqueness of the '83-'84 year, each Leopard will make his own impact on the world. Together, we will create a phenomenal "East High" impact. And all because we dared to be "a whole new wave".

Board of control

The B of C is the organization that makes or breaks a year. This Board-out-of-Control made a true effort to create a uniquely exciting year for the Leopards. Although they may have had a better time planning the activities than the students had participating in them, they really did create some good times at East. From Mark's roof-top barbecues to fifth period joke sessions, the 83-84 B of C proved that they knew the true meaning of the word fun. The success of their activities proved that they knew the true meaning of the words organization, dedication, and BUSY!!

Pete Hanseen Vice-President

Pete Hanseen – a well known name for a lot of good reasons. Besides his amazing hair which could be shaped into more ways than silly putty, Pete truly had a genuine concern for East and tried his hardest to support all aspects of East. As president of the OCP and Carnival chairman, Pete was HOT! His ideas were great and more importantly, Pete turned his ideas into realities. Because of his friendliness and optimistic attitude, Pete was not only well-liked because of his success in fulfilling his position, but also because he was a great person.

Becky Poelman Secretary

Although Becky was voted "Most likely to be stuffed into a garbage can by a bunch of boys" she was still respected by everyone at East. Enthusiasm was Becky's middle name. Fortunately, she had enough energy to let that enthusiasm show through. Becky shared her instrumental and vocal talents in A Cappella and Madrigals as well as many school productions. No one will ever forget "Becky's Bleacher Burns", her decorations for Pride Week, and especially her "Perma-smile" (it was sincere!) and her positive personality which she shared with everyone.

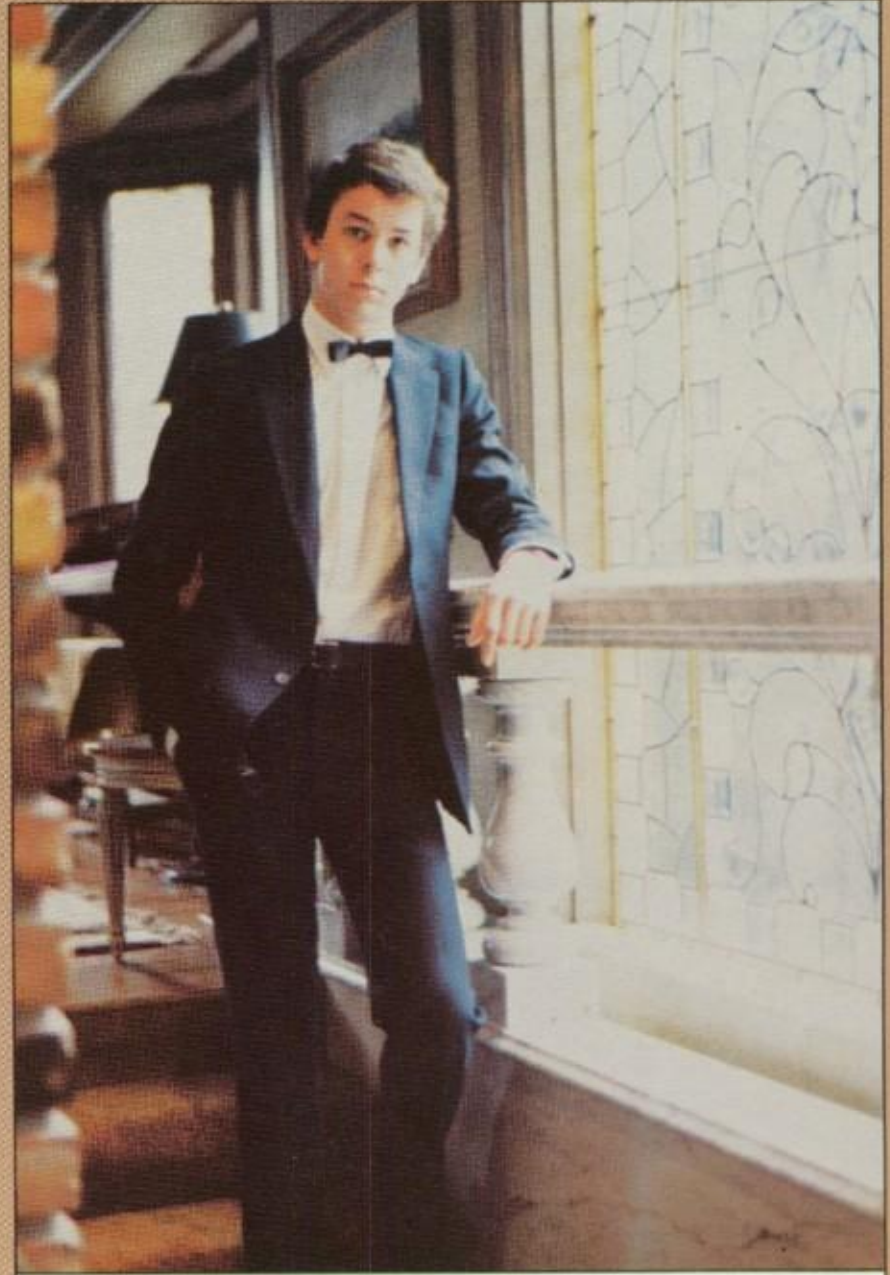

John Pingree President

John was a natural leader – the kind of leader needed. Whether he was laughing with the crowd or putting us back in line. John's leadership was felt and seen in the activities he initiated. Besides being a great B of C'er. John was a madrigal, played soccer, skied, was an A student, and most of all, was a great friend – to everyone. He never meant to offend anyone, and if he did, he apologized immediately. Because of all of these great qualities, John was able to lead all Leopards through a great East year.

Amanda Pahnke Historian

Amanda was that special girl that everybody who was anybody admired. Mandy really added a sense of unity to the Board of Control with her willingness to serve others and her sincere smile. She had a great sense of humor and was always the first one to laugh at herself. Although Amanda was extremely busy with her social life she always had the time to help a friend in need. God only knows what the Board of Control would have been like without Amanda. Thanks a lot Mandy!

Steve Hansen Business Manager

The "Extra-Spectacular" Homecoming will always be remembered as another Steve Hansen success story. It was enjoyed by all who came to school that week. Steve was one person who members of the Board of Control and studentbody could look to for friendship, leadership, and psychotic ideas. Steve truly cared for East and was concerned with the well being of all who entered. Active with girls, Steve enjoyed his days here and made life more bearable for the rest of us.

Activities

Night Line

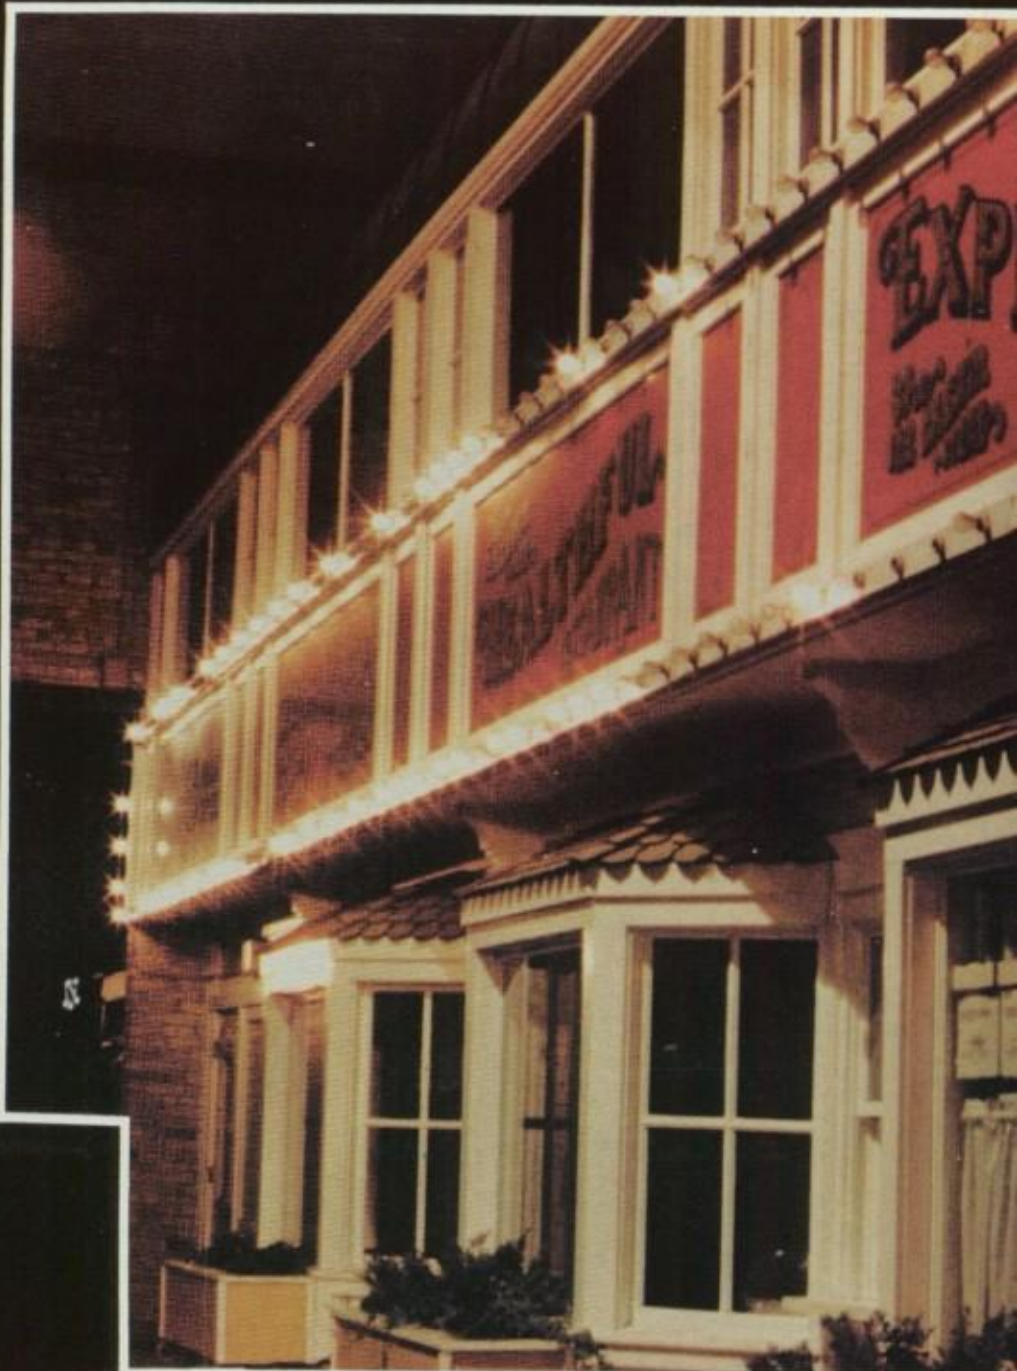

When East Comes Alive

There must be more to life than an 8 to 3 school day! And at EHS there is much more. While many students find pleasure in attending movies, eating, or just "playing", others are more dedicated to the working life. Many Eciders dedicate their after-school hours to extracurricular activities such as Debate or Dance Co. Although it is true each EHS student spends the night life involved in various activities, everyone feels after school is relaxation time.

East's working class is well represented through SLC. Nordstrom, as well as other dept. stores, has Eciders wrapping, stocking, and selling. One is sure to find an EHS student bagging groceries if he shops at either Smith's or Dan's. Students have also found employment at Trolley Square, many of its theatres, shops, and restaurants have employed Leopards.

Most parents probably don't realize when they hand their high school aged son or daughter the car keys, that they are providing the child's entire night's entertainment. For lack of anything better to do, East students often find themselves driving around.

Then, there are always those nights when kids decide just to stay home and watch T.V. With all these night life activities - when does one find time for Homework?!?

Eciders often hit the Ice Cream Parlor for a late night snack, unless something else exciting is happening. Trolley Square is a popular Leopards hang out, especially on the weekends.

The typical EHS girls are epitomized by Tiffany Zenger, Heather Romney, and Tracey Daynes with their flashdance sweatshirts, "guess" jeans, and the "bob" haircut.

East High - The kaleidoscope of fashion! Over the past few years, EHS has been known for its preppy image, but more recently, a new fashion look has come about, often labeled the "Flashdance" look, in which girls wear faded jeans, cropped above the ankles, with plastic shoes or moccasins, T-shirts with sweatshirts cut with holes and worn off the shoulder. Hair length is much shorter, with the "bob" and the "short, short" styles. Tenex grease that gives hair the "wet look" is used by many. East's front hall is also crowded with Urban Surfers, who are in constant search of surf here in Utah. They wear madras and surfer shirts and short hair which is often dyed. In fact, the changing of hair color is very popular, as is seen in both East side men and women. Filled with pseudo-surfers, flashdancers, and the common man, East is certainly not lacking in variety. While many East High students attend school for the education, others attend school for the fashion show, to watch other Eiders strut down the halls in style.

Summer Scene

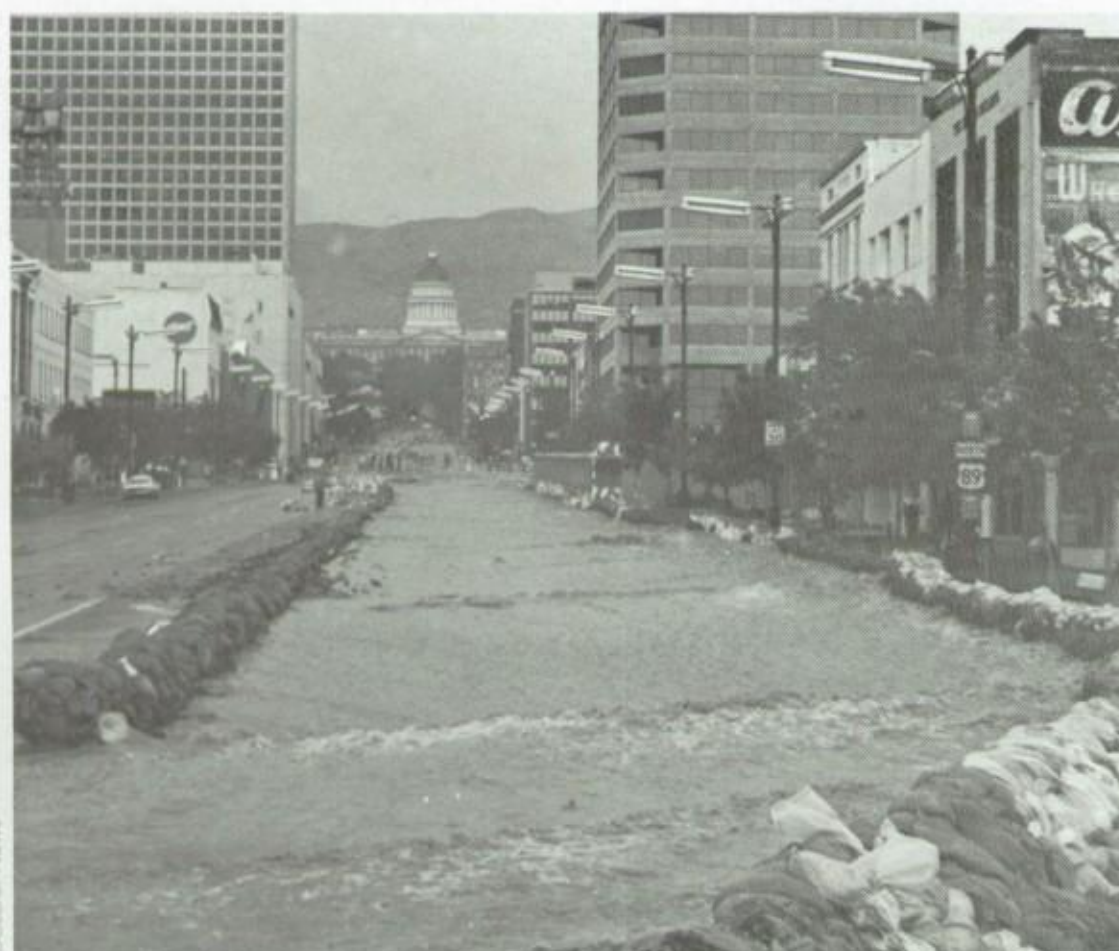

Salt Lake's Wettest Season

Flood! Due to the incredible snowfall last year, Utah had great amounts of water from the spring runoff. This water produced flooding throughout Utah, and detours were everywhere as citizens attempted to control the water flow. Sandbags were stacked along roads to form rivers, and "cruising State" was only possible by row boat. The Utah spirit pulled through as thousands of volunteers flocked to help those in need. The damages from the flooding were extensive, and road crews worked throughout the following months to repair the ruined streets. Although the sandbags and temporary rivers are gone now, bumper stickers still remain stating with a note of intrigue: "I survived the Flood of '83!"

One of the most elegant hotels of early Salt Lake City was destroyed this summer. The public health dept. declared the building a fire hazard, and unsafe for occupation. One early Sunday morning, a local radio contest winner pumped the box that triggered the explosion, and a layer of dust covered the valley. No longer a grand hotel, the Hotel Newhouse is now a heap of rubble enclosed within a chain-link fence. Now only a dim memory, the remnant we once had of early SLC is gone. Up in Heber, several EHS students and club officers met for a leadership retreat. While they discussed activities for the coming year, the summer rays were bringing those within the valley the long awaited escape from school. The Wild Wave – the massive swimming pool with a bit of Utah surf-along with the local pools and water slides attracted Eciders. Vacations to S. Utah, Calif., and even out of the country – allowed East Side High students to experience life outside of the valley. The summer sizzling with its rich memories – provided EHS students with thrilling entertainment and a deep anticipation for school once again.

Hello Days/Registration

The tide brings in a new school year.

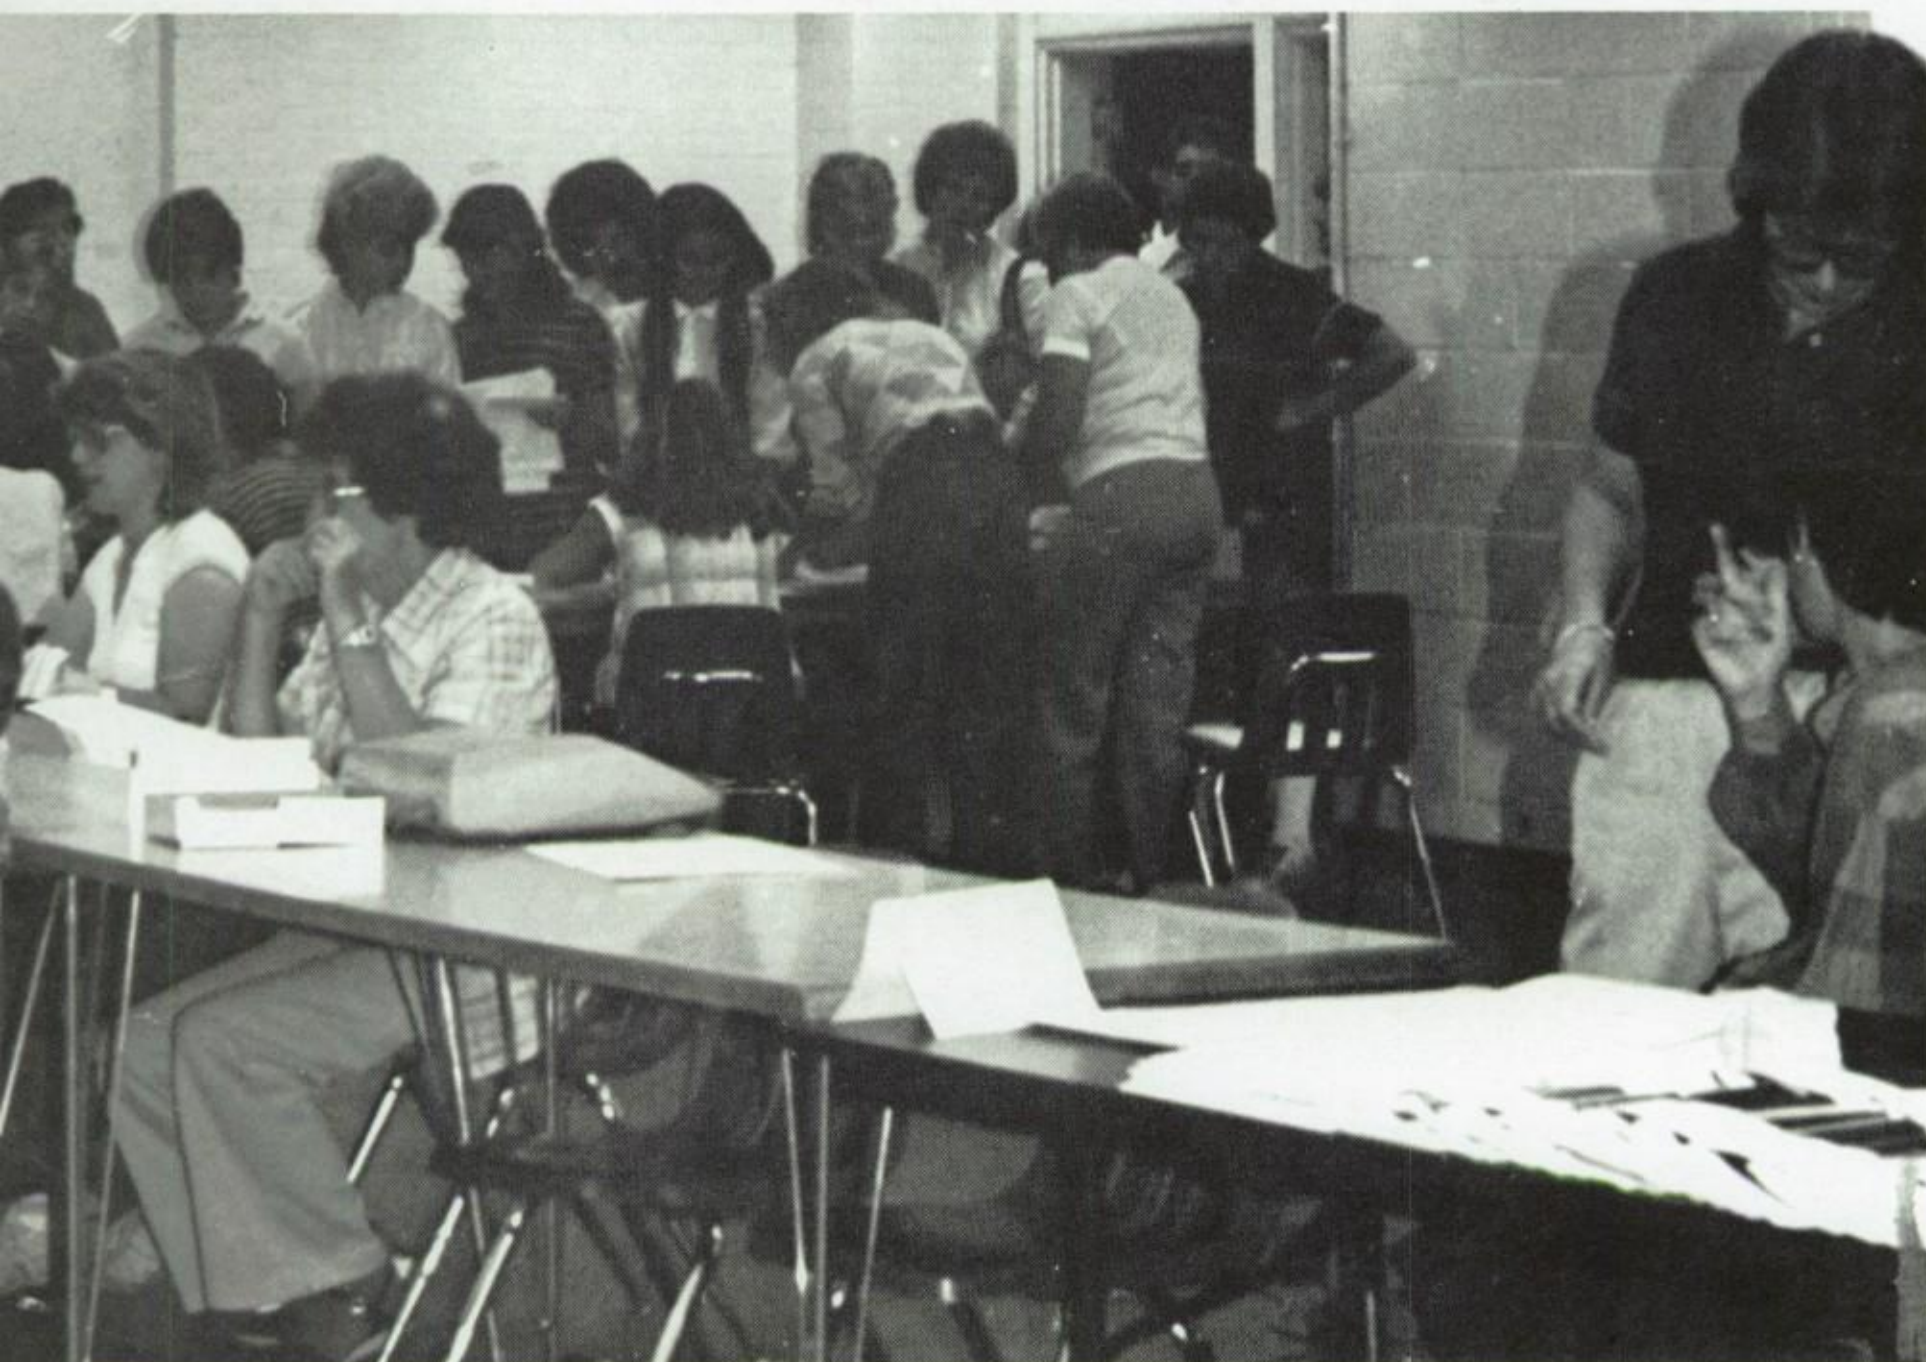

Frustration was the consensus feeling at the all too infamous Bull's Run on registration day. Two hour lines, leading to the annex door were not uncommon. Once inside, it was a race to get teachers, classes, and periods. On each of the four days of registration, registerees could be found in tears after being told that the classes they wanted were already filled.

East High activities began even before the first day of school. A stomp, only for Freshmen, gave these newcomers a chance to get to know each other. The next night the entire studentbody got the chance to get reacquainted at a school stomp.

Everyone seemed to get back in the "swing" of things and have a good time. In preparation for our first football game (against West), the new cheerleaders and song-leaders planned a pep rally at Sugar House Park. The two groups had been working all summer, and it showed. The cheerleaders performed various pyramids with Mark Hanna doing backflips off the top. The songleaders also performed a dance to Michael Jackson's "Beat It."

The Board of Control hoped that the activities they planned for the first week of school would help everyone become acquainted. The number game was played again this year. In this game all students get a number and they are supposed to match themselves up. A hopscotch tournament was also held in front of East during the first week of school.

The week was crowned with an assembly prepared by the assembly committee. It was more of an informative assembly than anything else. Many clubs introduced themselves and the Board of Control did a skit showing what the members of the board had been doing over the summer. Overall these introductory activities helped students to become excited for the coming school year.

Homecoming '83

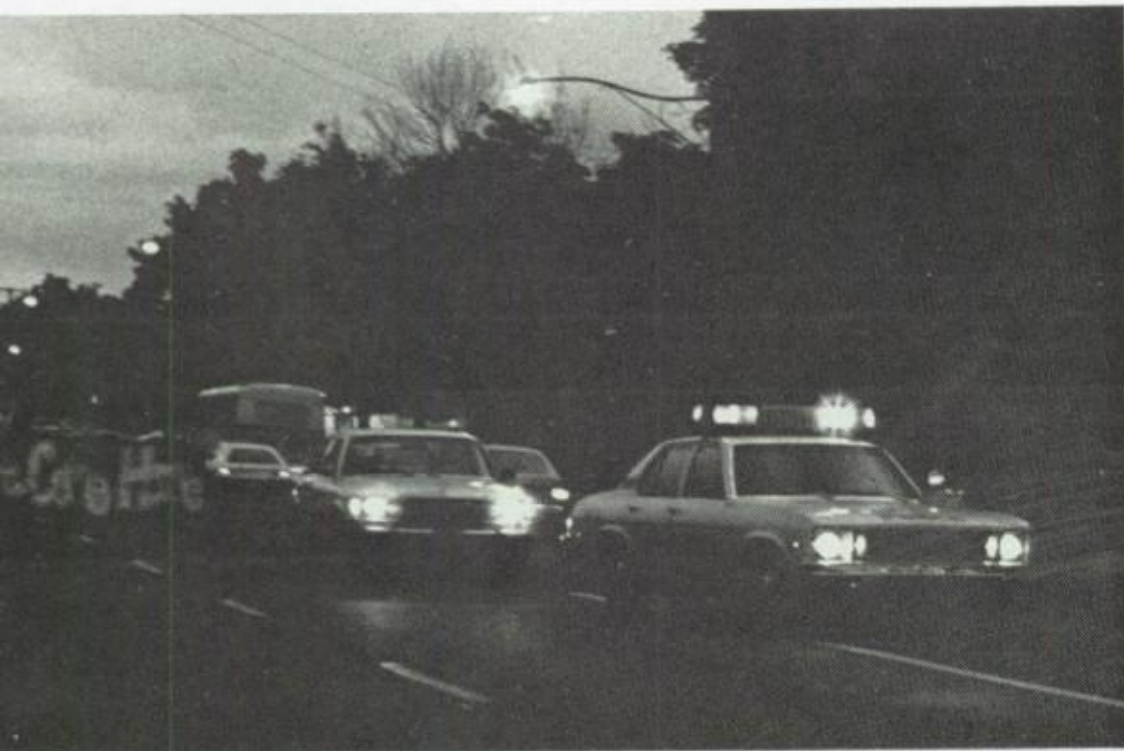

East Come Home

Homecoming '83 was exciting for all students at East High. The activities blasted off on Monday with a bar day for all minors and the announcement of the theme for the 83-84 school year, "East Come Home". Responses to the theme were great, with most students agreeing that it was one of the more original choices. Following the heavy drinking that took place on bar day came "Change your hair if you dare" day, which unfortunately had less support than practically any other homecoming activities due to the already strange styles that seem to abound in the halls of East High. After an exciting night at the flick students participated in an exciting parade that extended all the way from the East High student parking lot to the back field. We then found ourselves granted a special treat of fireworks in our own back field. The administration, in order that we might enjoy ourselves all the more, had the grace to set off the fireworks one at a time. After the OOOohs and awwws of the previous evening, students saw Johnny Carson in action in the assembly which brought back acts from 25 years ago and less. Then came the highlight of homecoming: the game and the dance itself. Our own Mr. Touchdown, Kent Condon played an excellent game along with all the other spirited team and for a while it appeared East might even pull it out. Unfortunately Viewmont returned in the end. All regrets were left behind at the start of the dance where East had the good fortune to be entertained by TKO.

Cultural Assembly

A diverse mix

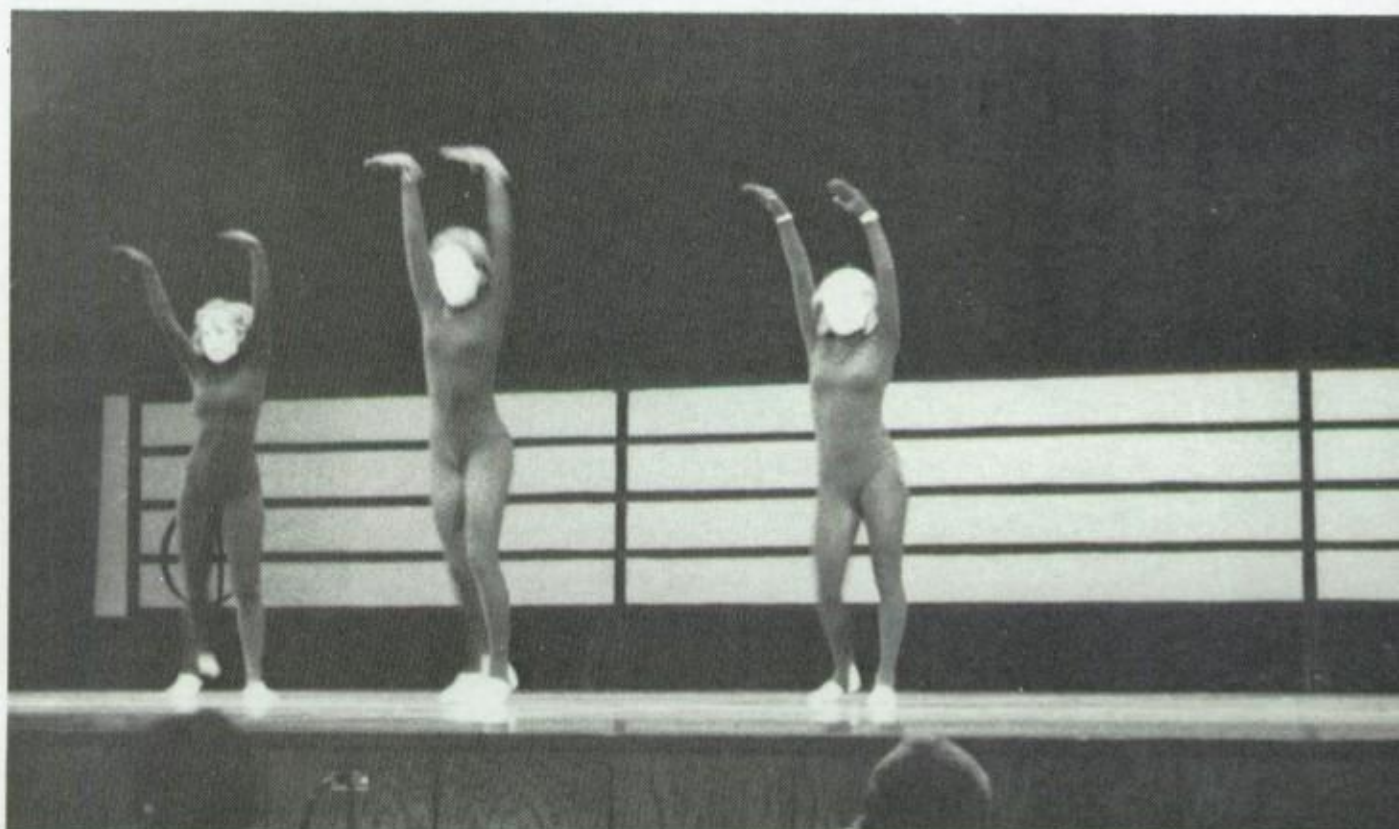

Weeks of planning went into this year's cultural assembly and the polished and interesting performance reflected this. Who could forget Dwayne Hambrick's hilarious rendition of an urban Mr. Roger's "Ain't you be mine"? The ever entertaining East High strutters put out a great performance but the "senior" members were almost out-strutted by three limber tots who brought the crowd to applause with their dancing. The native American club put out another great performance although they did not have as much time on stage this year. Other activities of the assembly included singing, mime, and dancing by the dance company and others. The assembly involved people of all cultures at East and had a point to make about our cultural biases. The fact that the assembly managed to be very entertaining for everyone showed the lines between cultures can be successfully crossed and when they are crossed, it can be a lot of fun.

Again this year the East High Dance Company upheld the tradition of a superb concert. The concert was planned under the direction of C.J. Hepworth and the Dance Co. officers. These people, as well as the rest of the co. started rehearsing in May, 1983 and continued until Opening Night, Nov. 15, 1983.

This year's concert introduced unique costumes and fresh movement. The dances A Motley Crew, Can It, and Birds will long be remembered for their originality. The concert started with the dance Isolations, where the exciting music and movement set the stage for the dances following it.

Fall Current Events

An eventful season

This year has been a memorable one for the United States and its foreign relations. President Reagan's decision to station U.S. troops in Lebanon amid the confusion of the Mid-East left ample room for controversial debates. Our country also found itself entangled in Caribbean affairs when President Reagan ordered the invasion of Grenada, a move to thwart Soviet influence. This political tactic was likewise the object of a lot of talk, and within six weeks, the U.S. withdrew its forces. Another catastrophe which took over 256 lives was the Korean Airlines incident, this involved the shooting down of a Korean jet by the Soviets. This action received world-wide attention and concern. These major events occurred one on top of another, causing citizens all over the world to examine the foreign policies and affairs of their respective nations.

The Day After, an American T.V. film which aired with the suggestion to prepare for its viewing, made Americans realize the nuclear arms race and the threat it poses, since any sort of nuclear encounter would be devastating.

The Earthquakes that shook the ground in early Fall startled Utahns, reminded Eciders that East Side High resides atop the mighty Wasatch Fault. East High also went through the regular fall elections, which included the incorporation of a new procedure. This was the change in voting for the senate president to come from the studentbody instead of the senate. Although there were not as many participants in the fall elections as in previous years, East High students were still satisfied with the excellent outcomes presented at the traditional stomp. The Fall of 1983 will be remembered by Eciders as an eventful season from within the school's hall to the actions of the United States in foreign lands.

The Mousetrap

Agatha Christie

An evening of suspense and intrigue was enjoyed by the audience that watched the play. The Mousetrap, which played for three consecutive nights. The cast had the audience sitting on the edge of their seats as the spellbinding plot unfolded. The amount of time and hard work that went into the play was evident by the fine performance of all characters. Lisa Olivera and Seth Hassett were a very convincing couple caught up in the deception of the story. This Agatha Christie play followed a standard mystery procedure where everything was there for the audience to see, but just out of the grasp of really understanding what was happening. The actors were all very convincing in their roles. Miles Parker played a wildly insane but hilarious young man, and his hair was the hit of the show. Mrs. Boyle, played by Marie Southwell was a complaining, snobbish, and unappealing woman and Marie had the audience believing everything she said. Major Metcalf and Miss Casewell played by Christopher Ossana and Tiffany Stockdale were superb and portrayed the acting ability of two very experienced seniors in the drama department. Yuri Boguslavsky had the audience laughing with his off-the-wall comments. Lorin Nelson surprised the entire audience with his seemingly honest and forthright role as a detective while beneath that exterior there was hidden an emotionally disturbed young man. The play had many twists and turns and was one of the most suspenseful plays that the East Drama department has ever performed.

Clockwise from top left: The East High men show off their desirable bodies for all the women in the audience. Performing for the women the Dance Co. displays their talent once again. Men's/Women's Week

Getting together

Men's and Women's Week of '83-'84 started the new tradition of a combined week. The men and women had their own separate activities and everyone who participated enjoyed them. Highlighting the women's activities were the dating game and aerobics class. The dating game brought out the true personalities of the participants, while it humored the people in the audience. Throughout the week the men held an arm wrestling tournament, but the high point of the men's activities was stag night. The men invaded the Hilton Hotel, where they were provided with food and entertainment.

The week concluded with the traditional assembly, done in a novel way. As in years past, it was full of jokes about the stereotypical men and women of East High. The women made fun of the way East High boys dress in the fashion show, but the men came back with the newscast and Mr. Rogers. The Saturday Night Live theme was very effective and the conclusion of the assembly had the men breaking to the Bee Gee's "Jive Talking." The week was a great success for both sexes, and it should serve as a nice base for a new tradition.

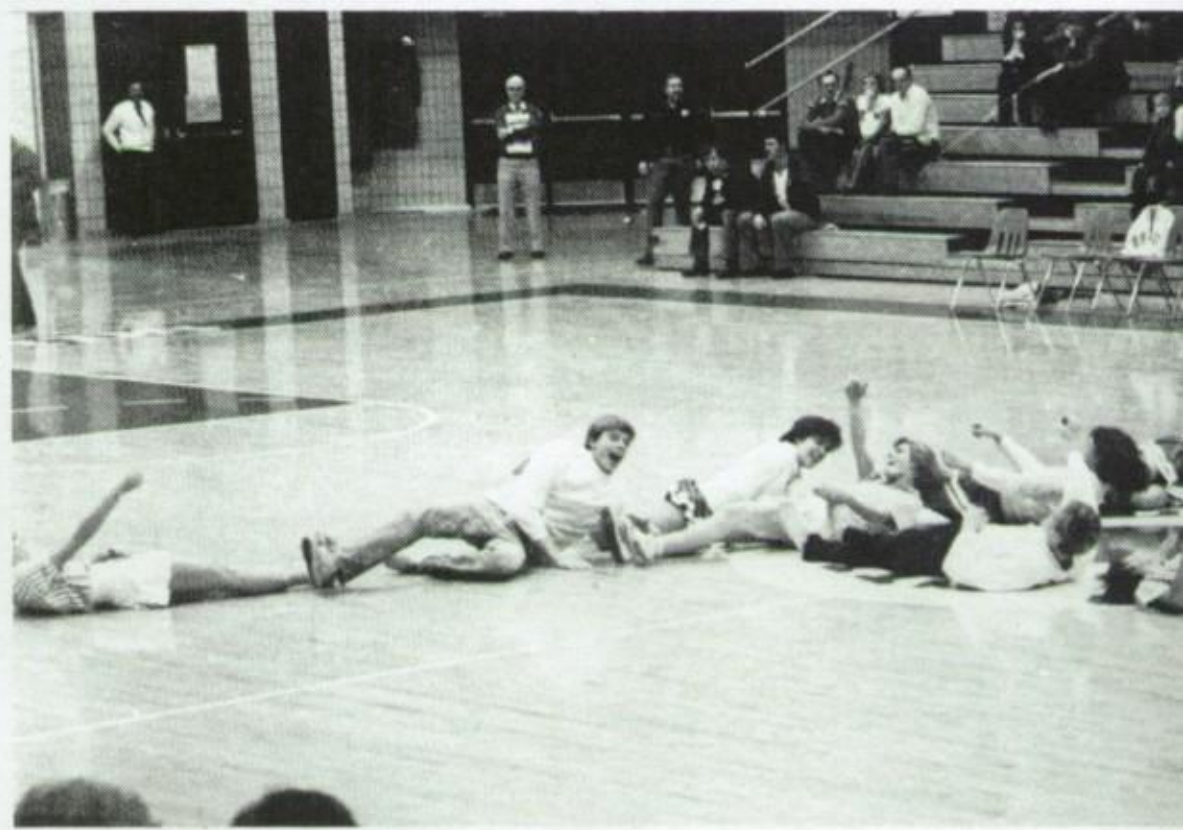

Pride Week

East Side Pride

Pride Week was a unique addition to East's traditional weeks. Initiated by the Board of Control, this week's purpose was to increase pride in East, and in turn increase spirit in our school. The week began on an upbeat with the school being extensively decorated for Monday. Streamers, posters, banners and leopard's paws covered the front hall and stairways. Many of the homerooms contributed to the ornate scenery by participating in a homeroom contest. The area directly outside of each homeroom was decorated in any way, with the basic theme of "Pride in East." It was obvious that a lot of time, effort, and creativity went into the contest. The winning homeroom was Mr. Mason's in room 24.

Tuesday morning an EASTV presentation on the history of East was shown. A pep rally held on Wednesday included a skit by the Board of Control, a dance by the songleaders, cheers, and a chant by the "loud crowd" – a group of spirited people wearing lots of red and white. Wednesday night was the first pre-season game against Olympus, although East didn't win, there was a great turn-out at the game. Overall the week was considered a success, thanks to everyone who helped. A committee made up of class vice presidents and other enthusiastic people helped decorating the school and increasing spirit. The work and effort of many people was appreciated and resulted in a student body having more EAST SIDE PRIDE."

Juniors all right!

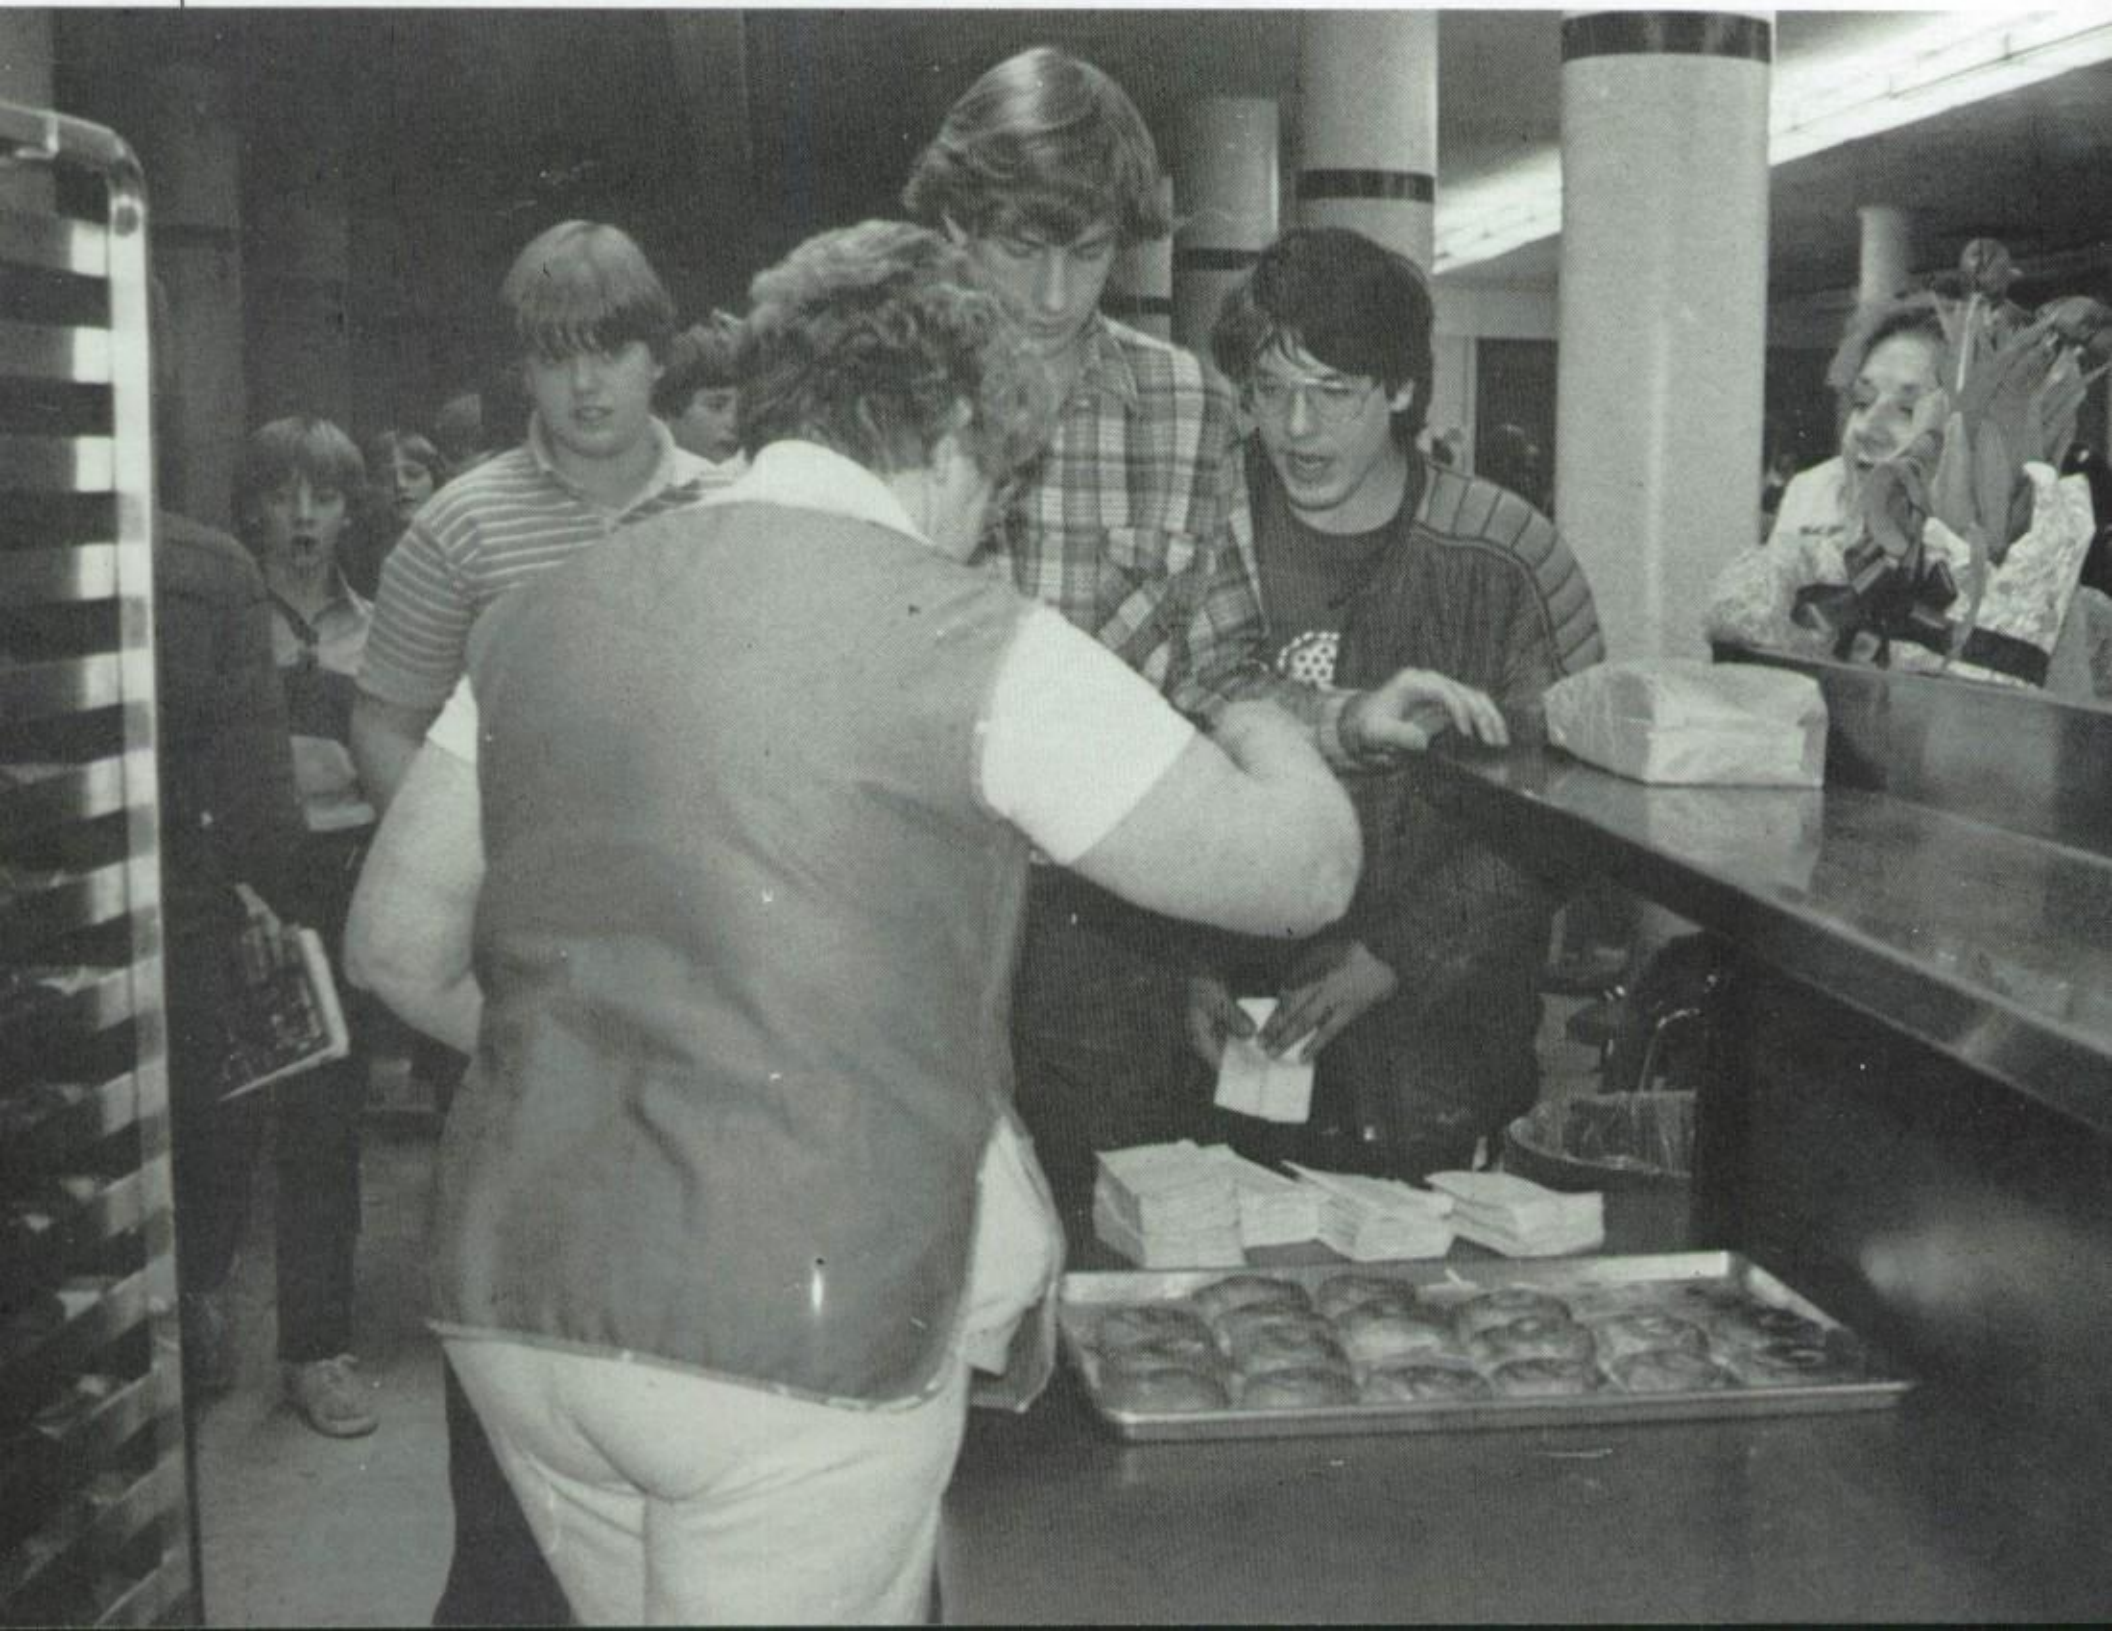

Junior Days, a new experience from the usual week, maintained the traditions of excellence although compacted into three days. Beginning on Wednesday, one could see students under some type of interesting cover for Hat day. The following day, the Juniors satisfied their appetites at Crown Burger and with full stomachs trotted over to the Tower to watch a cheap, but entertaining flick. At last after many hours of practice, the Juniors, on Friday, presented a remake of the Family Feud for the theme of their assembly. Thus, the studentbody had a chance to see this class's best talent ranging from Monty Python reruns to singing and dancing. Throughout the entire assembly all were entertained with Howard Bagley's imitation of Richard Dawson. To top the week off, many students were asked by the man of their dreams to the Junior Prom which was held at the McCune Mansion. Overall, the Juniors can look back at their week as an outstanding mark of distinction to uphold the saying "Juniors all right!"

The gong show judges do an apt job. These fashions are a prelude to future East High fads. The sweetrolls, made by the cafeteria, brightened the day for all the freshman who enjoyed them.

Freshman Day

The teeny boppers plan a whopper

This year, Freshman week was condensed into a span of one day. This condensation made it necessary to put all of the activities within the range of twenty-four hours. Under the sponsorship of Barbara Wall, the day can be described as one of the most successful a freshman class has ever put together.

It all started in the morning with a talent assembly centered around the Gong Show with all sorts of acts being performed. Following the assembly everyone piled into the cafeteria for sweetrolls. During lunch the officers sold sweatshirts, as well as tickets for the bus to get to the game that night. At 6:00 p.m., all met at Der Ratskellar for pizza before the game. After a smashing victory over Woodscross, everyone returned to the school for the stomp.

Spirit/Senate/ Hall of Fame Week

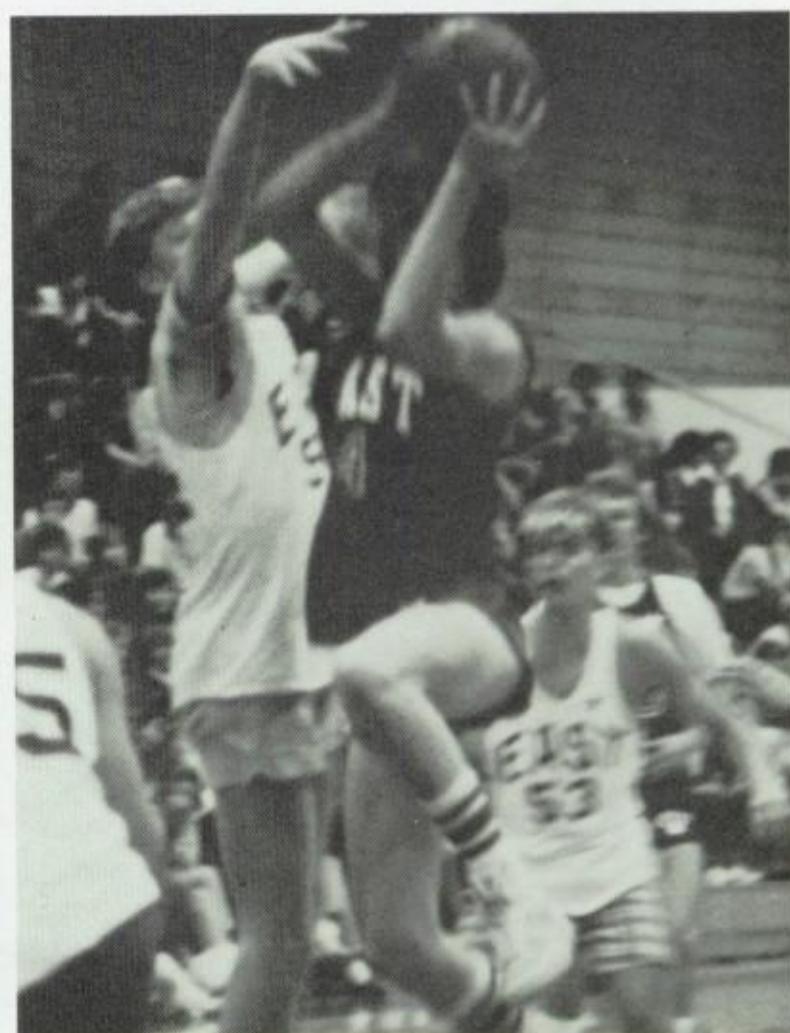

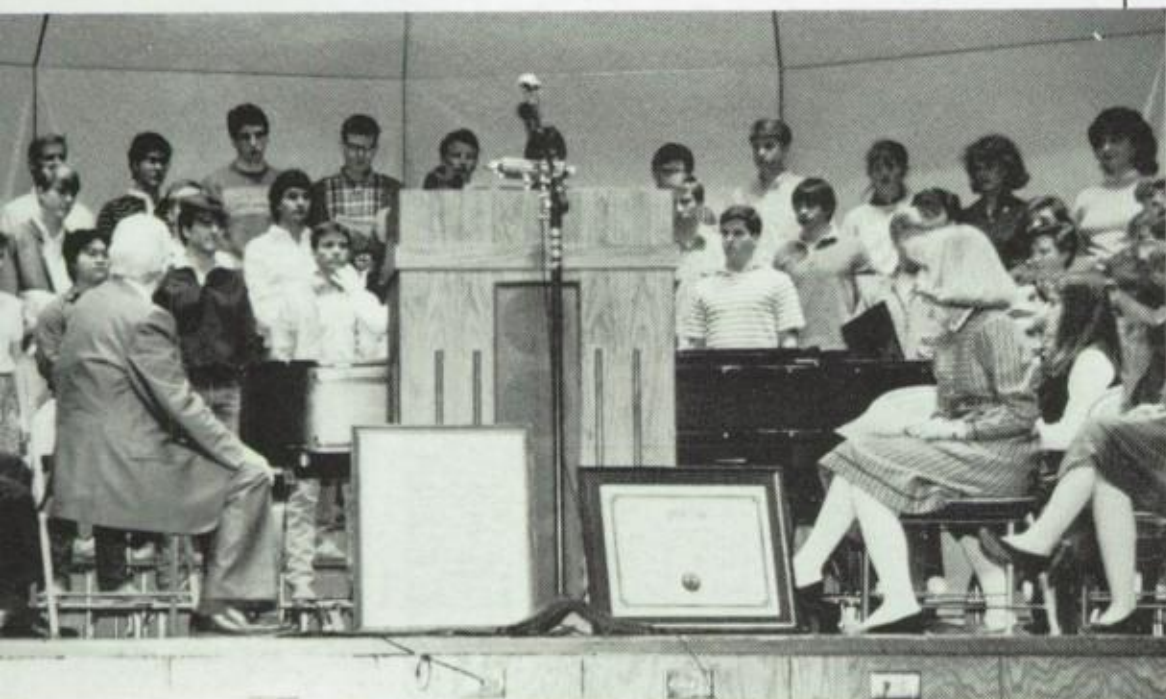

With Spirit, Senate, and Hall of Fame week combined, Eiders experienced one of the fullest, most exciting weeks in East's history. Since Monday was the President's holiday, the week's activities could not begin until Tuesday. In the morning the Patriotic assembly was held. It emphasized the importance to have pride in the United States as well as East High. The Freedom's League Club, under the direction of Heather Payne, launched a pilot program within the state by presenting every teacher with a flag to hang in their room.

Wednesday brought with it the beginning of the State playoff games. The spirit of East was enormous at the pep rally where the student-faculty game was held. The students put up a hard fight, but the teachers managed to once again win the game by a mere three points.

Pajama jammin' day was Thursday's theme, presenting an interesting sight of many Eiders decked out in their night wear. Later on in the evening, all of East met at Hires for some good food and great socializing.

The Hall of Fame assembly was held Friday morning. East inducted three new outstanding members; Hayes Gorey, Emma Lou Thayne, and Harry James, with Governor Matheson speaking as well. These people were recognized as having been significant contributors as citizens within the community. Friday afternoon, East played Cyprus in the consolation basketball game and was able to beat Cyprus soundly. What a great way to end the week! The Spirit/Senate/Hall of Fame Week was able to bring forth East's remarkable unity and spirit to prove to everyone that East has the respect and honor it deserves.

Winter Scene

Action under the blanket

The winter of '83-'84 brought with it a lot more than slopes and vuarnets—it was a season "packed" with action. The weather was wild with ferocious snow storms and the strange fog-smog that filled our valley, and reports of depression were abundant as Mr. Sun was not seen for over four months. The starving deer were affected too, and found their way down from the mountains to graze on neighborhood foliage. This story led Utah to national acclaim and campaigns were set up to raise money for the starving deer, Ronald Reagan himself donating $500.

In the East High news, the coveted "rock" was once again placed next to the mighty Leopard after upsetting Highland in bball, and our team pushed on to compete in State finals. Firemen and police came to East in February to investigate the crumbling roof on the old girl's gym, and after that our stomps were "sock hops" in the field house. Since East High was the best school in the state, it drew over 400 students with special transfers from other schools, leading to an overcrowding problem. Thus, the city conducted a series of rallies to discuss boundary propositions. After much heated debate, it was resolved to keep the established boundaries and discontinue special transfers. In the '84 campaigns, Governor Matheson announced his plans not to seek re-election, and Presidential candidates began to furiously seek public support.

The new year brought with it much discussion on the controversial book by George Orwell, 1984, written some fifty years before. On the international level, Yuri Andropov, Russia's leader for just over a year, died and was replaced by Chernenkov. Also, because of concern that "Lebanon would become a new Vietnam" Reagan ordered a withdrawal of U.S. troops stationed in Lebanon to return home. On a more peaceful note, the torch was lit once again after four years, at the Winter Olympic Games, held in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia. The Americans captured eight medals due to competitors like the Mahre brothers and Scott Hamilton. With all of these events, the winter of 1984 brought certainly more than just snow and smog—it brought thoughts that the year 2000 is only sixteen years away.

Carnival

the school musical

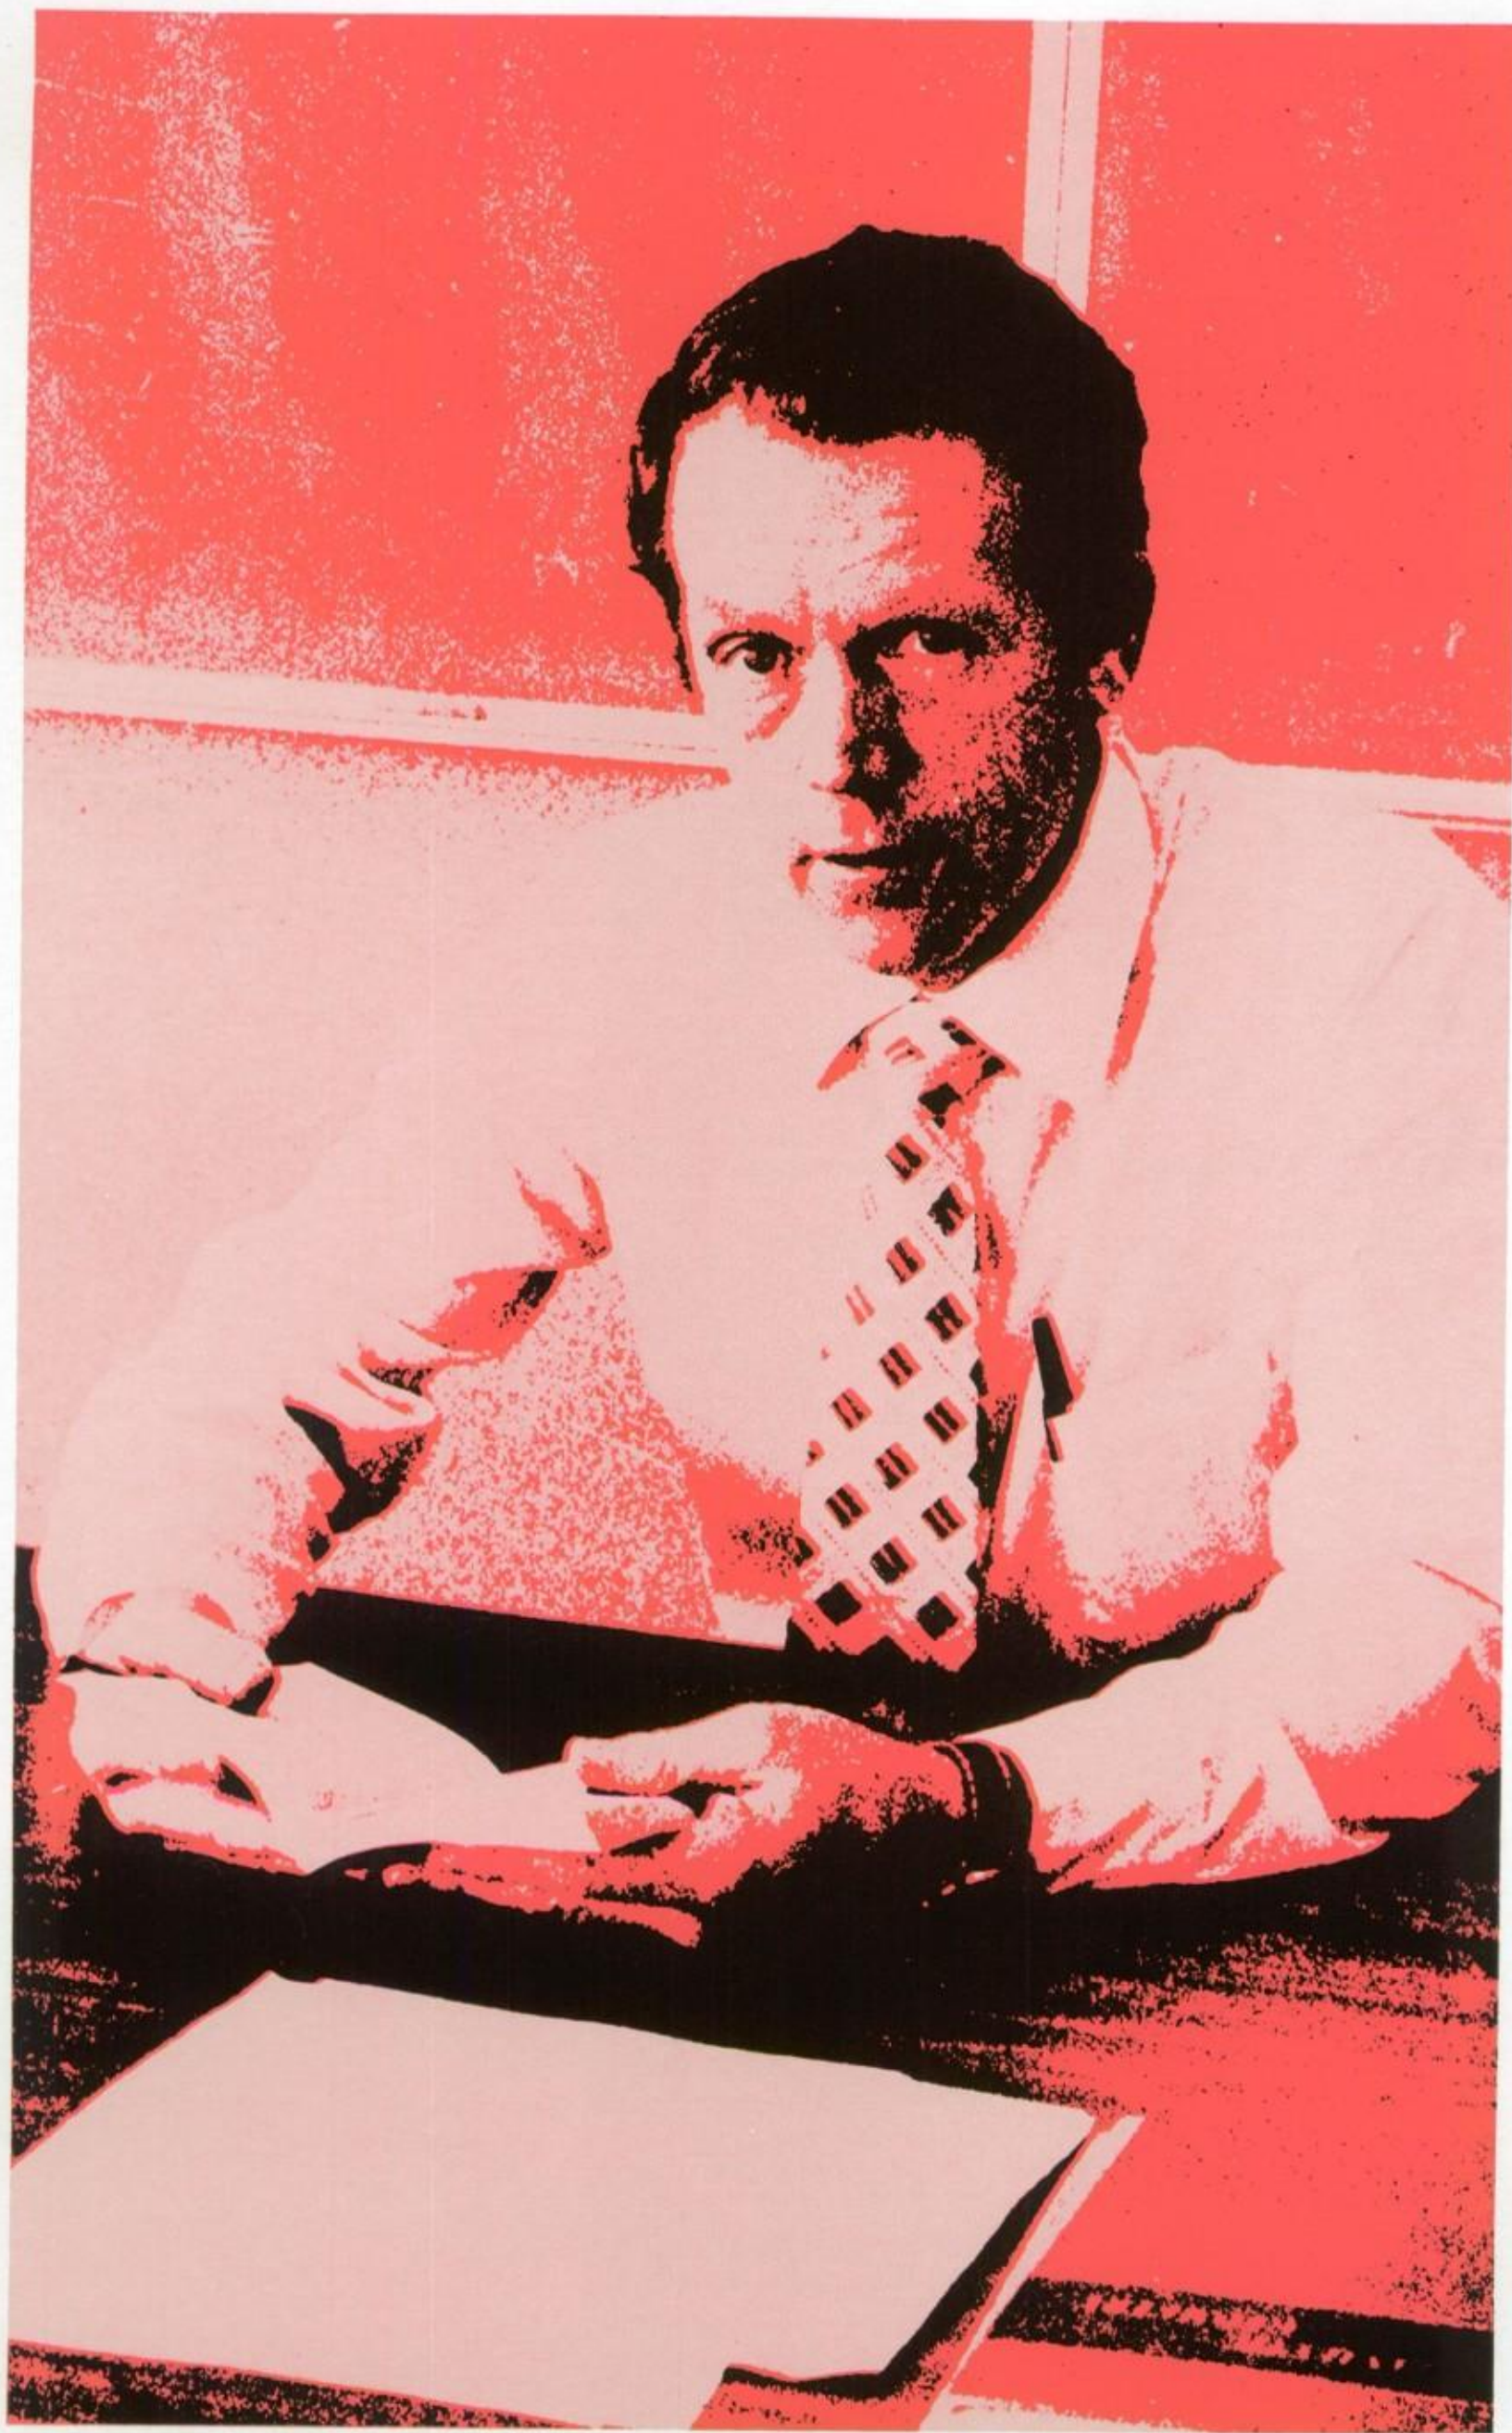

The musical at East this year was "Carnival". This production involved more students than any other artistic activity held this year. Involved in the production were the music, drama, art, and graphics departments. Long hours of hard work and much rehearsing were experienced by all cast members. The lead characters were played by Amy Parker, Joe Bennett, Jon Rogers, Kimberly Bryner, and Jay Wimmer. The rest of the cast included students from both the drama department and the music department. The play was a romance with both a "good guy" and a "bad guy" played by Jay Wimper and Joe Bennett respectively. With all of the musical numbers included in this play, everyone was able to have a chance to sing. The dance numbers were interesting and quite flowing. The scenery which was comprised of several buildings with carnival pictures on them was very creative and showy. Balloons and plastic streamers were all over the stage and gave the musical a very authentic look. Other students who helped with the musical but were not on center stage included the orchestra under the direction of Marden Pond, and the stage crew which kept the musical running smoothly. Connie Jo Hepworth was in charge of all choreography, Florin Neilson directed all acting, and Anne Applegate rehearsed all the musical numbers. Students from the Junior Choir, Acappella, and Madrigals made up the chorus. The songs were familiar and the song "Love Makes The World Go Round" was the favorite of the audience. The turnout of East students was surprisingly good, and the musical was presented three consecutive nights to a large audience. The musical was a production that East was proud of, and which showed that East has an enormous amount of talented students who were willing to take the time and responsibility to put on this great musical.

Academics

Students

seniors

ed peterson
president

"Sweet Pete" – the guy everyone liked for very good reasons. His "stick-to-it-ness" came through in Ed's athletic and academic endeavors as well as in his position as senior president. He was basketball captain, Harvard-bound, and the best fund raiser ever. With the "Klick", Ed managed to organize a stomp which brought in a whopping $1500. Besides all his accomplishments in structured areas, Ed knew how to have a good time with others "Let's go four-wheelin'!" – Ed wasn't scared of adventure and could get pretty out of control on the slopes. The Class of '84 was very fortunate to have such a well-rounded leader.

alison cooley
vice-president

"The True Red" vivacious, friendly and caring, Alison was one person everyone liked to be around. Whether you needed a great listener for down times, or someone to laugh at a stupid joke with you, Alison was always there. When she wasn't modeling in the cultural assembly or throwing a bash at home – "Come to our house!", Alison worked hard. She wasn't afraid to roll up her sleeves and dig in. Working with her seemed more like play with all her "Hee, Hee, Hee's." Alison was a definite asset to the class of '84.

melissa delaney
secretary

The female version of sweet peteness – being rude or mean just wasn't in her. Fortunately, Melissa was as efficient as she was sweet. When she saw a problem, she simply got psyched about solving it. She was always positive about East – a unique quality to say the least. Even more, Melissa was able to bring her positive ideas into reality. If she ever said she'd do something, it would get done. In her spare time, Melissa enjoyed swimming (butterfly was her speciality) and being followed by boys. She'd swear that the latter wasn't true, but any observer could see differently. Melissa was the finishing touch to a great trio.

 Kent Condon believes he is most likely to succeed.
 Blake, John Kimball, and Lamer all believe they will become millionaires before the end of the decade.
 "My life is going by too fast - I only hope we go into overtime." - Snoopy.

juniors

marilyn raybould
secretary

With her optimistic attitude, Marilyn brought a great feminine touch to the junior class leadership. Marilyn was amazing in that she managed to fulfill her job as secretary and still find time to do tons of other things. She was involved in the East High Sextette, Pep Club, orchestra and her academics. She even got into a little skiing on the weekends. Marilyn was the icing on the junior class officer cake.

mike knowles
president

Mike was just the kind of president this junior class needed. With his reserved confidence and dedication, Mike was able to take the outrageous ideas of his class and turn them into realities. Everyone could depend on Mike to come through no matter what. He excelled not only as an officer, but also in basketball, baseball, and school classes. Mike was an over all "nice guy" who did not let his class down.

steve owens
vice-president

What a guy! Steve was not only the ultimate gentleman, but could get pretty rowdy at Friday night poker parties with the "gang" as well. Steve-O brought a lot to his office. He had great ideas and followed through with all that was assigned to him. On top of all this, Steve was "hot" in his academics, football - "We're gonna kick next year!!", and swimming. Weekends found this officer skiing or golfing. What a man . . .

sophomores

scott pingree
president

It's hard to believe that guy so funny could be such a great leader. Scott was always having a good time – yet he always seemed to accomplish his responsibilities as a leader. Sophomore days was a prime example of Scott's ability. In spare time Scott enjoyed playing jacks, eating, skiing, hoopster and giving Amy a hard time. Scott not only led the sophs, but he led them into a great year full of outrageous fun.

amy jones
secretary

This pint-sized wonder brought gallons of enthusiasm and energy to the sophomore class. Whether Amy was coming up with way-out ideas or trying to cope with the constant harrassment of her male companions, Amy maintained her high spirits. Her enthusiasm extended into dancing, piano, violin and all kinds of sports. She was also a connoisseur of laughs. We'll never forget Amy and her appetite ... for life.

eric jones
vice-president

Inside this reserved vice-president lived a very funny guy. Eric was active in both academic and non-academic areas. He excelled at the piano as well as on the slopes and soccer field. His influential personality had a great impact on the success of sophomore days. Eric's humor was never ending. He could cheer up the gloomiest of situations.

Freshmen

allison payne
president

From this seemingly quite, shy girl emerged one heck of an energetic frosh president. Her ideas were new and refreshing and supported by even the upper-classmen. Part of this support was due to Allison's organization and determination. In her spare time (what little of it this A student could find) Allison was either being tackled by wild B of C men, dancing, or SKIING (Park City - No where but!) This woman was amazing!!!

kim safman
secretary

Kim brought a touch of individuality to her position. When it came to thinking up ideas, Kim was incredible! She always had great ideas to share. Not only did she add a lot to Freshmen Day, but her laugh made even the meetings more fun. Still, Kim took her job seriously and was always willing to pitch in wherever she was needed.

cathy poelman
vice-president

When one thinks of Cathy, a smile comes immediately. You couldn't help but laugh around Cathy. She was always telling a joke or laughing about something (lots of times herself). Cathy seemed to make everything seem brighter. Even if she heard a really stupid idea she would find something good about it. Being happy was just one of this VP's credentials. Cathy skied, avidly, played the piano and most of all contributed a great deal to the freshmen class.

Graeme Cunningham
October 21, 1969-July 1983

Going from junior high to high school can sometimes be a rough transition, but Graeme Cunningham was eager to make this change and go to the same school as his older brother Ian. Graeme was your normal, everyday boy. His many interests included skateboarding, dirtbiking, all-star basketball, soccer, and photography. With his strong interest in photography, he began growing a love of nature and everyone around him. He was always straight forward and didn't like anything phony. He was popular with the boys and girls alike and always had many friends. It is very unfortunate that one of these friendships had to lead to his disappearance and death on July 14, 1983. One regret that some of us should have is that we never had the chance to get to know Graeme and have him increase the quality of East High as a whole.

Organizations

ORGANIZATIONS

The Continual Strength Behind East Club Presidents

EDITOR'S NOTE: A club or organization is a chance for a student to expand upon an interest, and to meet others with similar interests. A student can either help the community or participate in competition. Either way the student is a representative of East.

The OCP, "Organization of Club Presidents," was a new club to East in the '82-'83 school year. The presidents of all the clubs and organizations at East met during the year to discuss problems facing each club and organization, and things that could be done to increase spirit and pride in East. The OCP was especially helpful to the school during the spring carnival since most of the booths were operated by the clubs and organizations.

SPIRIT

The Ultimate Club

Although not an official "club", the spirit and enthusiasm for East, especially during Varsity games. The only qualifications for being part of this crowd were to wear red and white on game days and cheer at the games. One project that a number of spirited people worked on was elaborately decorating the school for Pride Week. Another activity occurred during a pre-season Pep Rally, when part of the "loud crowd", wearing red and white, screamed a chant about the PROUD, LOUD CROWD. The purpose of the organization was to elevate spirit in East and in turn improve East Side Pride. Hopefully this was a beginning of an upward trend for a highly spirited school.

EASTONIA

Staffers Record the Leopard's Year

Deadlines! That word was said more often than any other word among the Eastonia staff. Led by our fearless leader-editor, Cynde Smith, the staff organized itself into an efficient and hard-working unit in order to produce the 1983-84 yearbook. However, all deadlines were met only after many threats and food bribes by Cynde and the other "heads". The Eastonia room became "Home Sweet or Awful Home" to everyone on the staff. Apart from the many nervous breakdowns and tantrums from one and all, the staff managed to pull through and produce an outstanding yearbook.

Right—working hard are Ellie and Robin. (well, maybe.) Janet Hall, the Senior, asks, "Where is the party?"

Of course, we cannot just talk about the better half, we must also talk about the photography staff. It consisted of about eight full-time photographers. (That also did include one girl. Way to go, Erin!) Besides developing negatives and printing pictures, some photographers would tell a good (that's good, not gross) joke. They also took pictures for the Leopard and EAST-V.

LEOPARD

East Is Their Beat

The Leopard had a regular beat of East High. The reporters covered all the areas of East: the sports, the arts, features, education, and much more. The Leopard was a student publication which emphasized the place of the newspaper in a free society. The students working on The Leopard learned the elements of journalism. The Leopard class stressed developing the intellect of the student and advocated journalistic and artistic excellence. The Leopard prompted community awareness and provided the school with pertinent information. The Leopard received many awards, and several students won various honors for their endeavors. Each member of the staff has contributed to the success of The Leopard and should be congratulated for his participation in journalism.

EAST-V

"Good Morning"

"I think it's peachy working for East High television."
Dan DeMille

"Good morning, and welcome to EAST-V," was the weekly Wednesday greeting from the EAST-V crew to the student body. Everybody, from the camera crew under Herb Urry, to the writing staff under Flo Neilson, put in extra time to improve programming. With sports updates, special interviews, and the ever-popular East High Editorials, it's no wonder that the familiar ring of, "Please warm up your TV sets to channel 8," was welcomed by all.

PENCILINGS

Literal Tradition

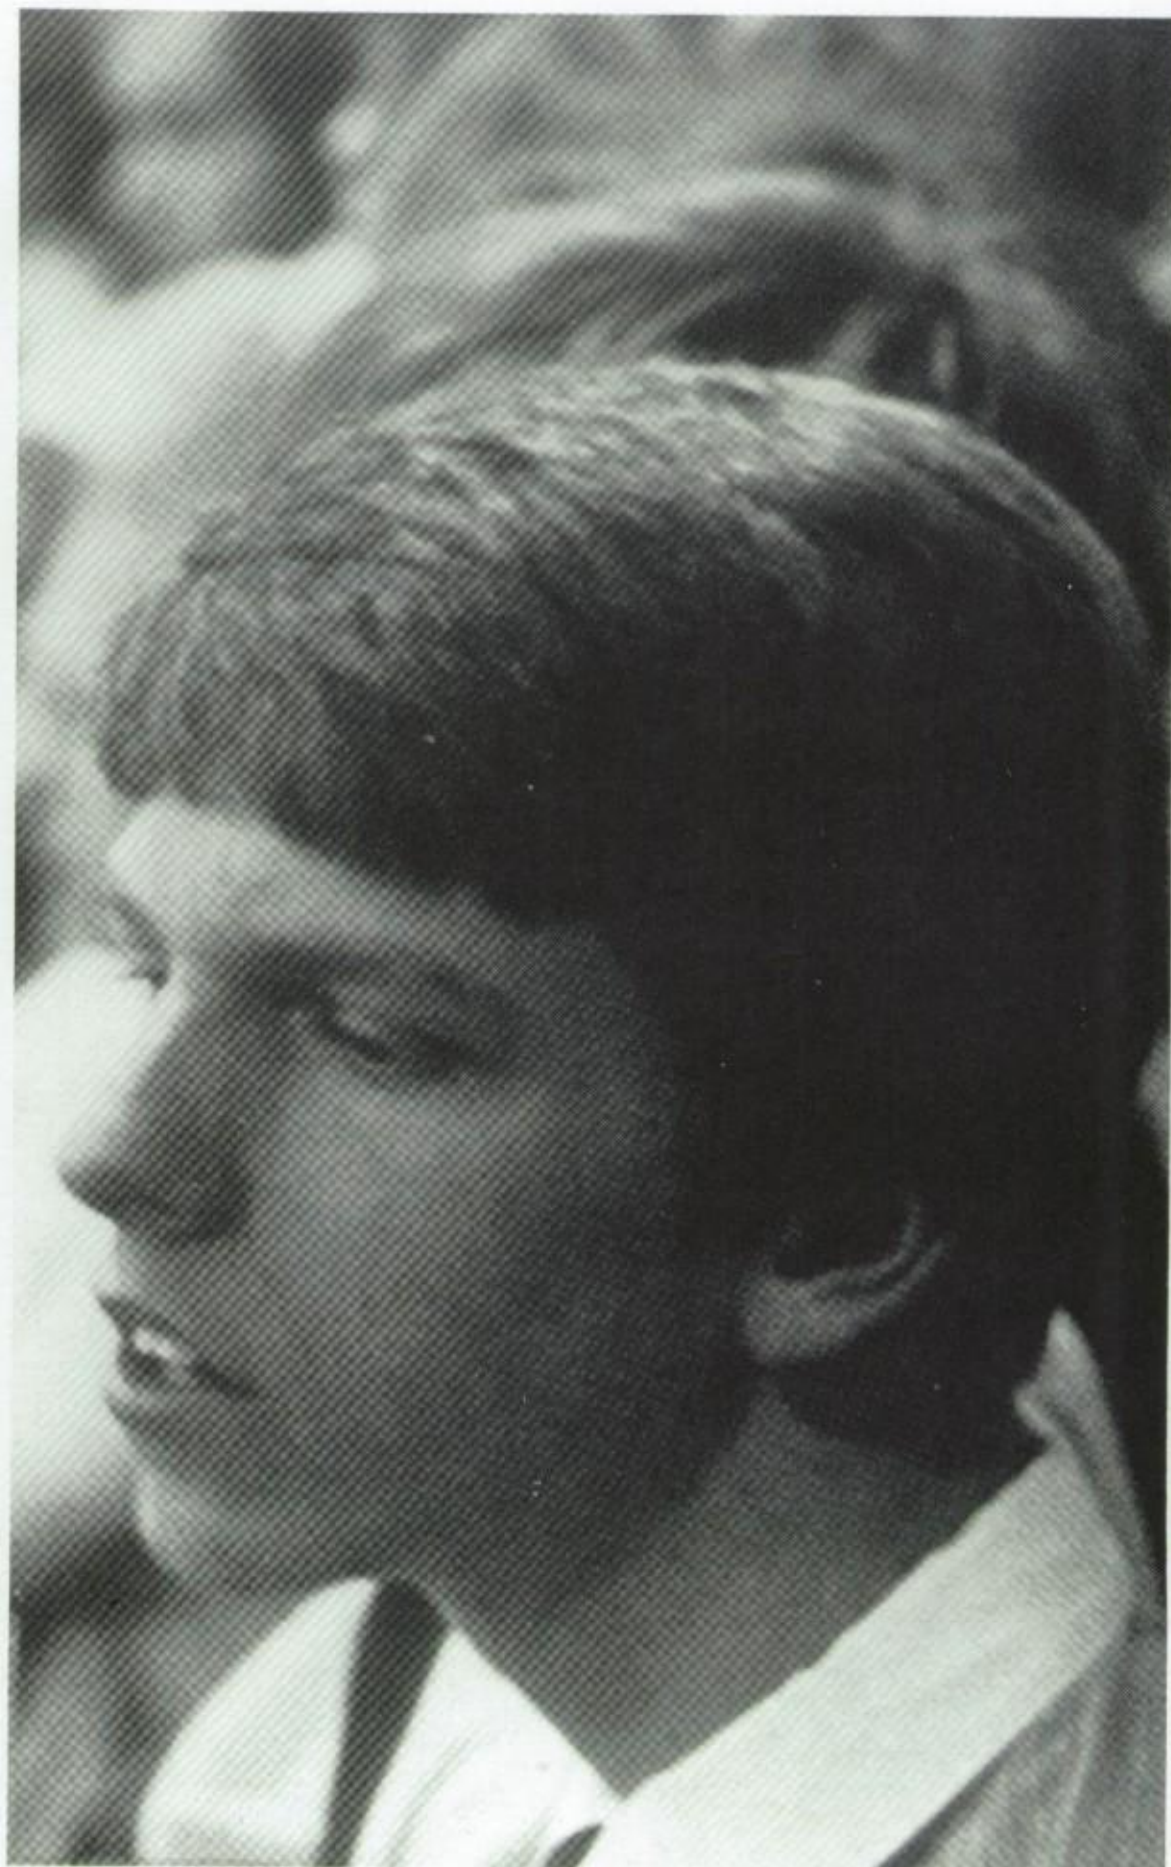

Our generation feels increasing fear over the survival of the human race and the destructive possibilities of the nuclear age. George Orwell focused on similar problems in his controversial novel Nineteen Eighty-Four, which was written when this year was only a vision of the far-future. The arrival of 1984 made this year's edition of Pencilings a special one. The talented writers and artists of East High have expressed a great deal of hope, despite their fears. The staff of Pencilings 1984 believes you will enjoy exploring with them where only the mind can wander.

LEOPARD'S PAW

Paw Members Produce Another Fine Directory

If you want that special person's phone number, you know where to look. THE PAW

This past year the Leopard's Paw was approached in a slightly different way. Ordinarily, the Paw is printed by an outside publishing company. However, this year, it was printed by the East High Graphics Department. This was done in hopes of saving money, which, fortunately, it did. Another difference in the Leopards' Paw was that the names and addresses of students were printed by the school computer. This was very advantageous in that it enabled the Paw to be distributed much sooner than expected. Because of this, the Leopards' Paw staff was considerably smaller than other years since the majority of the paw was already typed. Also, a cone binding was chosen so that the directory would lay flat when opened, making it easier to look up student telephone numbers and then dial them. Overall, the Leopards' Paw was a great success with the reinsertion of the school history and constitution.

The purpose of the Leopard's Paw is to provide the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of fellow students to the studentbody, and to provide such information as is not stated in the Student Handbook, i.e. school history, constitution, school cheers and songs, etc.

A'CAPPELLA

Without Music? Whatever!

Though the bass and alto sections were very trying at times with their endless chattering, the East A'Cappella once again had an outstanding year. Mrs. Applegate led this fearless group in many superior performances. These included the Christmas Musicales and the All City Festival. The A'Cappella also had a musical program broadcast over the radio. With all these fine performances behind them, the A'Cappella had everyone at East applauding their fine efforts.

MADRIGALS

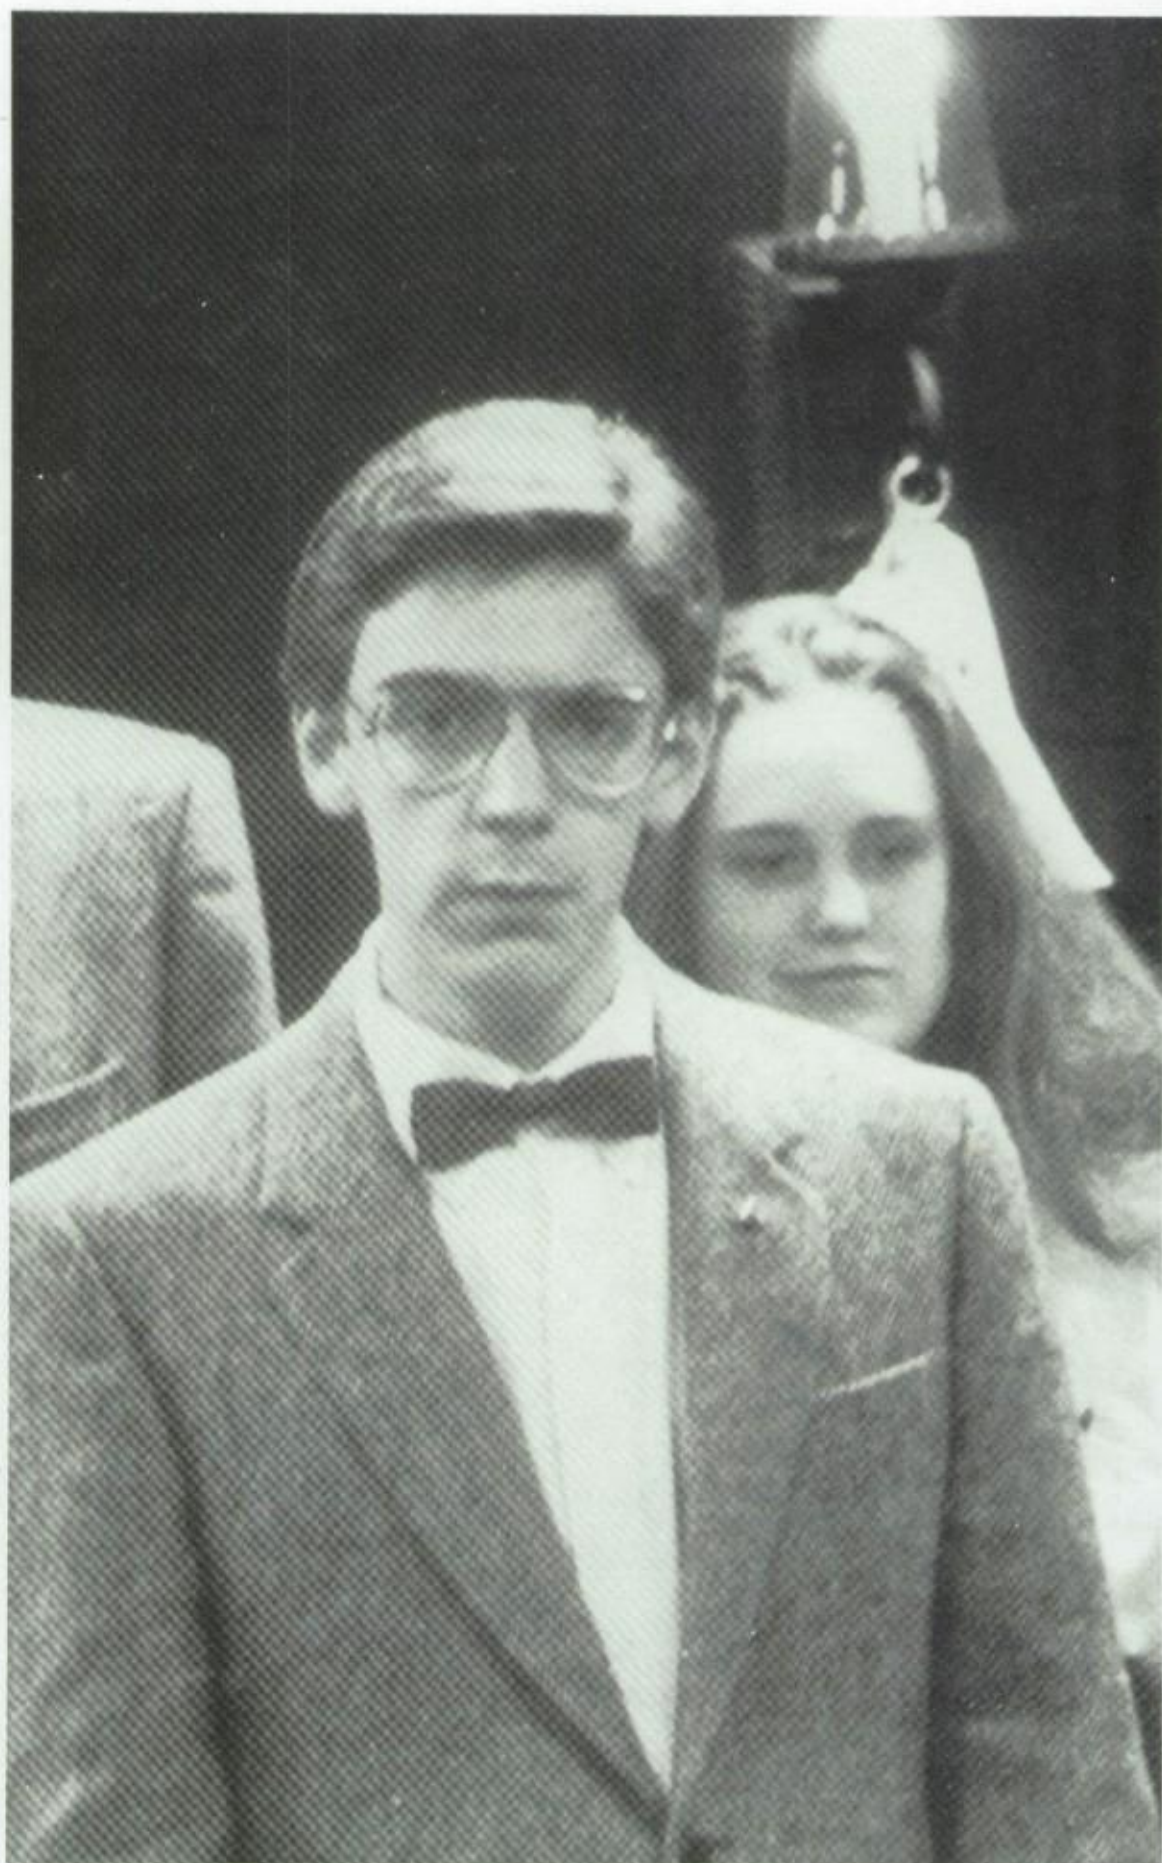

It's a Mad, Mad World

After several summer practices, with refreshment table always near, the Madrigals started the year off with great anticipation for the coming season. Although the group went through some changes, they blended extremely well and had a great feeling of unity. The "Mads" caroled at such unique locations as Temple Square, the U of U, and the East High Dance Concert. Oh yes, the joy of getting to singouts in uniforms, on time, with their well-rehearsed voices bring back fond memories for all.

GIRLS' ENSEMBLE

For Women Only

Is this the begining of great tradition at East?

The Senior Girls' Ensemble was comprised of fourteen talented, independent, and hard-working girls. Ensemble managed to make it through the Christmas season with only an occasional forgotten pitch pipe and a few missed entrances. While most their time was devoted to practices and performances; they still managed to make time for some great social gatherings. These girls, with a lot of help from Mrs. Applegate, distinguished themselves as a superior group which brought happiness to many people.

EHAG

Women Enjoy a Fun Week

Of course EHAG is the best club at East, because the members are the greatest: East High Women. This year, East women shared a dynamic week with the boys that included an aerobics class, dating game, and assembly, and in March threw a spectacular dance. The EHAG committee worked to make '83-'84 an action-packed year. Despite the fact that EHAG members are forced to dwell with East High Boys, they still conquer all and are the "Supreme Tops". Way to go, EHAG!

The boys Try To Prove Themselves

An EHAG member replied, "AB of E! What a joke! Ha!"

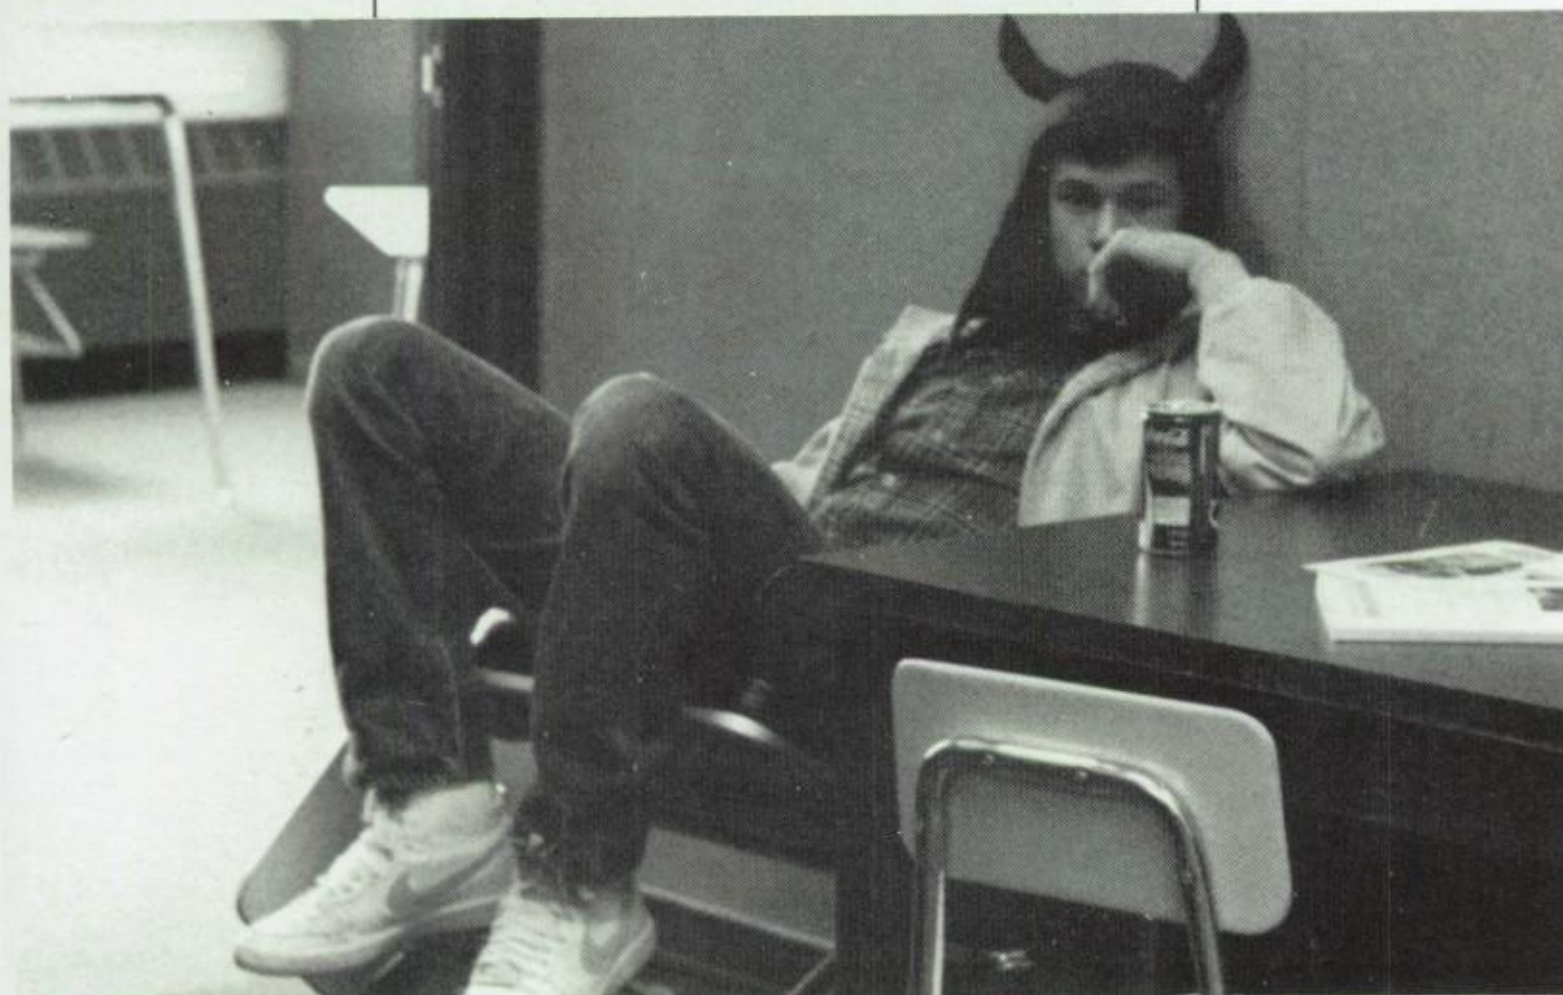

The Associated Boys of East is composed of every boy (man) at East between ninth and twelfth grade. This organization participates in such manly activities as arm wrestling, beard growing contests, and food gorging games. Ben Ball headed this club and used his great leadership abilities to provide the East Boys with a fantastic Men's Week. This year's AB of E carried on the tradition that East men are truly equal to East Women.

SENATE

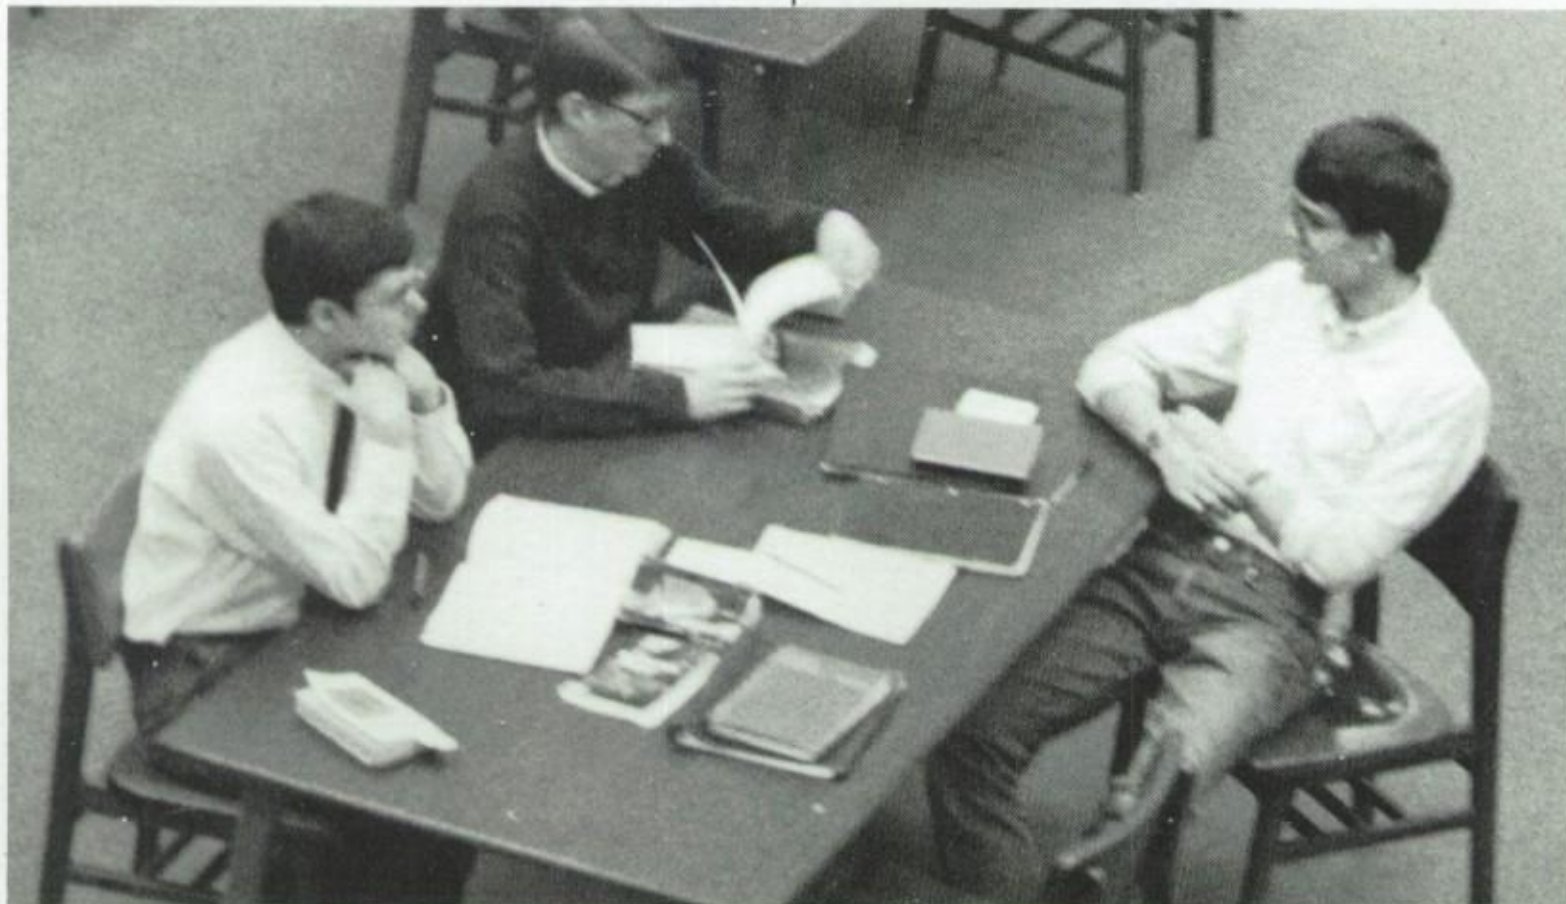

An Ecider's Representative

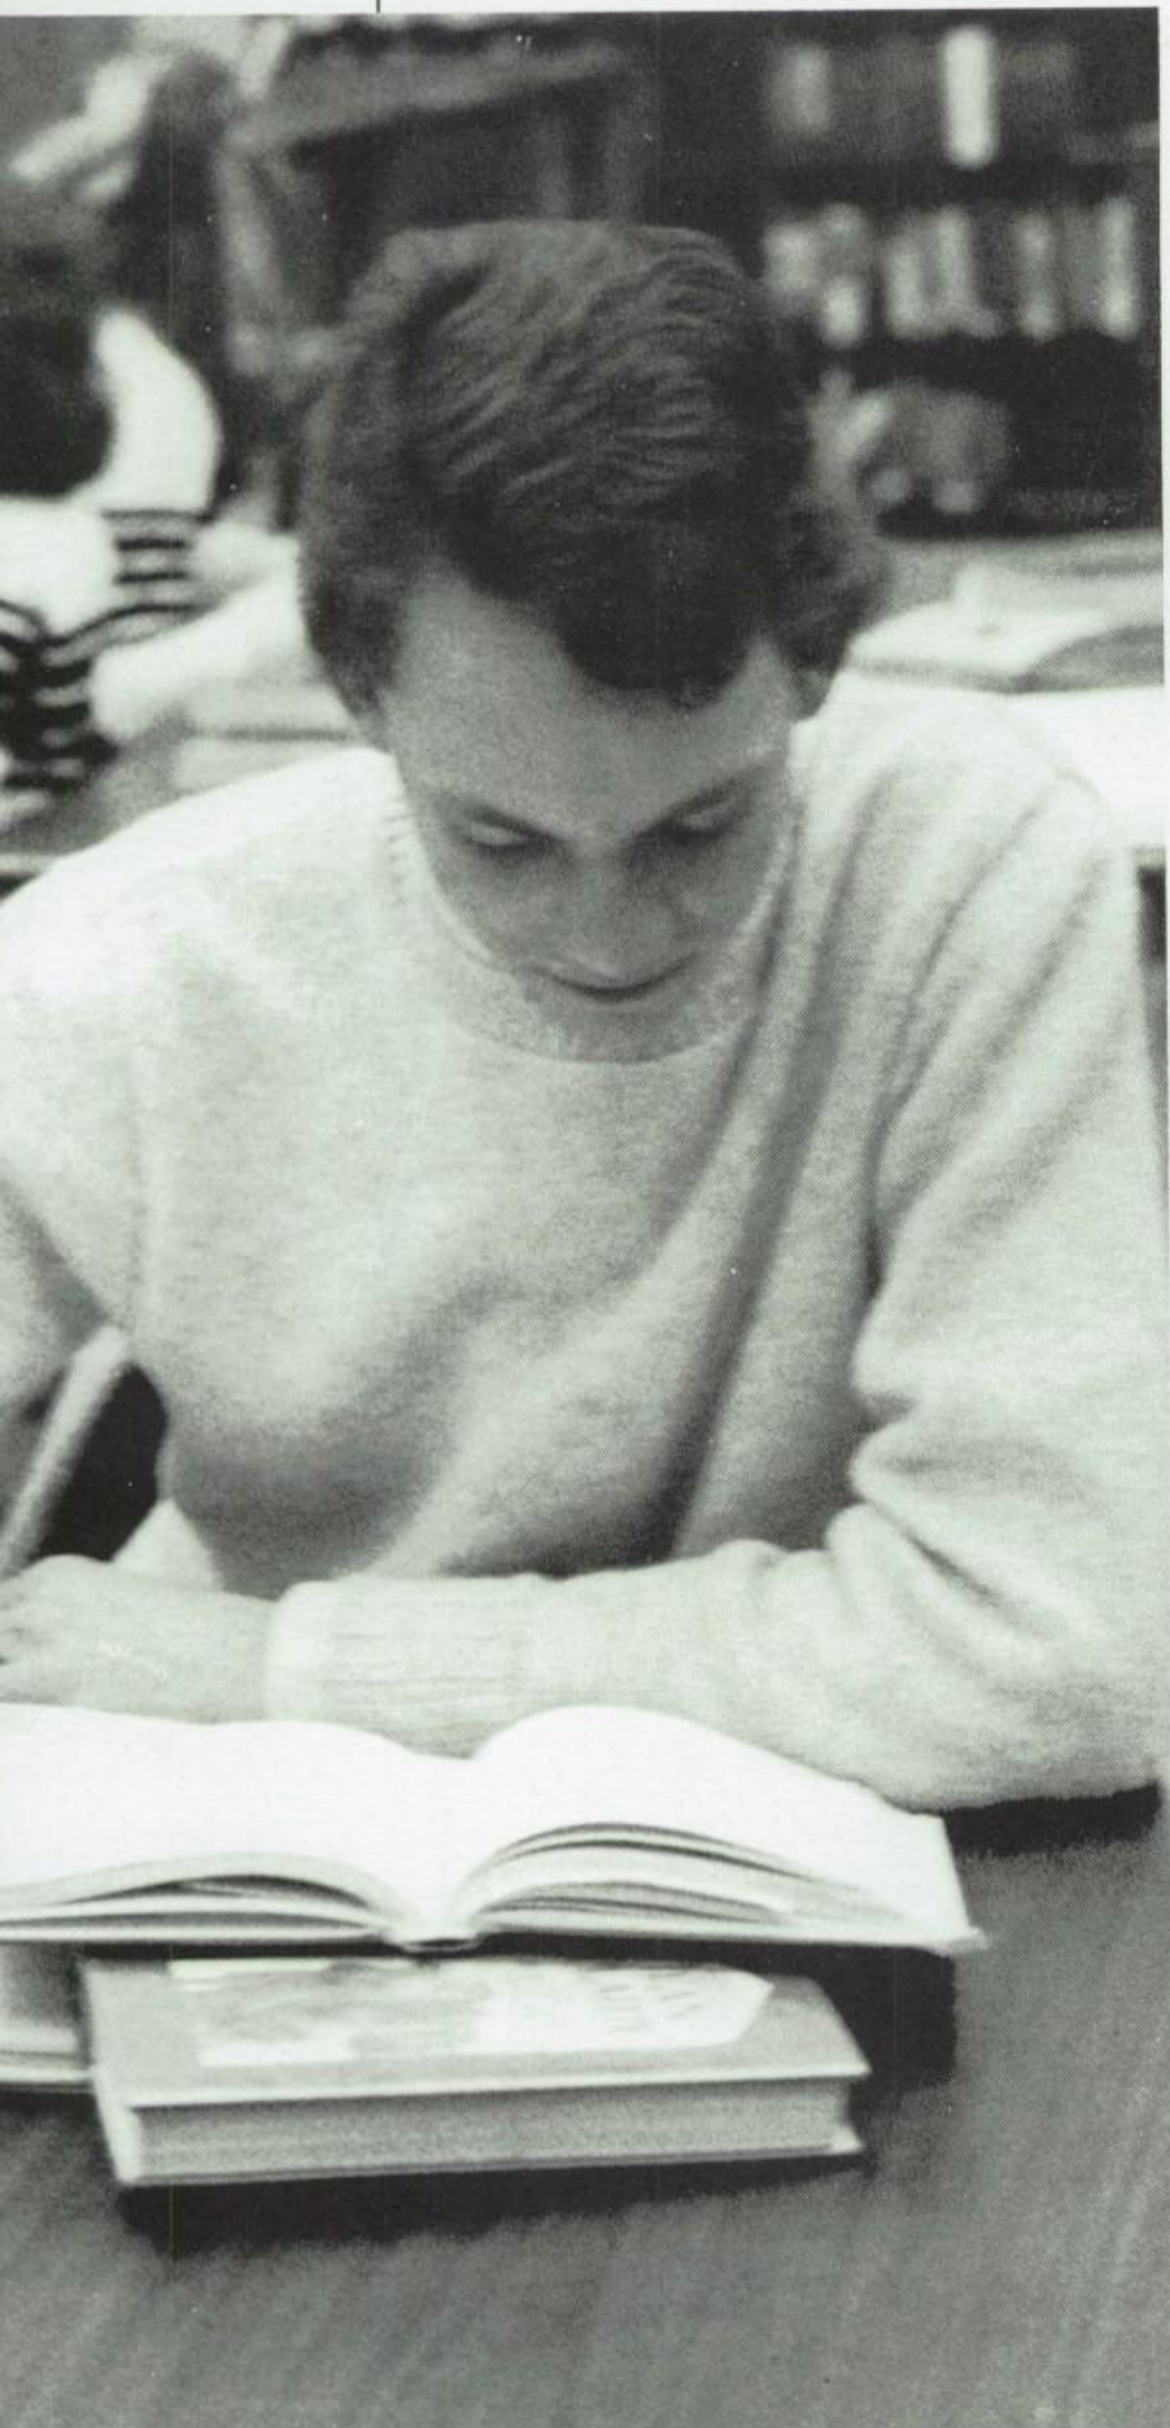

The Senate consisted of a special group of Eciders who volunteered to be at school every Tuesday morning by 7:15. Because of new stiff rules, only fourteen people were eligible to be in Senate, so no homeroom elections were held. Another change in procedure was the school-wide studentbody final election of the Senate President after primaries were held in the first Senate meeting. Senate goals included updating and revising the school's constitution, improving voting procedures in school elections, and increasing communication between the students, faculty, and Board of Control. The year's activities unfolded to include the foundation of an Ad Hoc Committee to aid Senators in accomplishing their goals, meeting with Highland's Senate, and many parties. These fourteen students unified to form an effective, hard-working body in the usual Senate tradition.

SISTER CITIES

Members Work To See Japan

Sister Cities is a unique group whose main interest is in the world around them. The club is the only high school chapter of this international organization in the entire state of Utah. Salt Lake City has four sister cities: Matsumoto, Japan; Oruro, Bolivia; Keelung, Taiwan; and Quezon City, Philippines. The club is planning a trip to Matsumoto, Japan, this summer. To raise funds for this venture, members manned a fireworks booth last summer, and sponsored a stomp.

ALUMS OF 409

Alums Help Needy At Christmas

The Alums of 409 do some impressive work at the holidays.

Alums of 409 is a unique service organization. Alums of one of Shirley's English classes who can still "fondly" recall the quarter-sheets, the LTFD's, and the LL's make up the club. The major project of the year is participation in Sub-for-Santa. The annual $1.25 donation plus additional shekels are collected to help buy clothing and toys. Food and other items also are collected to help the 409's for distribution. Alums have sent shekels from as far away as Germany and France during the annual pre-yuletide fund raiser. This tradition has brought much happiness to needy families throughout the valley for several years.

KEY CLUB

Members Lend Help To The Community

An Organization that has been present at East for many years was once again very active this year. Key Club, with its bi-monthly meetings on Wednesday mornings at 7:15 usually had at least twenty members attend. This great enthusiasm extended through the activities that were planned by the officers. At least once a month Key Club tried to visit the Sarah Daft Home (an old age home kitty-corner from East). During December Key Clubbers sang carols, gave programs, and visited. Other programs included the Special Olympics, Sub for Santa, Muscular Dystrophy Association (a bowl-a-thon), and benefits for the Utah Chapter of the Cancer Society. Hopefully the East Key Club not only made an impact on society but also showed East High what a worth-while organization it is.

E.T.C.

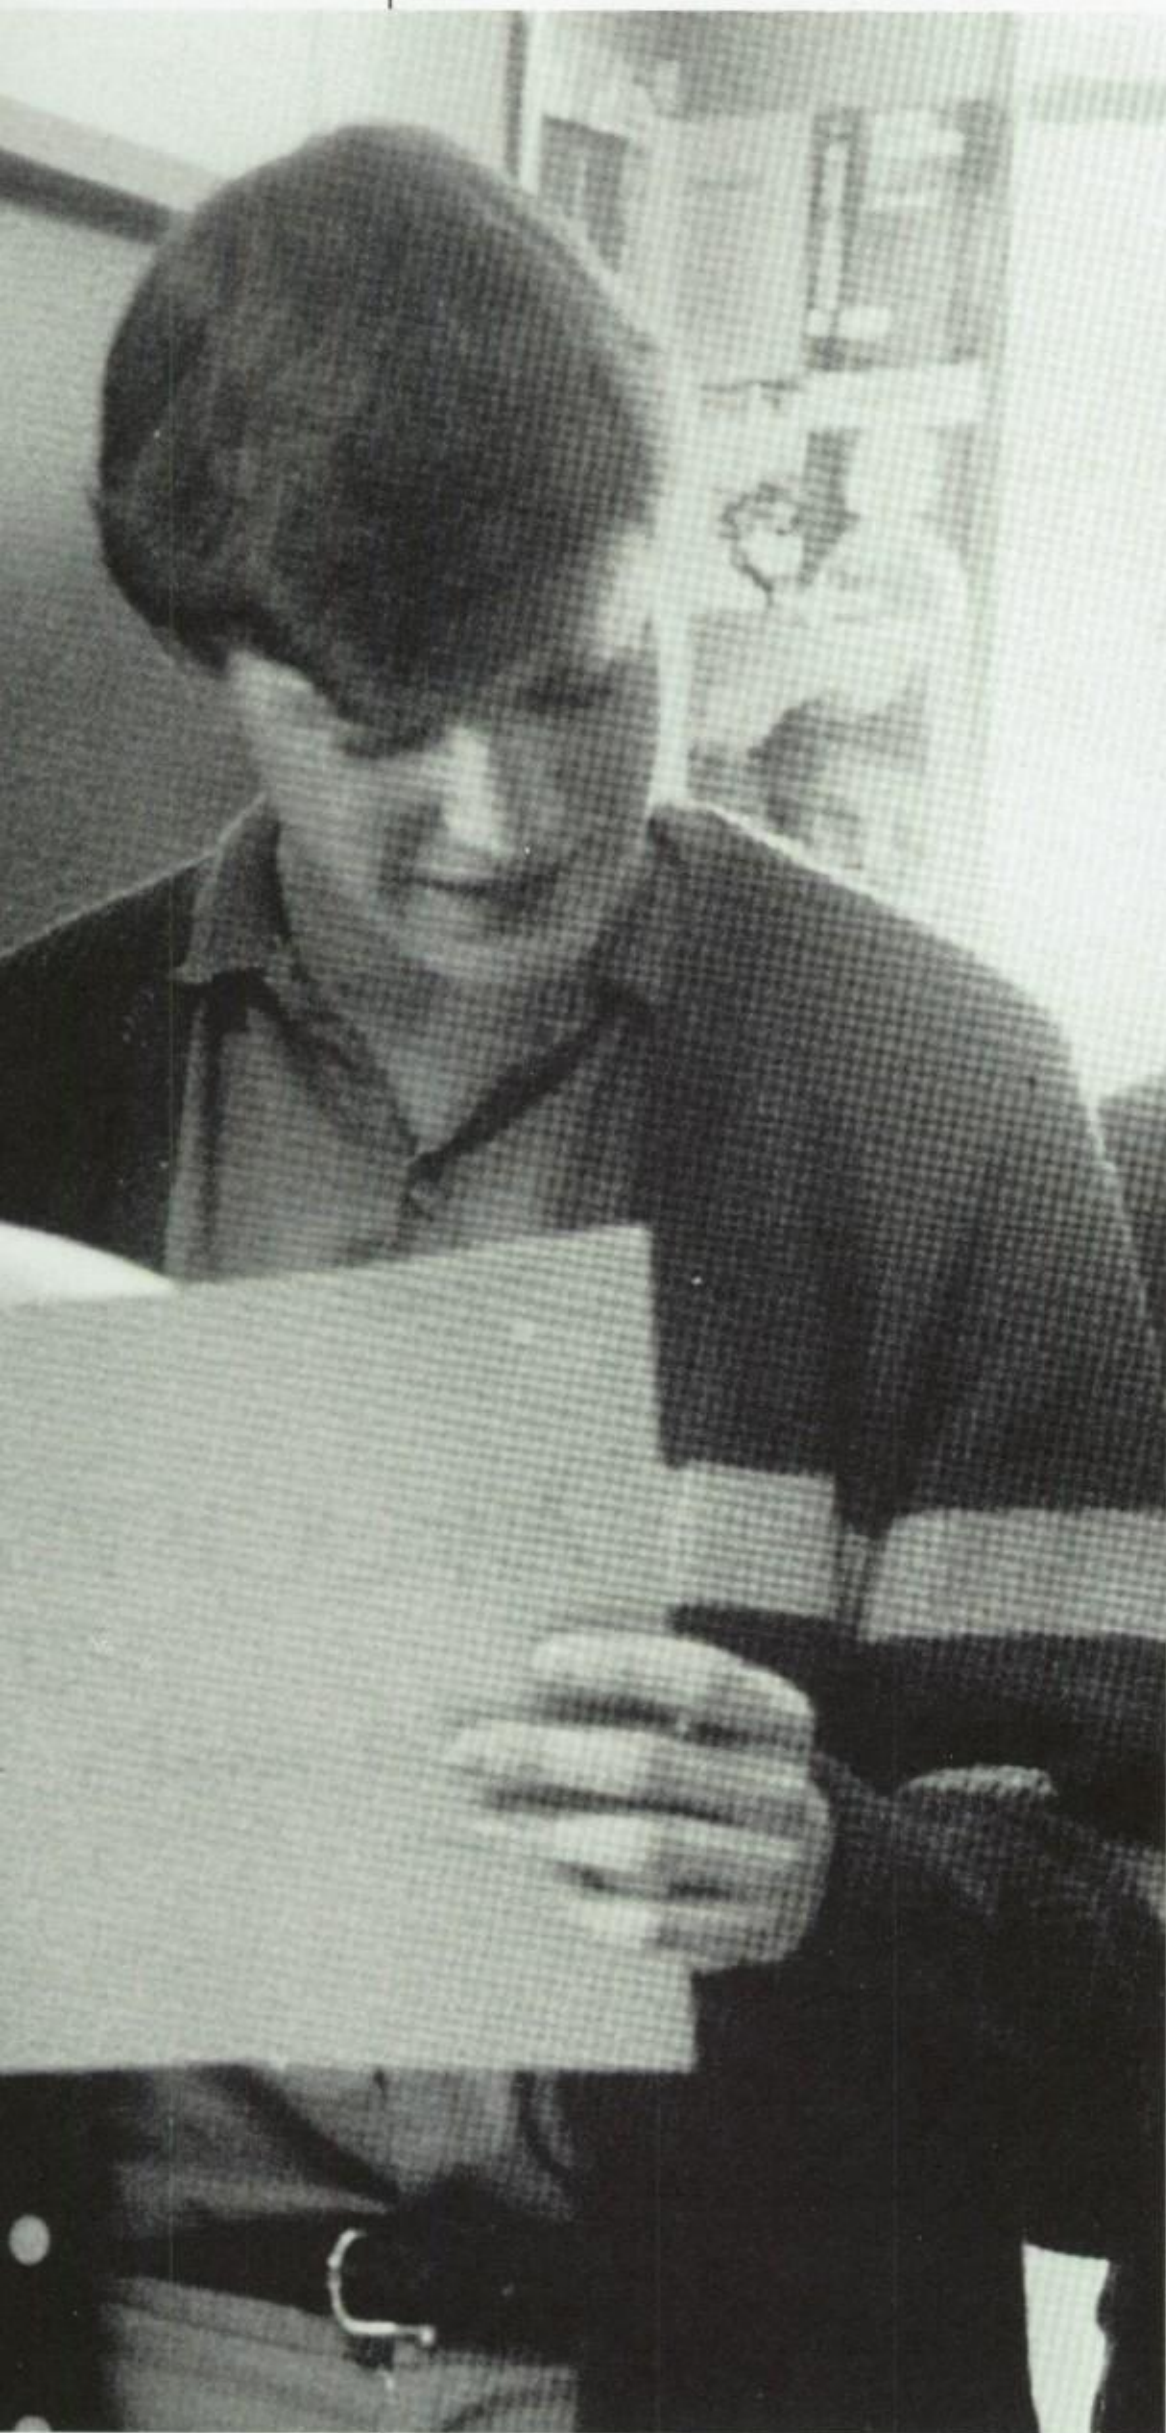

Enthusiastic Troup Creates Magic

The East Theatrical Club was comprised of a group of actors and theatrically minded individuals who sponsored plays, acted in plays, and ushered. E.T.C. was involved in "The Mousetrap", "Ozma of Oz", "The Importance of Being Earnest", the school musical, and the Take Five production. The group expanded through the year and the plays benefitted greatly from the diversity of talents involved. The drama department had a very exciting year and the East Theatrical Club was an important contributor to the department's success.

To Argue (a Question) Formally

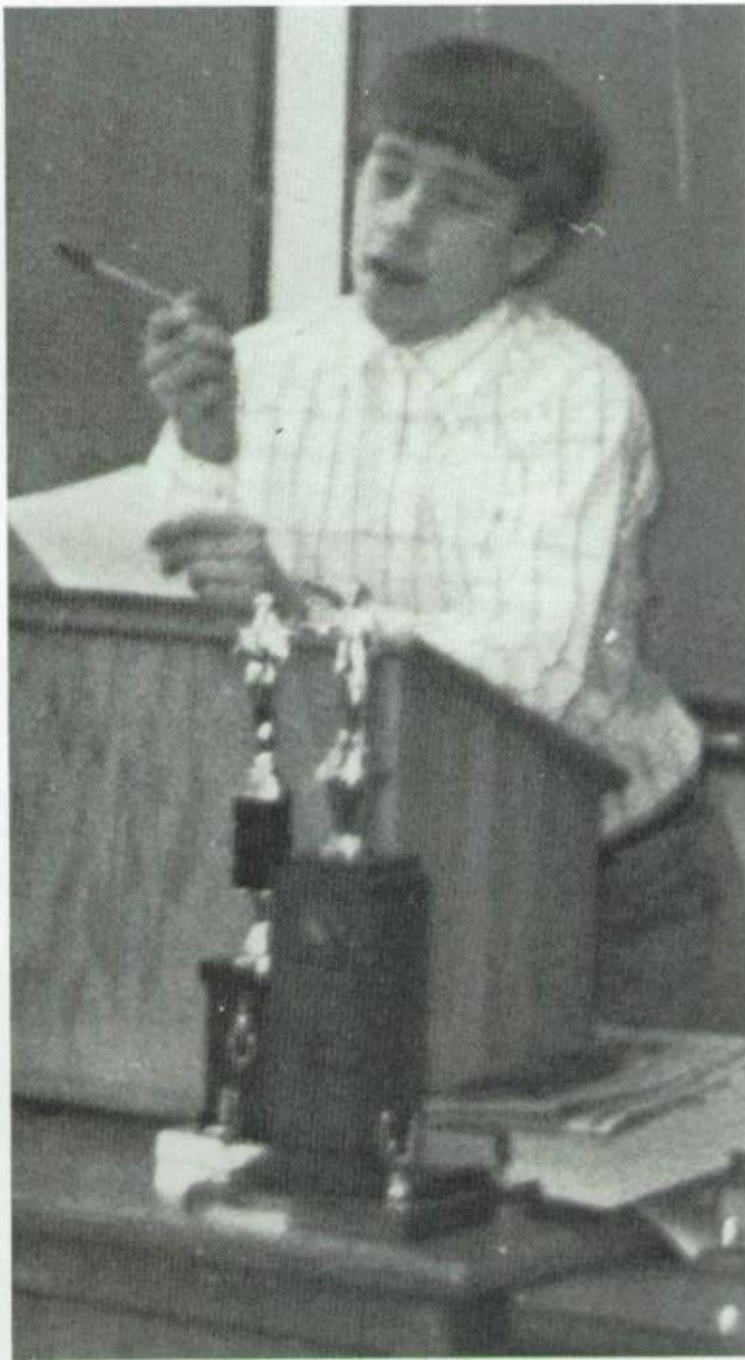

East Debate had a new coach in their midst this year—Dave Smith. He worked to motivate the squad towards one main goal—quality debate. Through the hard work and dedication of all its members, East managed to reach this goal. Hours were spent researching in the library, gluing evidence to notecards, attending after-school practices, going to weekend tournaments, and talking to walls to memorize speeches. The time spent yielded excellent results, as East debaters did well everywhere they went. With returning varsity members and talented novices, the debate squad represented East with class. Not only did Ecidors compete in tournaments around the Salt Lake Valley, they travelled out-of-state as well. Top teams represented East at Harvard, Glenbrook, Georgetown, and universities in California and Idaho. Keeping up with tradition, East debate went on a squad trip to a warm place during a cold month. Participating in the Arizona State University tournament in early February, East hit some new competition and adopted to a new style of debate. Returning to Salt Lake with renewed vigor, the East squad was prepared to perform well in Regions—the tournament that they had been working towards all year. Once again, East debaters discovered that they hadn't lost all that sleep for nothing.

DANCE COMPANY

Leaping Into Success

The Dance Company is a special program for students, through auditions, who are selected as being gifted in dance. The company has the opportunity to study dance, to choreograph, and to perform. By sharing their talent with guest artists, Eiders and members of the community, the dancers gain valuable artistic experience. Long hours of after-school rehearsals and tedious work-outs prepare the Dance Company for its annual event: the East High Dance Concert. Held in the fall and performed with live music, this concert proves itself each year to be a gala occasion—showcasing our own outstanding East High talent.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

Students Take Charge

Consisting of Natalie Beers, Pete Hanseen, Sarah Jacobsen, Laura Lazarus, Erin Lee, Amanda Pahnke, and Martine Stowe, the assembly committee played a major role in nearly all of the assemblies during the school year. Some of the members' responsibilities included the planning of the Hello Day, Homecoming, and Farewell assemblies, and giving advice for the talent assemblies of the various classes. Waking up at 6:00 to be at assembly practice by 7:00 after staying up till 11:00 the previous evening planning the assembly, demonstrated their dedication. Mr. Bennett, the assembly committee sponsor, could often be found worrying because of procrastination, but in the end, always succeeded in putting on the type of assemblies East High enjoyed.

STAGE CREW

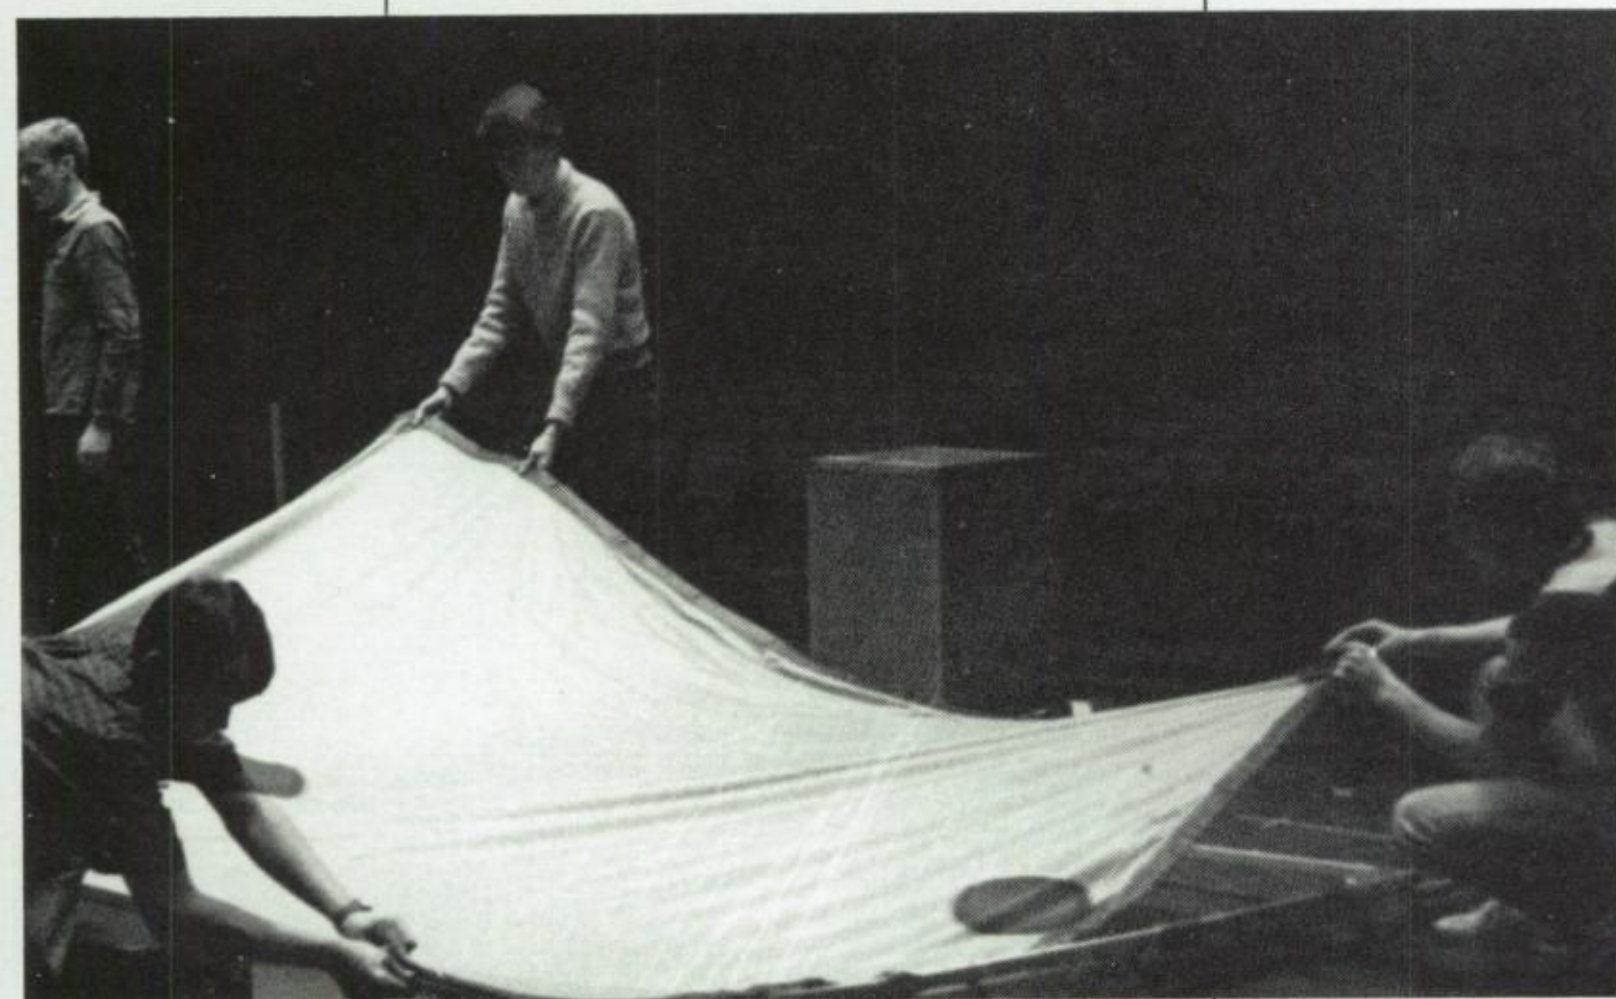

Lights! Sound! Action!

Who are those people running around the auditorium?

The stage crew was a group of students that worked harder than any other club and received the least amount of recognition. Under the outstanding direction of Weldon Hyer, these kids were in charge of incredible feats such as opening the curtains, maneuvering the lights, changing the scenery, and controlling the music. On call during every assembly, play, and concert, this group accomplished amazing tasks. Though this group may not have been as noticeable as other clubs, it was indeed a significant and important part of East High.

ORCHESTRA

The Music Plays On

Impressive and talented beyond measure, East's Concert and Symphony had an exceptionally prosperous year. Under the direction of Mr. Marden Pond, the two groups took on a whole new look, and performed more than any orchestras at East have ever performed. This elite collection of musicians took on very challenging music, and gave outstanding performances as a result of all their hard work. Together, the orchestras put on a memorable performance celebrating Karl Von Ditters dittdorf's birthday. Other performances included the Christmas Musicales, All-City Concert, Region Festival, the Musical Carnival, and Concerto Night. These Musicians comprised two of the most prestigious groups in the East music department.

String Orchestra

BANDS

Concert, Jazz, and Symphonic

The musical talent of East's three bands was of superior quality this year. Each group had its own personality but all three were outstanding in performances. The symphonic band took a fresh approach this year under the direction of Marden Pond. This group earned the respect and praise of adjudicators at such competitions as the All City Concert and Region Festival. The Jazz Ensemble provided a more up-beat kind of tempo for people who preferred a little "jazzier" tune. Always on call for pep rallies, games, and assemblies, this group never tired of their jazz music. The Concert band was comprised entirely of ninth graders. They performed at many football and basketball games along with the symphonic band. Though they were the youngest of the musicians, what ever they lacked in experience, they made up for in their enthusiasm. They met the challenges that faced them and proved that they were capable of performing in the Symphonic band, by the wonderful performance that they gave at their spring concert. All the hard work that these bands went through paid off, for they maintained the standard of excellence for which East is known.

ROTC

Ready! Aim! Fire!

J.R.O.T.C., Junior Reserve Officer's Training Corps. The ROTC department consists of the instructors and the cadet staff; the Battalion Commander, Executive Officer, Adjutant, Intelligence Officer, Operations Officers, and Supply Officer.

The Corps had several groups within itself. The Ranger platoon was a group who wished to excell in ROTC. The Rangers coordinated the rappelling at and go on many field trips. These trips were practical exercises in practical application of military fundamentals. The Color/Honor Guard administered military funerals to all Veterans. The Guard also presented the Flag at various functions. The Service team was in charge of all ROTC related community service projects such as the Flag detail and ushering for the Dance Concert and other related events. The rifle team was a varsity athletic team that was sponsored by Major Vogel. They shot against teams from this state and states all over the Mountain Time Zone. ROTC taught students the basics of first aid, marksmanship, speech, and leadership. The main point of this department was to help people who want to further their career in the military and to develop leadership qualities.

Anyone who happened to tune into East's radio club this year, may have been amazed at how active the club had become. The group was very active in many radio discussions, and also participated in some real radio band stations. All interested students merely changed their radio dials to the East channel and became involved in a stimulating and worthwhile club.

FRENCH

Crepes, Anyone?

The French Club at East this year offered students the opportunity to learn more about French lifestyle and customs, and to have fun at the same time. In October the members sampled some of the delicious French cuisine at Max Mercier's Le Parisien. In December members come to early morning French carol practice in preparation for the Christmas party, a tradition with the club. There were also other activities throughout the year which enabled the members of the "Cercle Francais" to add to their appreciation of French.

GERMAN

Eating and Drinking

German clubbers could often be seen indulging themselves in German festivities which included visiting the Oktoberfest at Snowbird, eating at the Schonwald Restaurant in Provo, hosting their own Christmas party, entertaining potential German clubbers from the Junior Highs during Foreign Language Week, visiting a German Playhouse, and holding an end of the year banquet. 28 German students prepared throughout the year to travel to Hanberg, West Germany, for three weeks during the summer.

Toga! Toga! Toga!

With a cry of "Carpe diem," the Latin Club eagerly began its season. After three months of struggling over "Mica Mica Parva Stella" and then taking their Eastonia picture in togati, the true Roman plans were made. A Christmas social at Two Guys From Italy, Foreign Language Week, and the annual Roman Banquet at Della Fontana created memories in the annals of history and, as our fore-fathers would say: "Gaudeamus igitur, juvenes dum sumus!"

SPANISH

Let's Party, Fiesta!

This year, the membership in the Spanish Club increased due to larger Spanish classes. To promote the cultural awareness the Spanish language was just one of the purposes of this club. On this theme, the members planned a trip to Mazatlan and Guadalajara for the upcoming summer. The success of the club was clearly evident throughout the year at various festivities and during foreign language week when everyone joined in making pinatas for the wild Spanish fiestas.

VICA

Does It As a Job

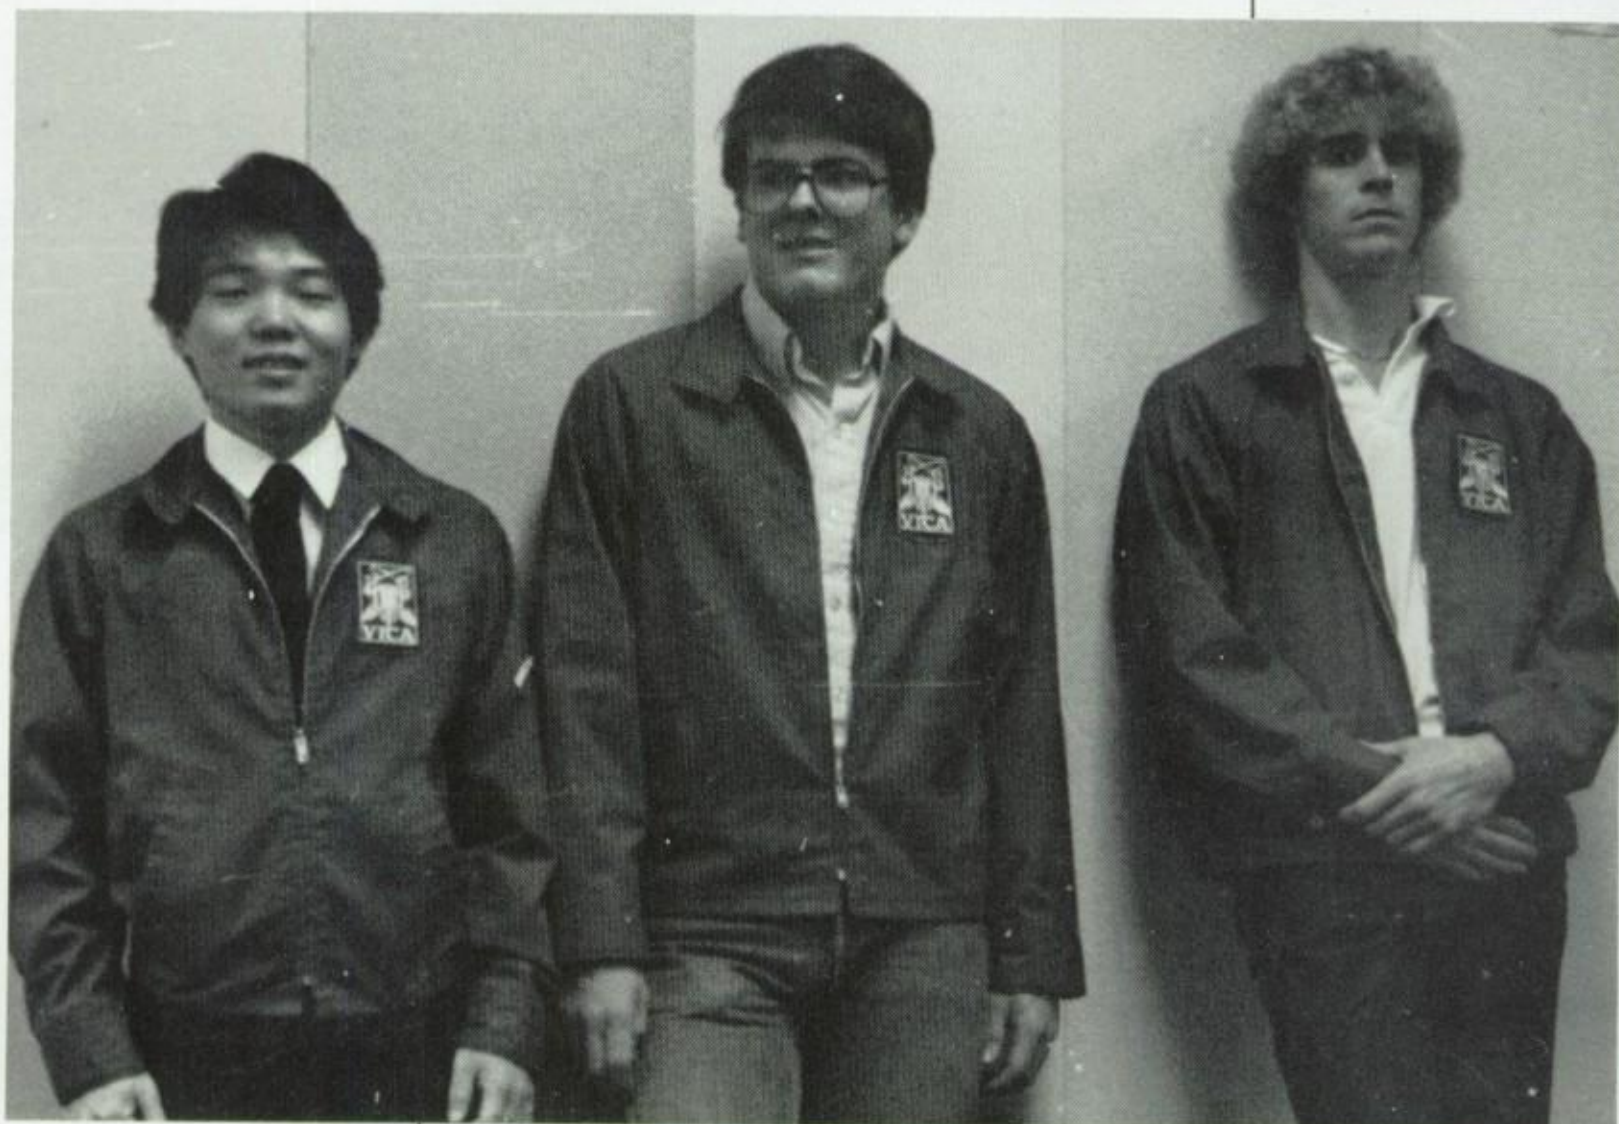

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America was not just a seasonal or special interest club; the members were skilled, productive, and represented East in vocational competitions. In October, the officers participated in a leadership conference at Woodcross High. In November, the club sold fruit cakes to prepare for Vocational Week in February.

State Skill Olympics in April, and field trips to Sun Litho, lecturers, Gans Ink, Utah Technical College, and Clines Datsun. VICA also planned intrasocial trips to the Utah ski resorts, in which, they shared the costs.

DECA, Distributive Educational Club of America, brought high school marketing and fashion merchandising to competition this year. With the twenty-eight different fields such as: advertising, newspaper layout, real estate, selling, and store management, specialization in a particular area was imperative for the competitors to capture many DECA honors for East High.

MODEL U.N.

Understanding the World

At the end of the '84 school year, the traditional event of Model United Nations took place. Students from all over the state congregated to represent different countries in government, ideas, and even style of dress. East took on Hondurea, El Salvador, and the Ukraine USSR, and by attending various lectures and conducting individual research, students prepared themselves for the busy MUN sessions.

LAWNSPORTING

Fun! Fun! Fun!

After feeling East to be lacking in culture, the three founders deliberated on the best way to restore it. Why not form a club which stresses social graces, medieval (and later) sporting activities, and game playing? Now it is possible for the East High student to participate actively in croquet, badminton, boccie (If you are truly cultured, you know what that is without having to ask), golf, and making of snow angels, snowmen, igloos and forts. The opening social held in August began our year by refining certain aspects of midday al fresco socializing. The lawns were filled with young ladies and gentlemen at play after a lovely tea. Evil laughter emanated from the croquet lawn where a certain young gentleman had just tripped over a wicket, and delighted laughter from highly-skilled boccie players was also heard. So stands the East High Lawnsporting Society.

SCIENCE CLUB

"Mad Scientists"

Explore Sciences

What could be more fun than a trip to the canyons?

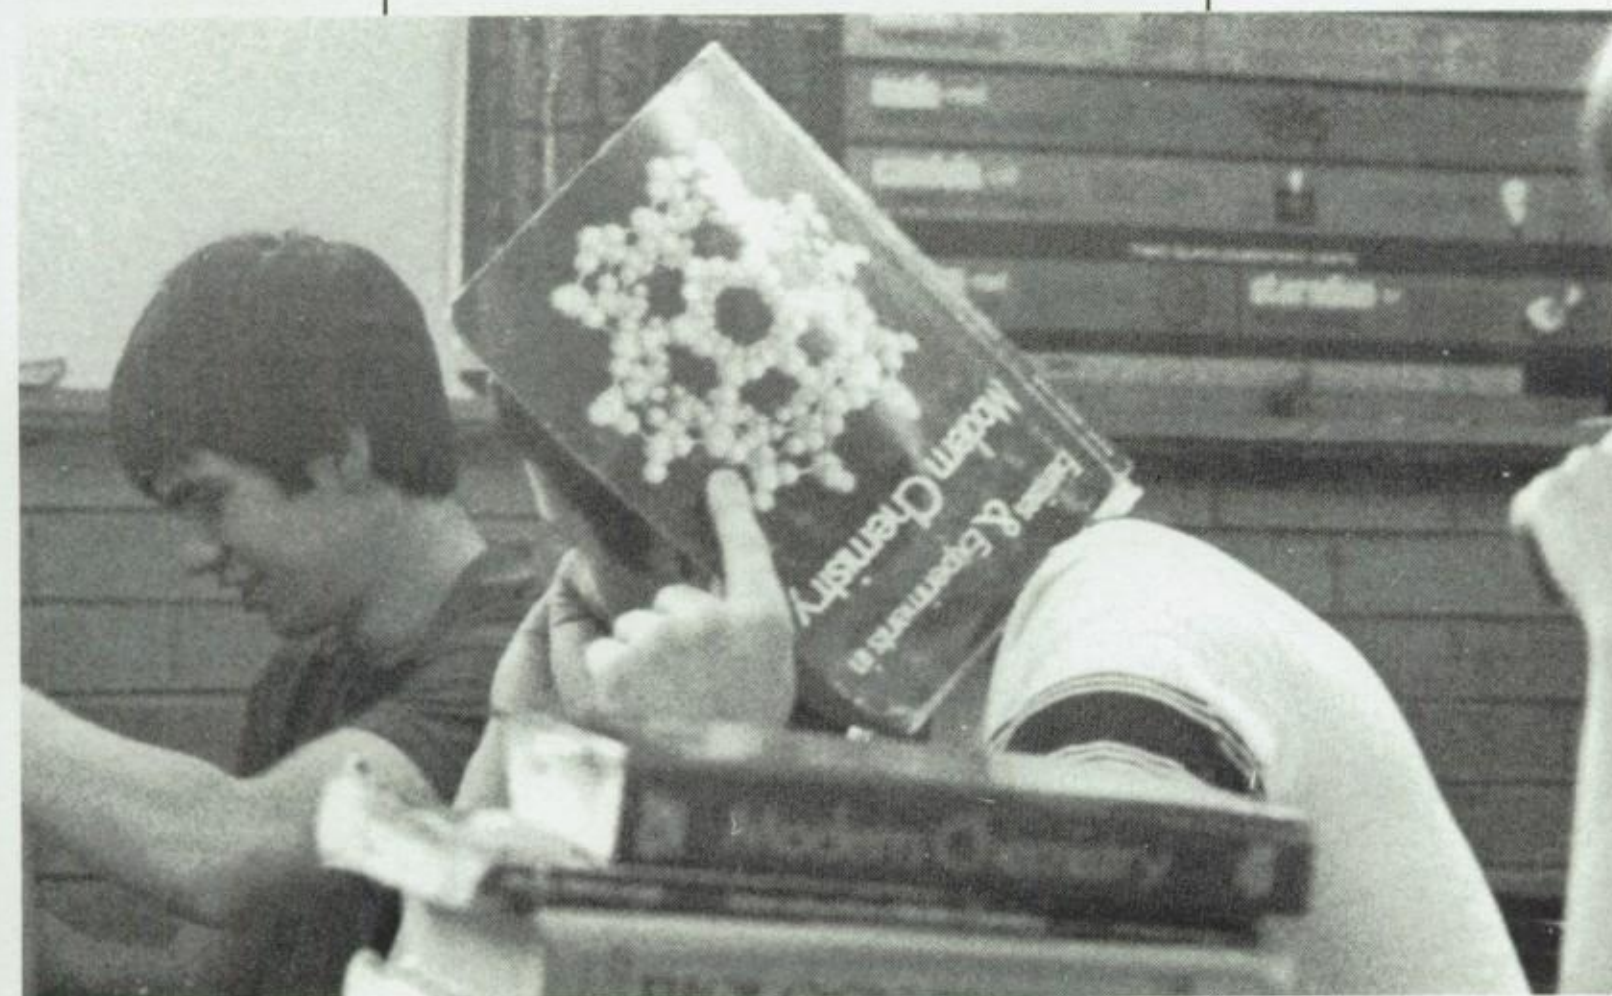

The science club promoted and encouraged an interest in science by providing members a broad scope of stimulating activities in a variety of scientific disciplines. Current research and new developments in a myriad of scientific fields were presented by experts in scientific conferences, illustrated lectures, or in field trips to laboratories, industries, and research facilities. These experiences often provided contacts which led to scholarships and career opportunities. This year, the club was entertained by lecturers in such subjects as the Space Shuttle, Science Fair, and snakes in the everpopular "Snakes Alive." Once again, the club made its "Super Trip" to the Grand Canyon. The sunshine, sites, and various "social aspects" of the get away will be reminisced for the years to come.

CULTURAL AWARENESS

Concepts, Skills, and Art

This talented and artistic group of students comprised a club that was a main backbone of the culture at East. The cultural assembly that this group put on was very stimulating to watch and gave students a chance to see just what kind of cultures are part of the schools. The talents of these students were not only shared with East students, but with school all over Salt Lake City. All students were allowed to participate in this club and gain awareness about other cultures and customs other than their own.

NATIVE AMERICA CLUB

"Special" Interest Club

The Native American Club was designed to help students recognize their potential and learn more about their culture and traditions. The NAC consisted of many different Indian Tribes and performed in the Cultural assembly and for various community occasions. A proud part of East High, the Native Americans were deeply involved in everything they participated in.

AFS

Learning About the World

One of the more active clubs at East was the AFS club. This group was comprised of students who were interested in foreign exchange, and also students who were visiting Utah from foreign lands. Parties, meetings, and informal gatherings, were just a few of the things that the club participated in. The club was able to instill in its members the idea that Utah is a wonderful place to be but so are foreign lands! As a result, many Ecliders made plans and left for some exotic foreign land. With reports from East students who were already abroad, and reports from the exchange students at East, AFS was able to inform its members about what sort of cultures and customs other countries have and how Utah's culture differs.

HEALTH CAREERS

Helping, Caring, and Learning

Health Careers was both a club and a class sponsored by Mrs. Volker. Students explored the many career opportunities in the health and medical fields, and were able to earn nursing assistant certificates. In December, the students engaged in a successful service project which involved singing, providing gifts, and good cheer to patients and staff at the University of Utah Medical Center.

FREEDOM LEAGUE

Show Your Colors

Under the direction of Heather Payne, a new and important club was founded at East this year: the East High Freedoms League.

Representing Utah at the National Youth Leadership Conference in Valley Forge last May, Heather Payne learned the importance of citizenship and patriotism within the school and thus initiated the organization. The chief committee consisted of four others: Laura Lazarus, Pete Hanseen, Ed Peterson, and Mei Lin Kwan-Gett who attended the conference in April and will be president next year. This group was sponsored by Jane Lindout and Mark Nichols – a prominent community leader. One major project was to draw up the Freedom's Charter and present it to Governor Matheson. He then endorsed the Charter and recognized East as the pilot-program high school in Utah.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Something New, Something Different

"Oh, when those East High Cheerleaders fell in line it wasn't always perfectly straight, but this bunch provided East with more spirit and enthusiasm than it has seen in years. These dynamos of endless energy camp up with many fresh and novel ideas, from shocking those Rams with white tuxedos at the "Outclass Highland" game, to the remodeling of the 'E' with lights for victories atop the school. Thanks to our '83-'84 Cheerleaders, the cry "I you wanna go say 'GO!' will echo on forever

Songleaders

Perfection? They've found it

Keeping themselves physically beautiful, the team hopeful, the fans faithful, and the gym full, the Songleaders dazzled the crowds with their cheers, dances, and renditions of Michael Jackson's "thrilling" music. Head Songleader Natalie Riddle and her five wonders nurtured East's school spirit when it was low, and generously shared it with the rest of the studentbody when it was high (which accounted for most of the time), but most of all the '83-'84 Songleaders will be remembered most for their unending dedication and love for East Side High.

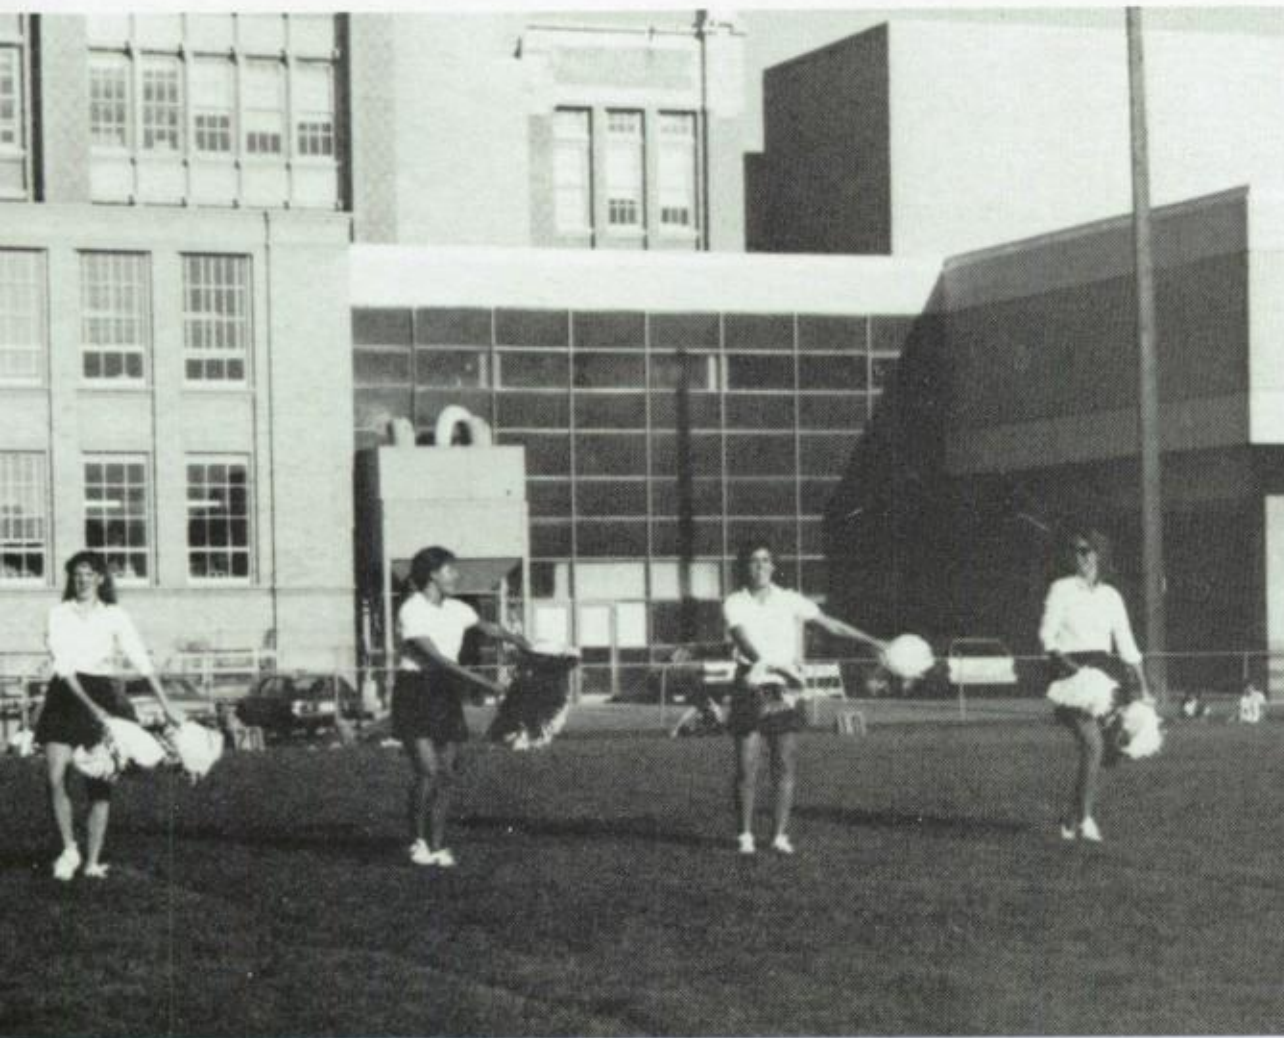

Junior Varsity Cheerleaders

Stop 'em? Go ahead and try

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders excited the crowds with their energetic cheers, producing enthusiastic support for all. Since several of these Sophomores served as Freshmen Cheerleaders last year, their experience generated innovative thoughts and designs for our favorite "Red-and-White" spirit. Their electric personalities (not to mention Lauri's legs), coupled with boundless motivation and dynamic energy allowed these "JV Women" to show East what victory is all about.

Our six smiling, shouting, jumping Freshman Cheerleaders invested enough energy in east to get rich on! By putting pizzazz, personality, and coordination into cheers and pep rallies, these spirit solicitors were able to psyche teams, energize fans, and make the Pep Club yell even louder! Unmistakably Leopards, – the Frosh Cheerleaders put their pride for East into action – lots of it, and infected the school with a contagious feeling . . . EAST!

Pep Club

... loud and proud

The '83-'84 Pep Club was, to say the least, big. Big in numbers, big in enthusiasm, big in dedication but most of all – big in spirit. Under the direction and leadership of President Heather Gillette, these girls in their "bib look" uniforms, added the red and white dimension to the halls and bleachers of East High. From decorating 'til the wee hours of the morning, marching in the homecoming parade, creating colorful banners, and those lovely red-and-white garters underneath their "short" skirts, to treating their Pep Club sisters, waving those pom poms, and cheering the mighty Leopards on – this group of proverbial peppies helped Eciders one and all to remember that "We are alive!"

Varsity Football

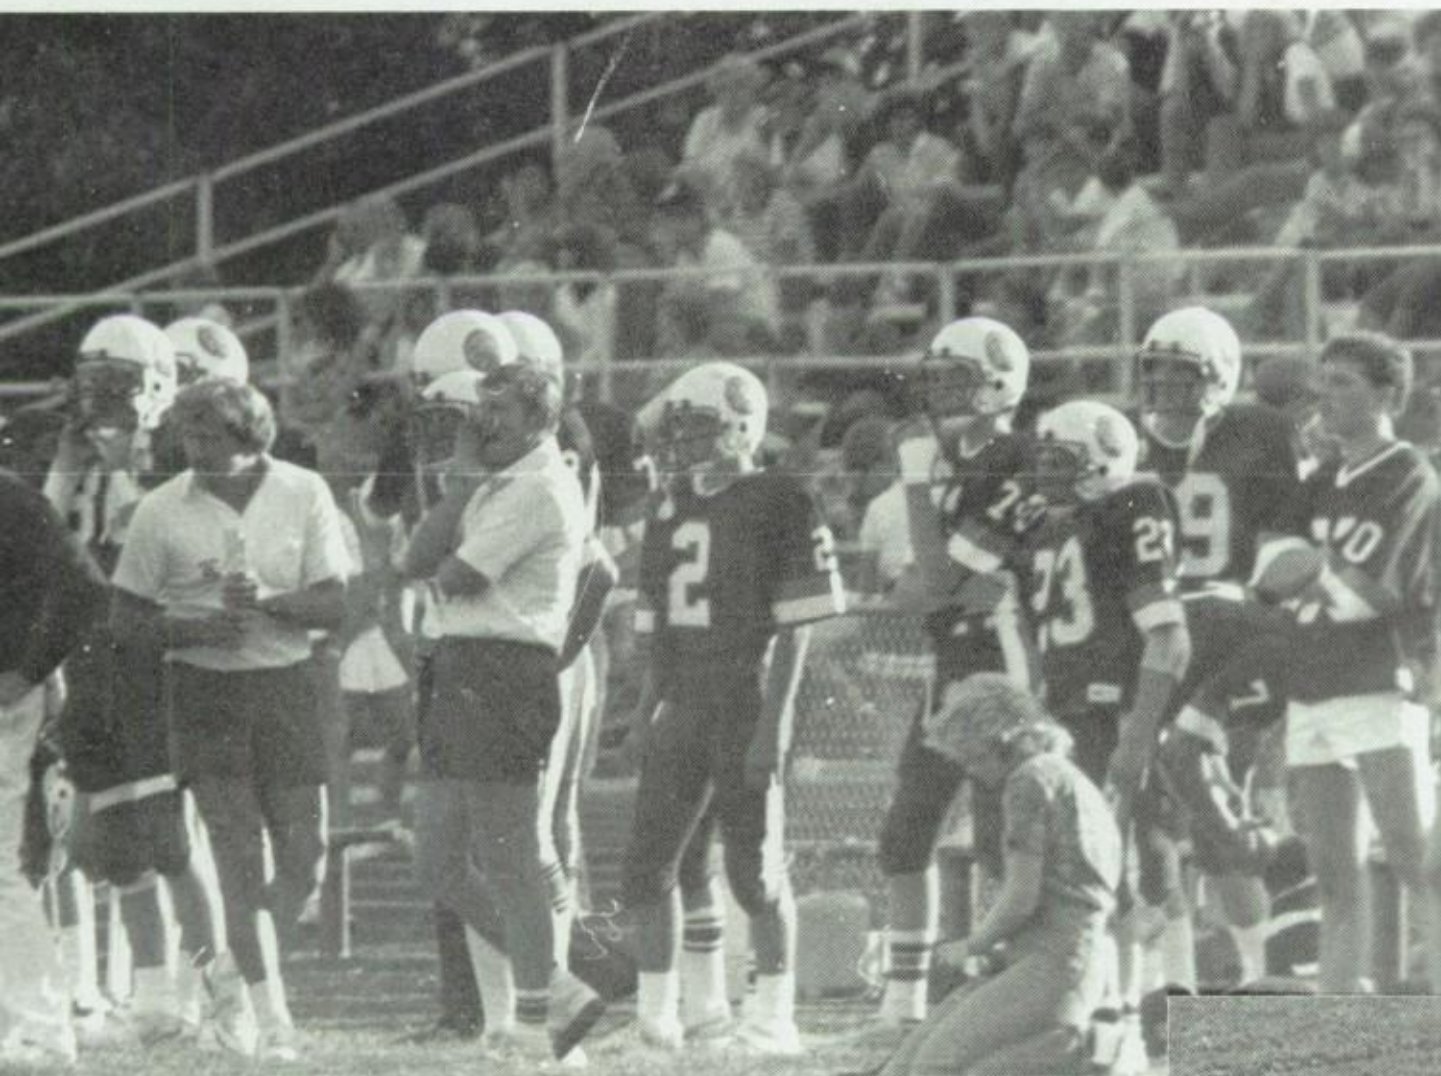

"It isn't whether you win or lose, but how you play the game."

In the '83 season the mighty Leopard's found that winning was not easy as it looked, and that defeat was hard to swallow, yet swallow it they did with a grace that demonstrated the strength of East Side Pride. After finishing with a 1-8 record and adding over twenty-five players to the injured list, East was forced to accept the fact that State would not be ours this year. Yet through these troubles, the team still emerged as one, and realized that some years are meant for building. The dedication of our "boys" was seen through the summer - long workouts and sweaty two-a-days, to ready the team for that Red and White brilliance that East shows in everything it does! The team's feelings? They're all kind of summed up by this old and treasured phrase: "We're all for one, we're one for all, we're all for East Side High. . . ."

JV Football

Injuries Hinder Team

Perhaps the hardest hit by the plague of injuries this season was East's Junior Varsity team. In fact, injury-related forfeits accounted for two-thirds of the entire season, allowing the JV to compete in only four games. This did have its merits for some however, as it allowed the few uninjured players to come up to the Varsity level, where quite a few juniors earned their letters. These teammates did more than just play football, though; they helped each other grow both physically and mentally, in preparation for their ultimate goal ... Varsity.

Sophomore Football

Small But Mighty

The Sophomore Football Team ended the 1983 Season with an unfortunate single win. In all their games, however, they proved their ability to offensively move the ball downfield and score. Lou Sabala led the team with dazzling performances, throwing the ball with great accuracy and also running with great skill. Other outstanding running backs included: Odan Penilton, twins Marc and Eric Conn, Brett Stephens, and Jeff Dickenson. Excellent receivers were: Todd White, Kurtis Angelovic, Sean Barnett, and Pat Lovell. The team's outstanding linemen included: Dave Swenson, Nate Smith, Andy Cooley, Luke Van Komen, and center Robert Bridge. With a new offense, new coaches, and terrific new attitudes, these young men and their teammates look forward to a successful 1984 season!

Golf

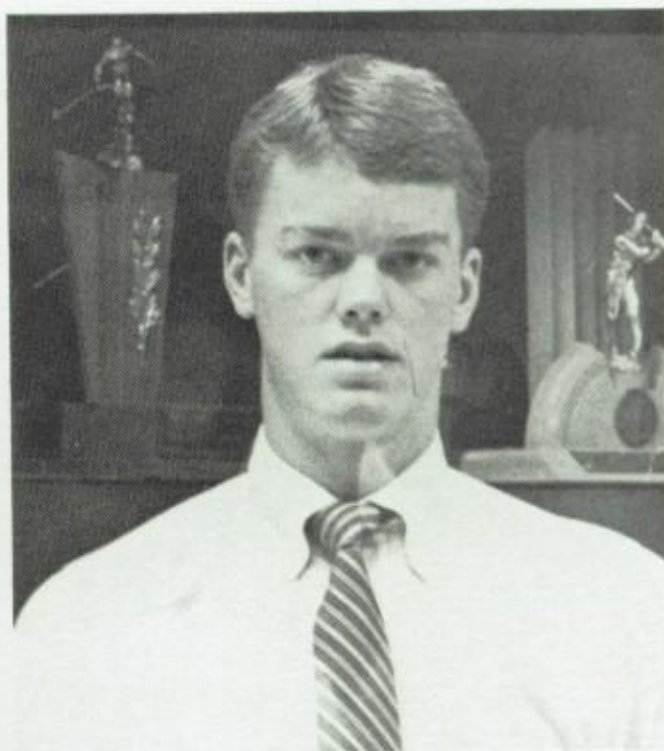

East High's Par

This year's golf team started onward with hopes of taking state, but these hopes were lost after losing before state championships started. Under Grant Martin's skill and knowledge of the game, perhaps they will take home the state trophy next year.

SIDELINES Jeff Pierce

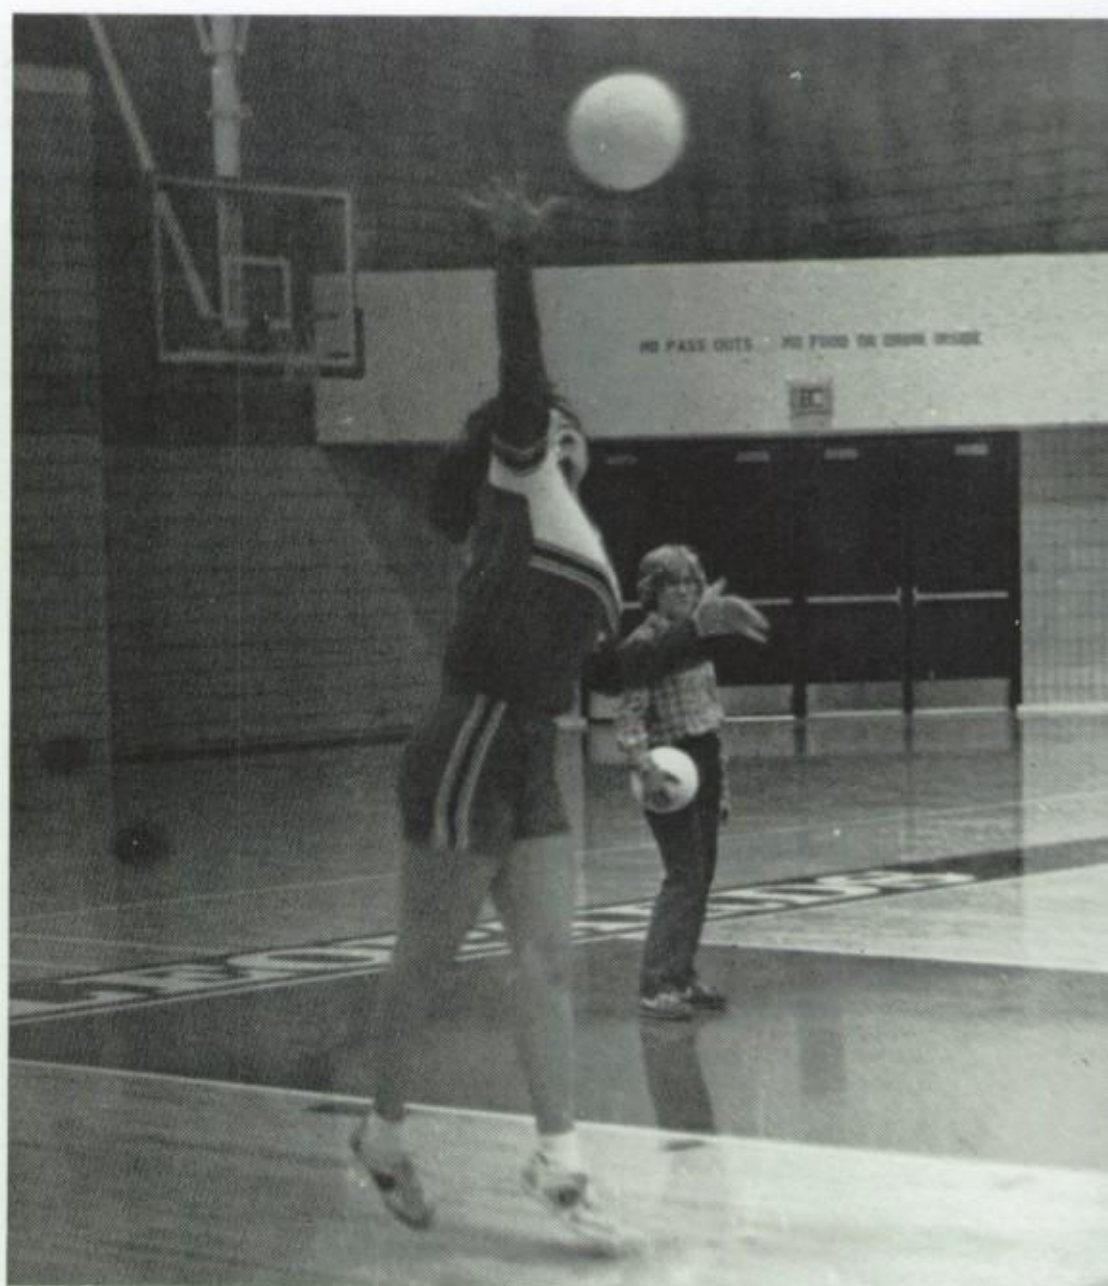

Perhaps the Golf Team's most valuable asset for the past couple of years has been junior Jeff Pierce. Jeff has been on the team since his freshman year, and is steadily improving. In fact, Jeff won the title of the #1 high school golfer in the state during the season. Although East as a team didn't take state this year, we are all confident that Jeff may win it for us next year.

Varsity Volleyball

Hope For The Future

What the East High Girls Varsity Volleyball Team lacked in experience, they made up for with their enthusiasm and spirit. Although finishing the season with a 2-15 record, their play was excellent and because the team consisted mainly of Juniors, they will all return next year. This will give East the edge in competition, since the players will be better prepared than their competitors. The team was led by Co-captains Nancy Taylor and Marsha Zabriskie, who will also return next year.

JV Volleyball

Coming On Strong

The Junior Varsity team did its best for East High and demonstrated spirit and enthusiasm as well as an inherent love for the game. As you can tell from the picture, many of the players also played on Varsity this year, and the rest all hope to move up next year as well.

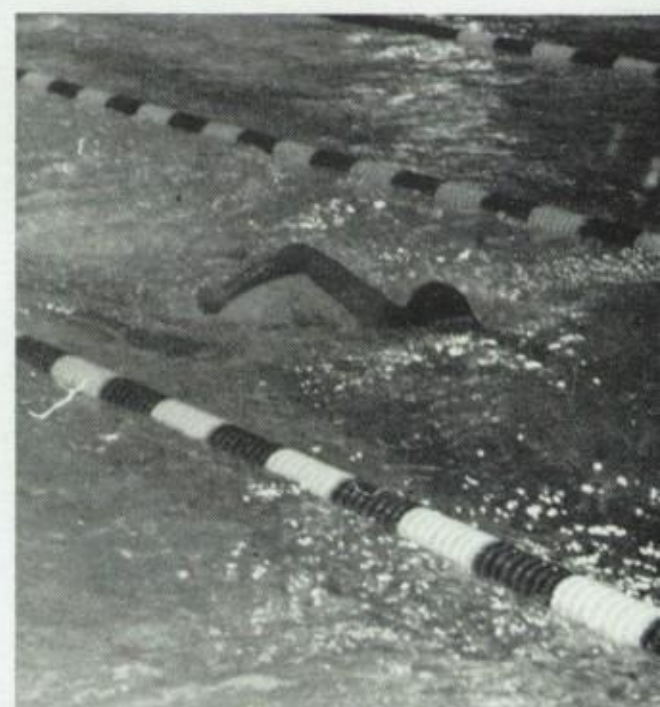

Frosh/Soph Volleyball

A Triumphant Beginning

The season for the Freshman/Sophomore team started out slow and hopes for success were dim, due to a lack of coaching interest. Fortunately, Kris Krewson, a highly skilled coach and player, stepped in and taught the team the important skills bringing unity to the team and leading them into first place. Their accomplishments are not to be underrated by any means, as everyone on the team anxiously looks forward to next season.

Swimming

Riders of The Wave...

A fast front crawl and an incredible butterfly stroke were enough to pull both the boys' and girls' swimming teams to a respectable place in both region and state tournaments. The girls, with only three losses during the entire season, managed to achieve first place in regions and fifth place at state. The boys did very well at region, swimming into second place. Though waterlogged and chlorine-bleached after many long hours of practice, the satisfaction of placing in state was a great reward for these deserving, aquatic leopards.

Diving

"Get it wet..."

To say that the members of the diving team cut through the water like knives through butter would be an understatement! With such outstanding members as Nancy Brewer, Calvin Gaisford, Jon Lindsey, the team had a super season and came through state with flying colors. The sheer nerve of the team was their main asset which enabled them to excel to such great lengths. All in all, the team proved once again that East High divers are unbeatable.

Hockey

There's nothin' Hotter than the Ice...

This year's varsity and JV hockey teams were slicker than the ice they skated on! The cold and hard JV team only lost two games and glided through to the state championships to skate home with the state trophy. The cool and calm determination of the varsity enabled them to excel in the regular season, but, alas, their final game was packed with tension and the team was unable to stop Highland in their overtime victory. Refreshing spirit and freezing-hard work were the main requirements for the successful hockey season.

Varsity Basketball

They dunk more than cookies

'83-'84 proved to be a very successful year for the Leopards in many ways. They wrapped up the year with an overall record of 17-6, and finished the season with a 9-1 and the Region IV Championship. Highland took second with a 6-4 record. Consistently hot play from both 6' 10" Reid "Boomer" Monson who maintained a 20 point-per-game average, and 6'8" Ed "sweet pete" Peterson with his 14 point average. East's underclassmen did quite a good deal for the team. Sophomores Tim Barney and Josh Grant both turned the numbers on the scoreboard with amazing frequency. Collectively, the team took the city finals by beating Highland at South. (Although the Rock was not returned to its rightful place because this was a pre-season game, the Leopards downed the Rams on our home court to finish up the season. The Rock once again became ours as the Rams mourned over their loss.) Ben Ball joined the team rather late in the season, causing quite a stir among East's basketball fans. He did pull his own weight, however, as did Senior Scott Major and a handful of junior players. Only four players are to be lost to graduation this year, making East's return to State next year a likely prospect.

JV Basketball

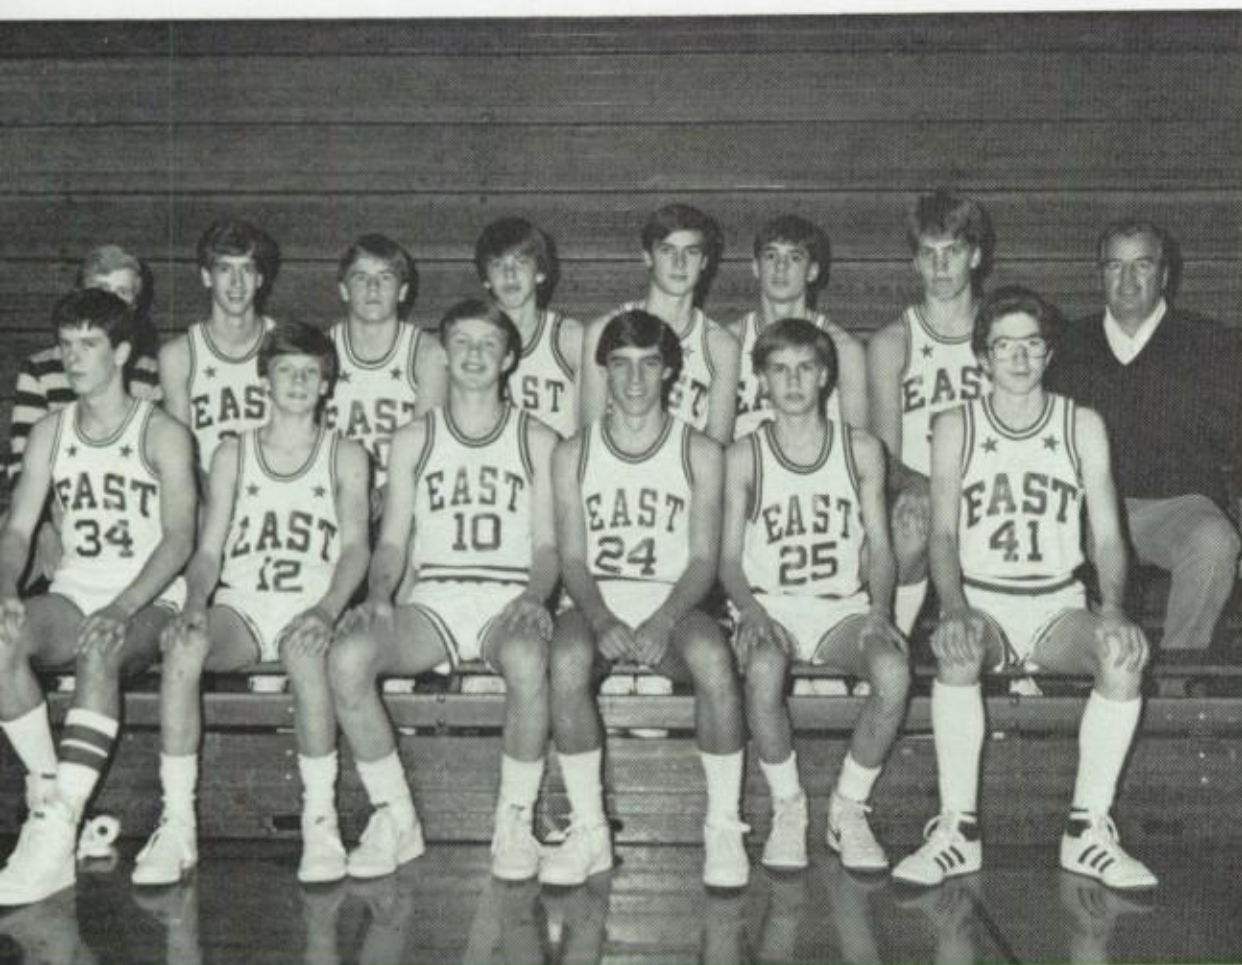

Only one year to go

A winning season was what the junior varsity team ended up with this year, a well-earned one. Coached by Mark Matheson, an East High Alum, the team racked up one victory after another, in what seemed to be an unbelievable year. In Regions, strong play came from Todd Hamblin, Jim Ball, Wally Edwards and Davey McMaster. Mike Knowles contributed a great deal to the team effort before suffering a hip bruise and hurting play in the last few games. The players had one incredible season, finishing with a 13-7 record. Hours of shooting and dribbling were well spent by these junior men—a sure fact that is evident in this season's success!

Sophomore Basketball

Almost able to hit the rim

With dynamic team effort and strong individual practice, the Sophomores slated a commendable 15-5 record this past season. Two top players, Josh Grant and Tim Barney, were brought up to Varsity to strengthen our team for state. The Sophomores as a team were sharp, quick, smart, and most important, they loved to play as a team. They certainly projected themselves as a group of energetic almost spastic — young men — and it is speculated by many that these will be the team that will bring home the state trophy in '86.

Front Row: Benjamin Nichols, Scott Pingree, Tim Barney, Luigi Sabala, Spencer Hoole, George Furgis. Back Row: Rick Schroeder, Stephen Coates, Evan Sorensen, Josh Grant, Stretch Armstrong, Brett Stephens, Gruffus, Coach Dale Simons

Freshman Basketball

Hope for the future

What a team! At first, this was the beginners first try at competitive high school basketball - and compete they did. A little apprehensive at first, the team began its season. But as it progressed, the group became more unified and that "good old East High Spirit" was generated by these fantastic Freshmen! With a 2-13 record, the boys discovered that the point of the game isn't necessarily to win, but to better one's self athletically, which they did. Great things can be expected from these up-and-coming young leopards.

Girls Basketball

The Scoop on the Hoop...

The 1983-'84 Girls Varsity Basketball Team faced many challenges this season. With a relatively young team and a new coaching staff, the girls quickly adapted and began their practices in preparation for the sporting competition. Those mighty lady leopards grouped together and with more school support than ever before, were "ferocious" in their efforts to bring honors home for East!

Front — Paula Lytle, Sara Richards, Katy Ryan, Nat Beers, Marilyn Higbee, Lori Nielson. Back — Julie Elgren, Susan Hurst, Kara Hartmann, Ker Sanders, Heidi Franz, Nancy Taylor.

Girls JV Basketball

So close you can touch it...

Dribbling the ball across the floor, spirited and determined, the girls JV team had a very successful year. This unified team worked hard and practiced for long hours after school. The strength that this team has shown this year will be great next year when most of these girls graduate to the Varsity team.

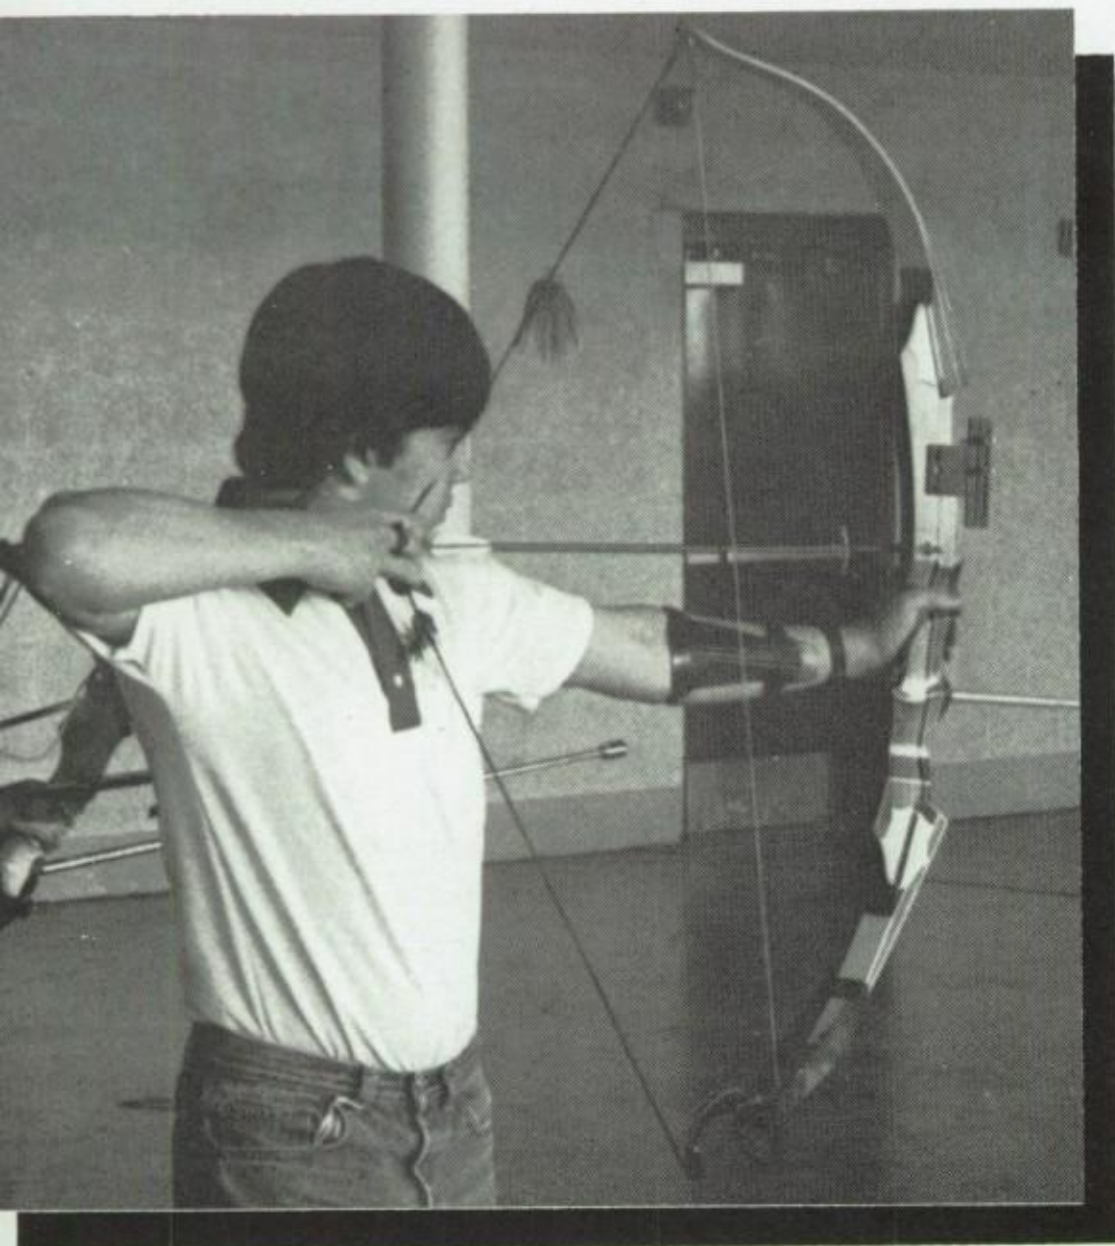

Front — Lori Nielson, Heidi Franz, Keri Sanders, Julie Elgren, Susan Hurst. Missing — Jeanne Boren, Paula Lytle

One word says it all . . . "swish."

Though lacking in age and experience, the freshman/sophomore team was worthy of much praise. The team was comprised of hard working girls, who were determined to prove to the student body that they had as much talent as the more experienced teams, and they did. They had a good season and managed to win most of their games! They are the hope of all past, present and future Leopard fans, and we look forward to their continued success.

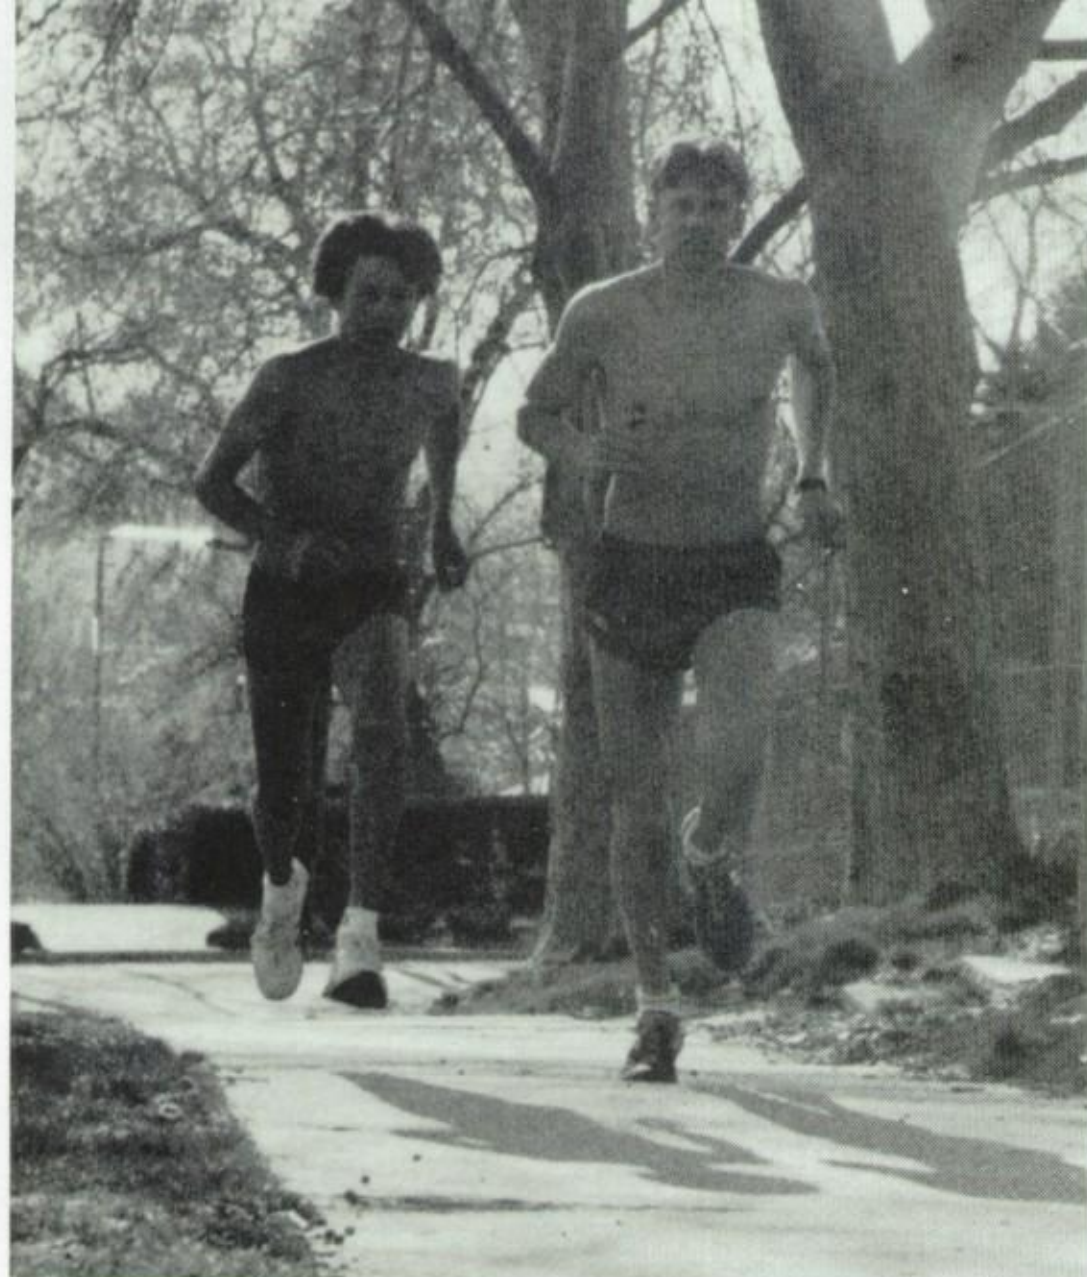

Archery

The Nottingham Gang

East High's Archery Team was right on target this year! Like the twanging of Robin Hood's bow through the forest, the strings of the "Toxophilites" as they are known, could be heard resonating throughout the basements. This year's team, with the never-ending support of the Utah Bowman's Association transcended all limits of the sport in the state of Utah. Reflecting the valiant spirit of these archers, their theme song, The William Tell Overture, demonstrated their power and supple grace.

Boys Cross Country

Just try and catch me

The boys Cross Country team, although potentially very strong, had a somewhat disappointing season. During the early part of the year, they rolled to a 5-2 dual meet record and established themselves as the team to beat in regions. Unfortunately, due to injuries and sickness, the boys could place no higher than third — but they pressed on to compete in state competition where they finished in seventh place. After facing the tests of strength and endurance, the team members measured up and proved to be true competitors.

Girls J.V. - Front: Tammy White, Back: Norma Jane, Linda Evans, Cindy Carling, Thelma Nez, Brenna Harris.

Girls Cross Country Tougher than you think

They ran the distance! Held in the fall, the annual cross-country competition involved many Lady Leopards this year. From flexing, stretching, sprinting, tensing, and then relaxing, the team members demanded a lot from their bodies. Led by Captain Tammy White, the runners increased their speed and agility to race the three-mile distance for the trophy. The season marked a 3 in 3 in the duals, and ended with the team's taking fourth at region. Breaking that ribbon and crossing the finish line brought personal satisfaction as well as school glory for all of our cross-country racers.

Boys J.V. - Front: Pat Lovell, Andy Taylor, Greg Taylor, Ben Watson, Trevor Smith, Shawn Haran; Back: Eric Jones, Mike Purcell, Todd Smith.

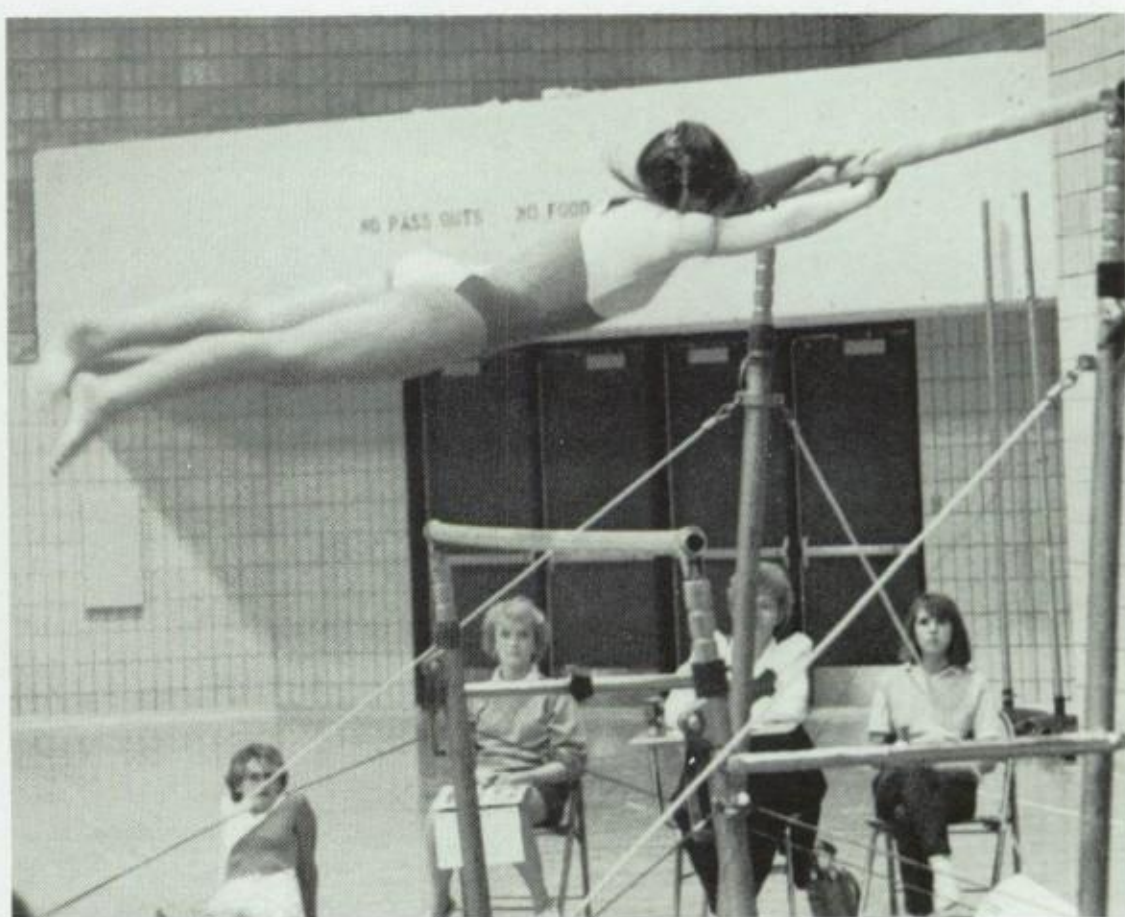

Gymnastics

East's Flexible Females

The time they spend limbering up their bodies for competition certainly paid off for our girls this year, with coaching by Kathy Byers and the new addition, Todd Calvert, the team learned to improve their technique. In the spring, the girls were successful in reaching fourth place at regions, which were held at East. From this tournament, Debbie Murray, Tara Curry, and Danic Dockstader qualified for state where they once again competed in our proud red and white. The efforts of the team were strengthened by Captains Debbie Murray and Amanda Vestal, and by the unified support of the girls.

Don't ask us what the balloons are for. Region Finals at East.

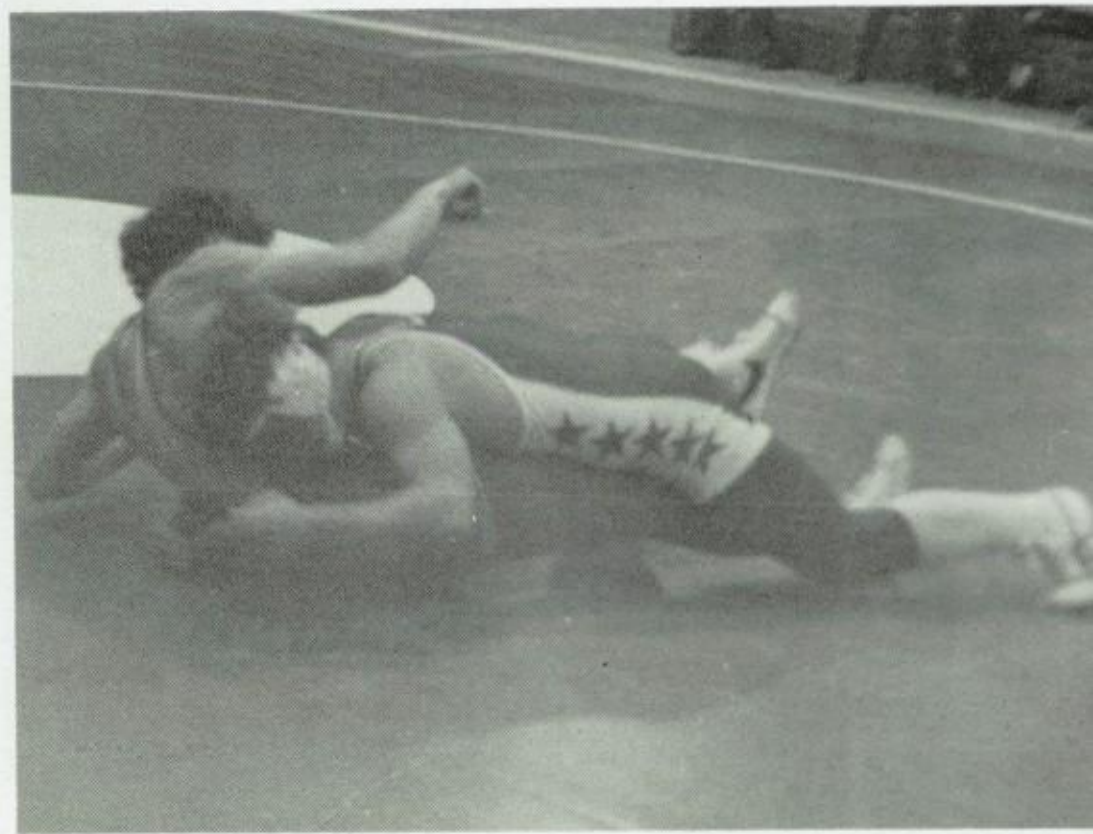

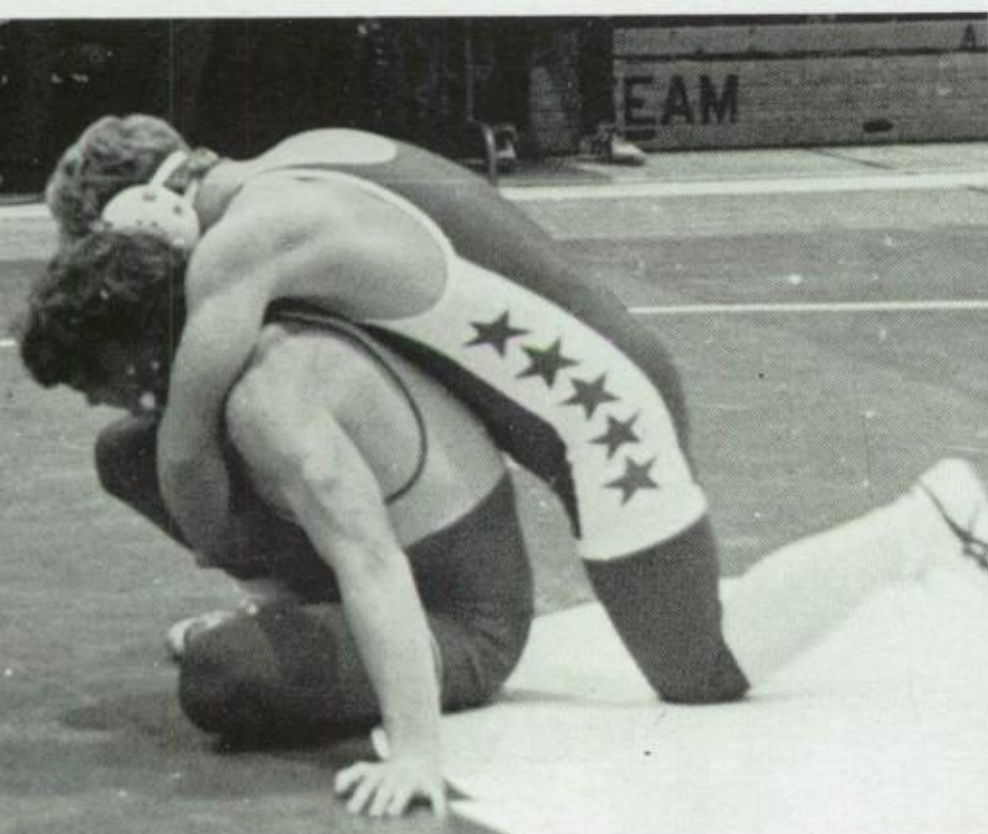

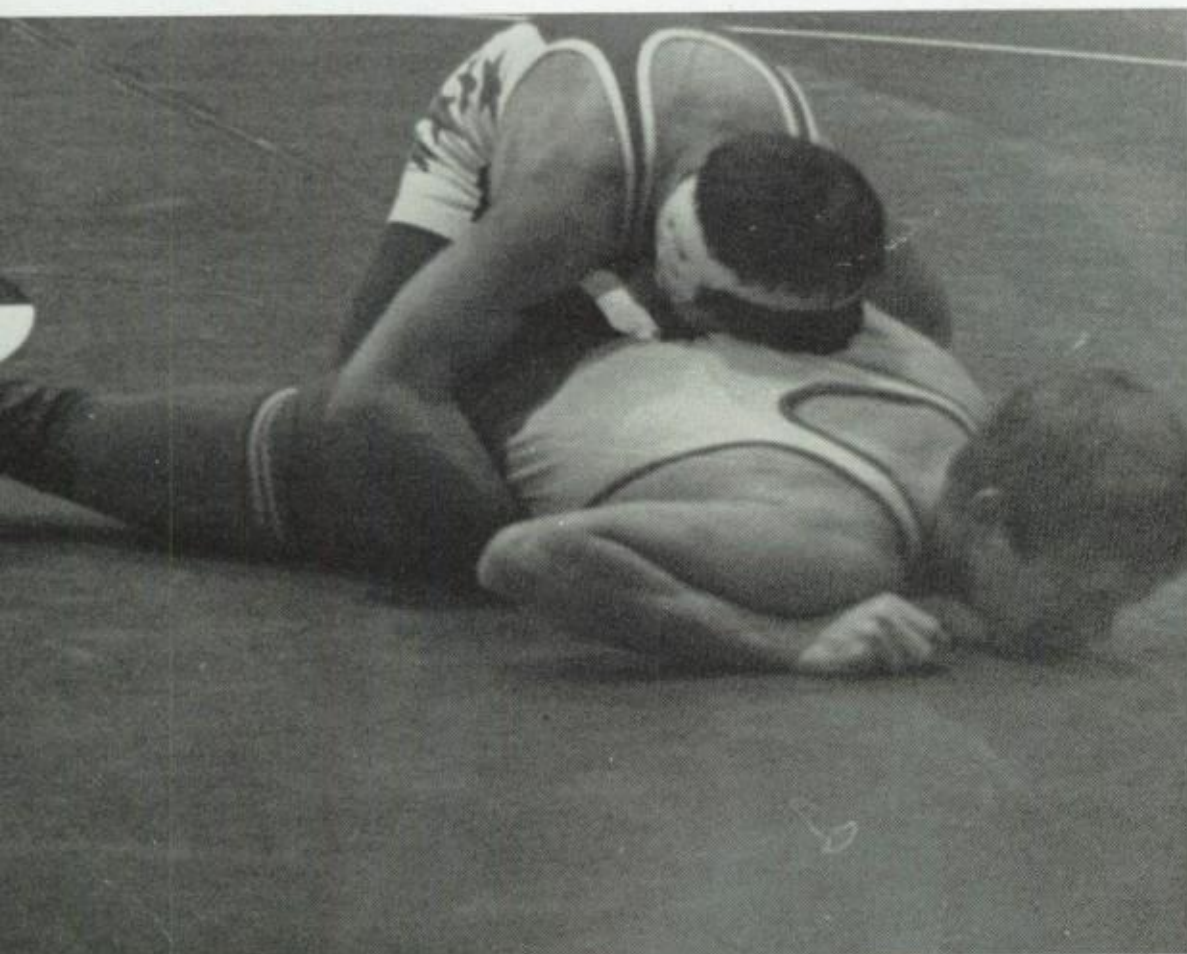

Wrestling

All the Right Moves

Way to go boys! East's wrestling team did extremely well this year with superior showings by top team-members. After much "heated" competition, the team qualified for state. There, Ahmad Razaghi took first place after defeating all three of his opponents. The terrific back-up support was generated by John Candelaria, Rocky Taylor, and Jim Geurts who captured the fourth place title. With 2 duals and 20 wins, the East High wrestling team finished the season "on top".

Girls Tennis

Dig those miniskirts . . .

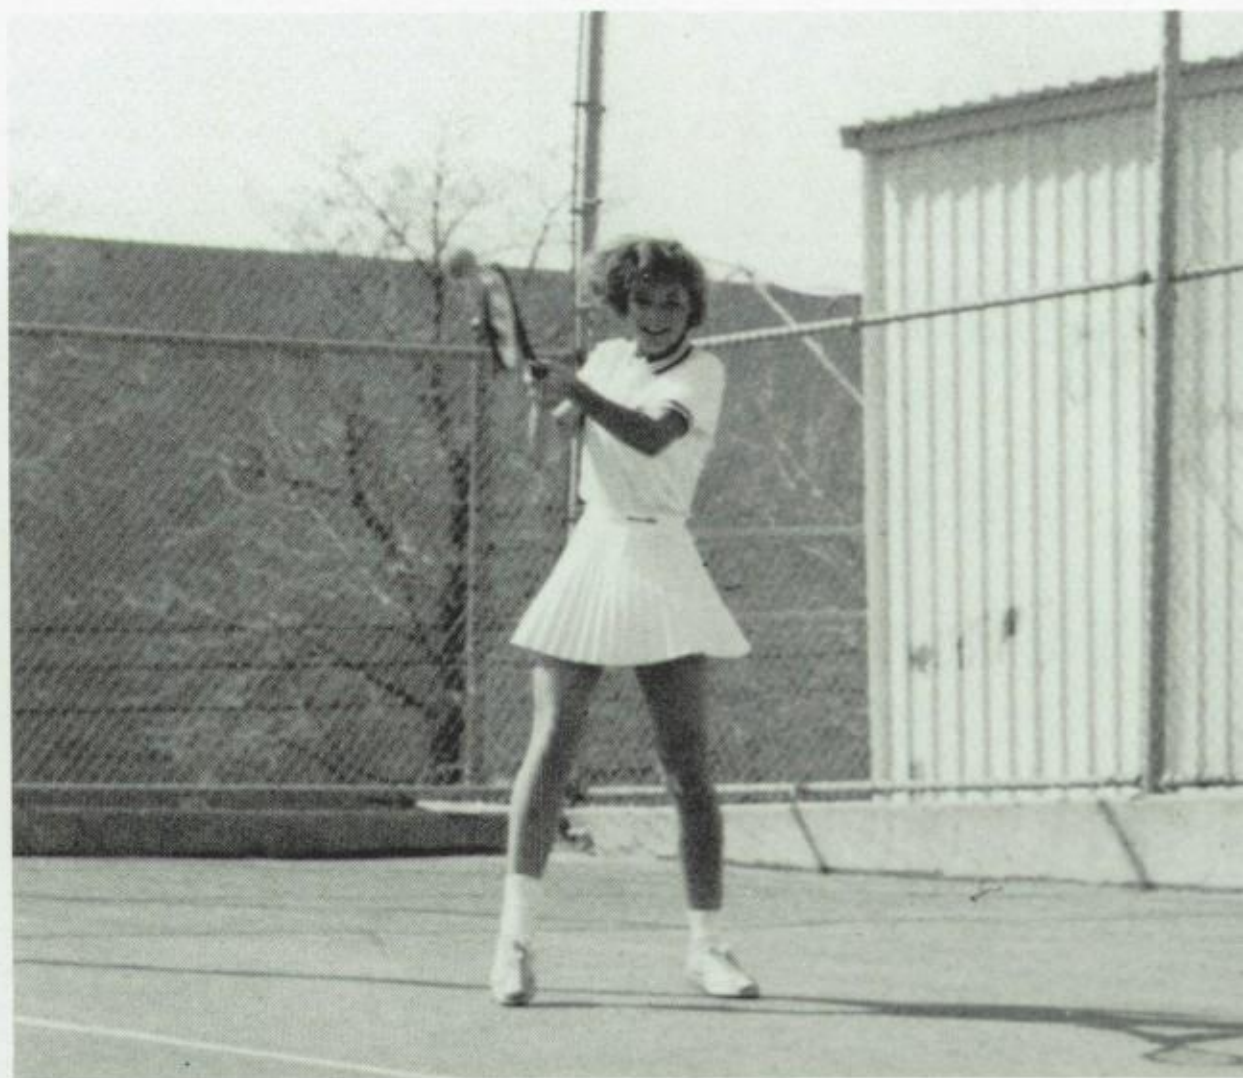

The serve was in for both the girls varsity and junior varsity tennis teams this year. The team's outstanding success was due to the incredible talent and hard work that all the team members put forth. The team volleyed its way to the state tournaments to place fourth and eighth in singles, and third in doubles. No East team had as much stamina or drive as these girls did, and sadly, we will be losing a number of them to graduation, but don't give away that state trophy yet, as a number of very talented underclassmen will be moving up to defend East once again.

Intramural Football

Steve Young eat your heart out!

Intramural Football was both fun to play in and entertaining to watch. The teams wanted to win, but the atmosphere was relaxed and everyone wanted to have a good time and just play some ball. Though the teams lacked a good public relations man, they were able to organize themselves and get some great competition going. The games were all in fun, but those who watched were able to see "The Weze" emerge victorious.

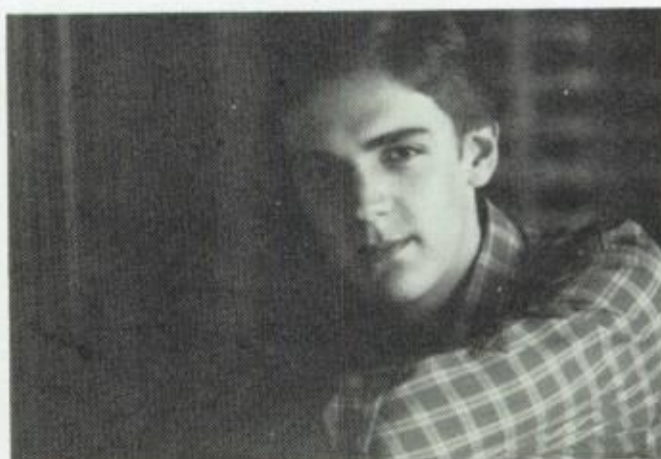

Intramural Champions, The Weze: Clockwise from I. Scott Rogers, Gordon May, Mark Cook, Lamer, Dave Marriott, John Kimball, Bu Jensen, and Kris Nordstrom.

Intramural Basketball

Hottest game going

One of the most talked about student activities at East, Intramurals gave anyone a chance at becoming another Tim Barney. Competition was rough, but everyone had a good time. With names like "The Road Doctors", "The Pearls", "MJT", and "TNT", how could they fail?

Intramural Basketball finals were held in April, with The Pearls downing TNT, 42-40. Congratulations to all our intramural players, for at East, everyone is a winner.

Intramural Champions, THE PEARLS: Greg Taylor, Chris Burbank, Pete Hanseen, "Chuck Taylor", Brad Merrill, Sterl "The Pearl" Erickson.

Honors

Sterling Scholars

Sterling Scholars spent years of work in the fields they were interested in and had to spend much time organizing records of their achievements into a portfolio which they presented to the judges in the competition. They also had to go through a difficult interview with the judges. Their hard work in preparing for the competition and in achieving the distinction of being East's Sterling Scholars is a credit to our high school. Help in preparation was provided by D.L. Smith who met with the students regularly in the months before the competition. Our congratulations go out to these students who have enriched themselves on both an academic and creative level and have stood out in their area for their talents.

Our rooms were disasters. Searching for those certificates which best displayed our performance in our categories seemed to take forever. After compiling our portfolios. We were hysterical at the sight of our pictures in the Deseret News.

Traveling to Murray for the initial interviews was an excursion to say the least. There we were confronted with questions about such things as the detection of electrons and Serbia. This left us hungry. For knowledge? No, for dinner at the Market Street Grill! The suspense seemed over, but the school, local, and state-wide support continued, as did the competition. What an event — to be able to end our senior year with finesse!

Girls State

Girl's State is sponsored by the American Legion. To be selected, the girls had to pass an interview by an American Legion auxiliary. Those who made it go to SUSC in Cedar City where they represent their city and along with other Girl's State members recreate an entire state, divided into cities etc. At the end, two girls were chosen to go to Girl's Nation. It is an honor to be selected into this group and our representatives are to be congratulated.

National Honor Society

To be a member of the National Honor Society required hard work and commitment through one's high school years. Many members of the Honor Society spent hours of their time each week as tutors, helping other students understand areas with which they are having difficulty and attempting to provide them with the motivation to set high goals for themselves. Sponsors Evelyn Tsagaris and Marcia Whipps provided guidance and helped the students with their activities. At a time when the motivation of students in the United States is questioned, these students served as an example to other students showing what could be done. The motivation was their own and they utilized our education system to their benefit. Ralph Waldo Emerson said that ignorance is cowardice, but by putting in an extra effort, these students showed the bravery to make their future.

Get it?

Here are the cafeteria's head custodial workers. I saved them for this page because I don't think they get enough recognition. They really do a lot for East and I want to thank all of them for putting up with all of us...

Jim Buselle & John West — two UNFORGETTABLE seniors in the senior section. But due to the popular demand of many gorgeous East High women, we've given them a special tribute here — WE LOVE YOU !!!

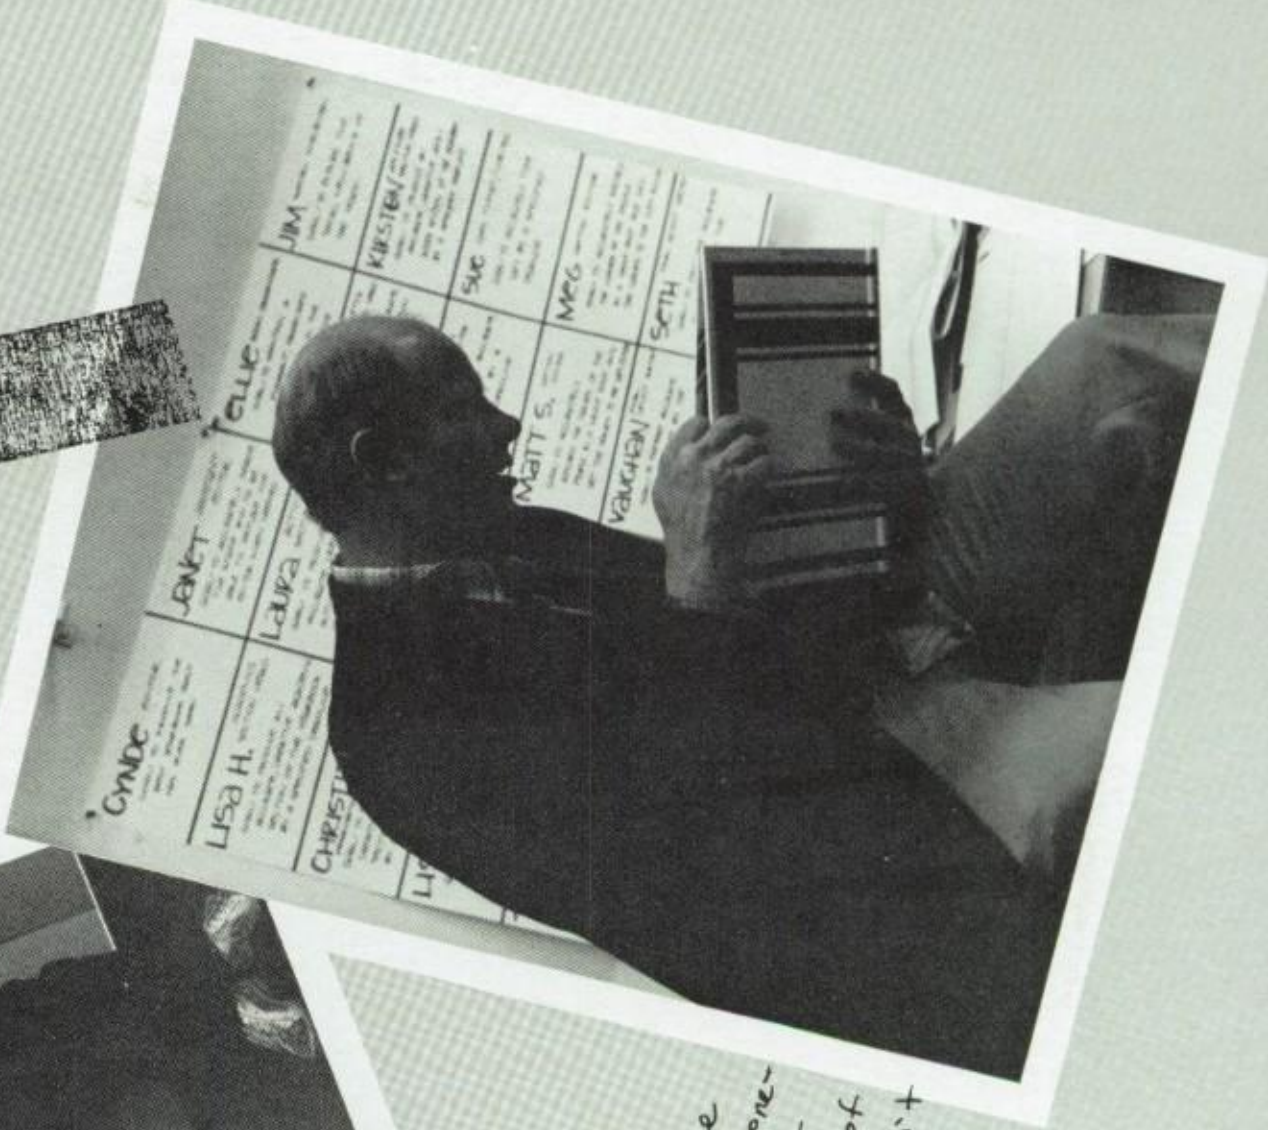

THAT FLAG?!? The Madch Club added much humor not only to Mr. Hansens 7th period class but to the entire school. Whether Mark was making spit bubbles or Chad was wooing Nancy Smith, these boys managed to make us, especially me, laugh. I truly want to thank them for making school more bearable. By the way Chad, I'm always free for a good game of golf!!

Kent Condon constantly threatened me with my life if I wouldn't consent to put him in the yearbook, so here he is. He made Mason's 2nd period so much more fun with his Jerry Garcia, Bob Dylan & Rolling Stones tunes. Even though his voice left something to be desired, I always knew where he'd blow if he had a shot gun...

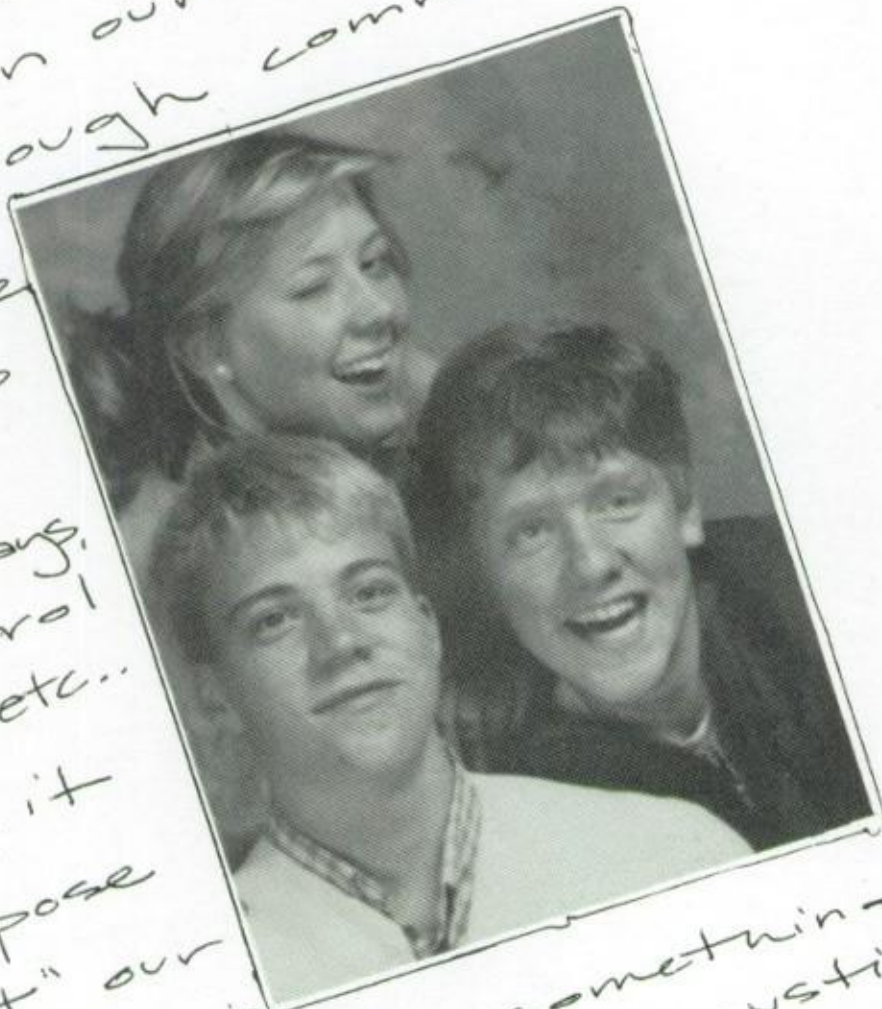

Chuck Revill, the amazing cowboy-gone-yearbook-rep put up with so much of our --- that I can't believe it. We all owe the success(?) of the book to him, Chuck, You're the hottest, lehi man around...

Here is a picture of our fantastic school just for tradition's sake...

I can't even believe that this book is finished!
It makes me laugh way hard.
Everything has gone wrong — we've lost film, exposed film, no film, parties with people but nowhere for a party, communication — on our administration-removed phone, not enough communication between the staff and the photographers, too many pictures, no

pictures, boring days, totally out-of-control
days, etc., etc., etc.. on well, I think it was fun. I suppose I'll "never forget" our parties in Rm. 415 listening to wild music and swigging something that tasted like cough medicine, the utterly disgusting jokes of "Dammit" and Christianne, Vaughan showing up at a party with his bicycle and then not knowing to what to do with it, trying to think of ways to smuggle money from the school, smuggling money from the school by way of $52 worth of pizza, listening to Magleby's weekend experiences, driving around in Slawson's "piece", the Homecoming parade where Vaughn & I were the only sober ones and Janet had to pull down her skirt + to control Mag's hormones...
And to think it all added up to this book. Now see ya when you're rich & famous!

LIVE LONG & PROSPER WITH HAVE A GREAT SUMMER,
SEE YOU NEXT YEAR

LOVE YA,
- love -  - love
Anarchy Now!

P.S. WASN'T DAVE
SMITH A REAL BUMMER!

Love, peace + granola
I'll always be fun

Remember the fun times we had in Shirley's English class. Have a great summer. Be your friend,

Love
to you + your family
+ friends
+ all the rest of the world
Love
to you
+ your family
+ friends
+ all
rest
the world

Just me again!

Roses are Red,
Violets are blue,
and I'll be blue when I'm away from you!

My baby!!

I LOVE
YOU

Hope you have a great summer - and be sure to call me if you get bored - 485-5940.
We could go to a few parties!!

Love ya always!!

B.O.B -
Be by to see you later
Bruce
♥

I'll always love your sexy body! We'll have to do kinky things this summer with Jello & rice pudding! Love ~

0168-8310

you are a wild part of summer!
I should be there with those over the top killer
we killer

you're such a fun person.
Keep up the good work. I

It was a fun year! good luck
on your mission!

Hen babe. rock!

Some

You'll be bare pregnant, + in the kitchen in no time!
We went to real winner stamps, didn't we? I really enjoyed Biology (you know I'm kidding)
